terragena
DIRT AND WATER INTO GRAPES AND WINE

2017 Terragena Pinot Noir

Wiley Vineyard

2017 Pinot Noir from the famed Wiley Vineyard in the Deep End of Anderson Valley, California. Floral characters and aromas of dark fruit, combined with hints of sage, pennyroyal, and cinnamon. Warm pre-harvest period yielded a more robust yet still delicate wine with ever evolving aromatics. Begin drinking this wine in 2020 or cellar for 5+ years. Small hand-made production with 600 bottles produced.

Technical Notes

Vineyard: Wiley
Vintage: 2017
Varietal: 100% Pinot Noir
Clones: 37 and 115
Cooperage: Hungarian and French Oak
Alcohol: 12.8%
Harvest: September 25
Appellation: Anderson Valley
pH: 3.6
TA: 5.8 g/L as tartaric acid
Amount produced: 600 bottles

About the Vineyard

Wiley vineyard is located in the “deep end” of Anderson Valley near Philo. From the vineyard owner, Brad Wiley: The vineyard site has an extremely cool climate, deeply influenced by the Pacific Ocean ten miles away. The site is on a gently sloping east/west ridge 300 feet above the road. I have managed its development since 1971.

About the Winery

We believe in the collective wisdom of winemakers, scientists, and creatives who hold that exceptional wine is born from both curiosity and tradition. Guided by a passion for exploration, we push the boundaries of what wine can be, merging art and science in every bottle. We are committed to crafting wine that tastes extraordinary and honors the land and people behind it. We embrace experimentation, allowing our curiosity to fuel our growth in every stage of winemaking. Through every bottle, we hope to inspire a journey of discovery, shared moments, and meaningful connection.