Outfit: Pictured above is her formal attire, although she doesn't often wear it outside of events. Her more common attire is better suited to her occupation as the resident mech mechanic of the Steelstrum Republic. When at work (which is almost always), Silpheed likes to wear a gray tank top with a brown star on it, with a gray sweater tied around her waist, along with baggy dark blue cargo pants, with a black toolbelt holding it up, and finally, black work boots. Of course, she wears her square-rimmed glasses at all times, and when working, she wears a pair of black goggles that have an advanced holographic augmented reality system built into the lens, allowing Silpheed to easily visualize what she's working on. When she needs to head out, Silpheed unwraps her gray sweater and puts it on.

Jewelry/Accessories: Silpheed is always wearing her glasses, which are square-rimmed with golden rectangular frames. In addition, she loves to wear rings, and is often seen with two silver rings pierced into the tip of her left ear. One ring has a ruby in it, while the other has an emerald. She has a golden belly button piercing, although this is rarely seen.

Voice: Silpheed has a light, calming, and often cheery voice which is pleasant to listen to, even for extended periods. She has a slight British accent, and sometimes uses British terms and colloquialisms. She likes to call people "love."

<< PERSONALITY ATTRIBUTES >>

Good Traits: Silpheed is exceptionally intelligent. She is always looking for a problem to solve and is very determined to find a solution to anything that's put in her way. Her determination is incredible, Silpheed will work for days on end without rest to accomplish something she wishes to do. She takes immense pride in certain things, especially her work and her fashion. Silpheed loves to look good and is often very confident. She's very calm and level-headed, although she can have sudden outbursts of energy and passion when she gets onto a topic she's interested in. She often will put others before herself and is quick to help somebody in need. Silpheed is a passionate romantic and will go to great lengths to please someone she's attracted to.

Bad Traits: Intelligence can be a curse. Silpheed's extraordinary intellect leads to her often overthinking or overanalyzing simple things, and she has a hard time working with others who may not be as efficient as her. Sometimes, she exhibits a superiority complex about her intelligence, even though she doesn't mean to. Silpheed often feels underappreciated, like people only care about her for what she's capable of doing, and not for who she is as a person. This mindset has led to various self-worth issues, and Silpheed often believes she's not good enough. She's very quick to blame herself for the slightest mishap, and easily doubts her abilities when things go wrong. She's not very good around people, and often gets awkward with social interactions. She's especially bad around someone she's attracted to, around people like that, her brain just kind of stops working. Silpheed has a slight savior complex, and feels like she's obligated to help in situations she has no business being involved in.

Greatest Joy: Silpheed's greatest joy in life is to see her creations come to life. Nothing makes her happier than a job well done.

Greatest Fear: Silpheed's greatest fear is that nobody will need her anymore. Without a job to do and people to rely on her, Silpheed fears she will have no purpose. She's afraid that people will eventually forget her.

Soft Spot: Silpheed loves praise. Whether it be a compliment to her appearance, personality, or work, anything from a “You look nice today” to “You are literally my religion” will brighten her day without fail. Although that second one might creep her out. That means don’t do it, fuckers. I’m calling you out.

Greatest Strength: Silpheed’s greatest strength lies in her inhuman intelligence and determination. If Silpheed wants something done, she’s going to do it, or die trying.

Greatest Vulnerability: Silpheed feels vivid and powerful emotions, and often they can get the better of her. One of her biggest weaknesses is fear. When Silpheed is afraid, she shows it, and her fear often leaves her frozen and defenseless. Fear clouds her mind so heavily that her intelligence means nothing... when she’s afraid, Silpheed is likely to either break down or run away.

Favorites: Gold (color), heavy metal (music), tacos (food), romance (literature), video games (entertainment), her rapier (prized possession), rain (weather)

<< WEAPONS AND ABILITIES >>

Weapon: Silpheed’s weapon of choice is a rapier, made of a special metallic alloy that boasts incredible strength. The rapier’s blade is a lustrous silver, and the hand guard is a dark, bluish steel. A large, deep blue sapphire, cut in the shape of a dodecahedron, serves as the pommel. Silpheed is incredibly skilled with this weapon, and is more than capable of defending herself with it. She loves to duel others with it. Being a feline, Silpheed also boasts incredibly sharp claws, able to extend and retract at will.

Abilities: Silpheed wields an assortment of potent lightning magics, being able to conjure and manipulate lightning through any part of her body. Her paws are especially strong catalysts, allowing voltages of up to 2,700 volts to be fired from them as projectiles. A side effect of this magic is that Silpheed is not harmed by any kind of electric shock.
