If there is a group of people you are passionate about helping, but you feel you are missing a piece of the puzzle to help them to truly get the transformation they desire...this document is a great way to gain clarity on how to gain the knowledge or skills necessary for the final puzzle piece. We are always learning and growing which is one of the joys of life. This is a process to continue that evolution with what you're passionate about and then share that knowledge and wisdom as an open channel to help others while bringing your own unique essence energy.

STEP 1: In just a few sentences, write down what the problem your niche has is in simple terms

Before we can acquire the skills necessary to solve the problem, we first need to write the problem in its simplest and most plain terms.

STEP 2: Who else (if anyone) has solved this problem for your niche in the past

If you are brand new to this niche, this may require you to do some research. Write down anyone who already has a business that is solving this problem for your niche in the past.

STEP 3. What specifically have they done to solve this problem for your niche?

Do they have a process for solving this problem or creating this transformation? If they do, what is it? What steps are involved? How are they successfully able to solve this problem?

STEP 4. Can you use this proven process to solve that problem for your clients?

If they have a proven process that's working, can you use a similar process while integrating your unique gifts and expertise to solve your client's problem? We don't need to reinvent the wheel here. It's powerful to learn from what worked previously and simply grow and expand from there integrating our unique gifts and passion.

STEP 5. List the things you will need to learn in order to implement this process

Consider everything you already know. What skills or knowledge are you currently missing that would prevent you from being able to implement this process with your own clients?

STEP 6. What specific actions will you take to get these skills in the next 2 weeks?

Now that you're clear on the knowledge and skills you're missing to help clients solve their problem, what specific actions will you take over the next 2 weeks to acquire the knowledge you need to implement a proven process for your clients? Will you read books on specific topics? Watch Youtube videos? Talk to experts? List it all below and then schedule time on your calendar for inspired learning. Enjoy this process! Choose to learn in a style that feels good and fun for you. Sometimes the greatest gift is giving ourselves the time and space to dive deeper into what we're passionate about and learn more about the topics that truly light us up!
