This document is to help guide you in your quest to claim victory in the upcoming tournament with the content creators. While it is advised that you follow the recommendations of this guide it is not a hard law.

The tournament does not prohibit spending so if you feel like spending to get your account up and running you are free to spend your money but you are not required to spend money this is your choice. For this tournament you will need to set up a new account and use a promo code provided to you by Ahnald or Scribe to get a preselected starter package of Champions.

To start a new Raid: Shadow Legends account for a new-player promo code/link while keeping your old one, you must create a new, separate account on a PC using a fresh email address, as new-player status is tied to the device, not just the account. Use a creator's promotional link before launching, log out of Plarium Play entirely, create a new account, and then log into that new account on your phone if desired.

Things to consider when setting up a new account with this promo code.

- Use a Different Device (Best Method): Utilize a PC/laptop if you previously used your phone, or vice-versa, to ensure a clean start.
- Create a New Email Address: A completely new email is required for the new account.
- Use a Promo Link/Code First: Before downloading or opening the app, click a content creator's dedicated invite link (e.g., for free champions like Pelops or Tholin) to register the new account.
- Plarium Play Logout: If using a PC, completely log out of your current Plarium Play account.
- Redeem New Player Code: Within the first 24–72 hours, enter a new player promo code (RAID7) in the "Promo Codes" menu in the game's side menu.
- Avoid "Device Limits": If you have already played Raid on that specific phone, it may refuse new player bonuses even with a new account. You must use a clean device or a pc.

The promo code will get you these champions as you level up your account

- Tholin Foulbeard when you start
- Tagoar at level 10
- Miscreated Monster at level 20
- Stag Knight at level 30

You will have the 4 starter champions to chose from when you start the tutorial you will want to chose Kael as your starter. He does poison damage which helps him to scale well.

Once you create the you are going to want to use a promo code for a free legendary champion right away. For this tournament it has been decided that using the promo code to get the champion Pelops will be the best option.

Use this promo Code: RAID7

This will give you this guy.

Now that you have started your account let's get to work building it up. First thing you will want to do is blitz your way through the campaign with the goal of getting to the end of the hard campaign and get yourself a Sacred shard to use. There is a boosted chance on getting a Legendary champion in the first couple of days on a new account.

While you are going through the campaign you will be getting artifacts you will need use this gear to start building your champions up till you can get better artifacts from running dungeons. You will want to start with getting your champions the artifacts you can from campaign hard 8 for the 4 set bonus of Life Steal and then get yourself the 2 set bonus from 5 for accuracy.

A guide line for gearing.

Gauntlets, Chests, and boots have main stats that change some of these stats are very bad and some of them are good. This is what you will want to look for.

Gauntlets: Crit damage, Crit chance, HP%, and DEF%

Chest: ATK%, DEF%, HP%, ACC

Boots: Speed

For sub stats you will want to look for speed, ACC, Crit Chance above all.

To build your champions you have some options. If you are spending money you can buy Gems and books to build them up quick. When you build them up you will want to build them like this.

Pelops the Victor

He has a 10/10 book value meaning that he could use every book you got but if you are limited in books then aim to fill his A2, and A3 first.

MOD RECOMMENDATIONS Stat Priority: HP%%, C.RATE, C.DMG, SPD, ACC

Tholin Foulbeard

He has a 10/10 book value meaning that he could use every book you got but if you are limited in books then aim to fill his A2, and A3 first.

MOD RECOMMENDATIONS Stat Priority: C.RATE, C.DMG, ATK%, SPD

Kael

He has a 10/10 book value meaning that he could use every book you got but if you are limited in books then aim to fill his A2, and A3 first.

MOD RECOMMENDATIONS Stat Priority: ACC, SPD, ATK%, C.RATE, C.DMG

Tagoar

He has a 10/10 book value meaning that he could use every book you got but if you are limited in books then aim to fill his A2, and A3 first.

MOD RECOMMENDATIONS Stat priority: HP%, SPD, DEF%, RES

Stag Knight

He has a 10/10 book value meaning that he could use every book you got but if you are limited in books then aim to fill his A2, and A3 first.

Stat Priority: ACC, SPD, HP%

These 5 champions will give you a good base to start your Demon Lord Clan Boss team and claim victory in the tournament for that. Once you have accomplished that you will want to start working on the Arbiter missions, and start clearing the dungeons for the points you can earn in there. The 5 champions above are all good and will help with getting Demon Lord down but if the Sacred that you got from campaign gets you a good champion for Demon Lord then please feel free to sub them in for the appropriate role. If you need assistance on how to build them feel free to ask in discord but know that for every champion on a clan boss team needs the offense tree with Warmaster to maximize your damage.

Dungeons

There are many dungeons to run you will want to work on the ones that will give you good gear to improve your champions. The priority you will want to farm the dungeons will be.

1. Dragon's Lair
2. Spiders Den
3. Fire Knight's Castle
4. Ice Golem's Peak

When you want to build up additional champions you will need to get them masteries. You could just buy them with gems but its more efficient to farm Minotaur's Labyrinth. Were it will cost you 800 gems to buy your masteries you could max out the masteries with Minotaur for about 600 gems worth of energy.

Potion Keeps.

To ascend your champions you will need to farm these keeps. They are only open once a week for each affinity so you will need to chose your days to farm them wisely.
