

Hi [INSERT NAME],

I want to introduce you to my friend Chris Crump.

Chris recently started an outsourcing business to help U.S. companies hire incredible overseas talent.

I thought you might be interested in a conversation. His info is below:

I wanted to reach out and see if anyone in your network would be interested in hiring specialized overseas talent.

I recently started an outsourcing business that helps U.S. companies directly hire specialized talent in the Philippines.

We've helped 10 clients reduce their payroll expenses by 90% by finding incredible teammates such as CPAs, VAs, SDRs, and Financial Analysts. For as little as $4/hour, you can hire a virtual assistant who speaks excellent English, understands your systems, and works U.S. hours.

I have deep expertise building overseas teams. Before founding Anavah Talent, I built a 20-person overseas team as the first business hire at Boom, a FinTech / PropTech startup that raised $5.6mm to disrupt rental financial services. I started my career at Goldman Sachs.

Best,
Chris Crump
