

Incident Report - 1267 TWZ

Location - Verdant Fields Blacksite
Sector - [REDACTED]
System - [REDACTED]
Planet - RF 9834
Date - 15/7/2181

At Approximately 1 AM earth standard time contact with the Verdant Fields Blacksite was lost, due to the highly classified nature of the blacksite and its research, along with RF 9834's highly contested location due to its rare resources and [REDACTED] All guards stationed there are considered elite, best of the best. Which is why only 4 hours after contact loss 2 corporate security teams consisting of 16 men and women total were dispatched to the black to investigate the loss of contact.

Upon arrival they reported that the site's surface level was empty aside from splatters of human, and Xenomorph blood, At this point it was assumed that the Site's captive Xenomorphs had breached containment. However on record, the site only had a total of 5 captive Xenomorphs all of the drone caste which the on station guards should've been more then able to deal with Especially considering not enough time had elapsed for any of them to mature into a queen.

It's important to note that the Blacksite had 60 personnel stationed there total. Split over 4 levels not including the surface level, 30 researchers, 20 guards and the remaining 10 were menial workers. The Teams were ordered to Advance into the Blacksite to investigate what happened to the staff, and recover any remaining research data if reclaiming the site was unfeasible.

Upon descending the first two levels of the site the teams reported encountering corpses of scientists and menial workers all suffering wounds consistent with Xenomorph attacks, though it was noted that there were no corpses of any of the guards, upon realising this the teams were ordered to proceed further into the facility as the first two levels were the engineering and dorms areas.

After reaching the third level, the teams split up, team 1 was ordered to stay on the 3rd floor and recover the research data and team 2 proceeded to the 4th to recover samples and check for any survivors, at was at this point team 1 reported bodies of some the guards, many of them were missing their heads and some were missing their spines as well, they also found 3 of the 5 Xenomorphs corpses. All were suffering from gunshot wounds consistent with what the guards were armed with.

However, team 1 made an important discovery. After entering the datavault to recover the research data, the team encountered the corpses of an O.W.L.F team. All of them were killed by gunfire. After the server data was recovered it was ordered that the team search the O.W.L.F squads bodies. On what was presumed to be the squad leader the team recovered a hard drive containing data on their mission and target, after recovering the hard drive team 1 was ordered to return to the elevator and wait for team 2 before extracting.

Here is what was on the hard drive:

→ LOADING DATA ←
...
...
...
→ DATA LOADED ←

Mission: Eliminate or Capture Yautja specimen
Target name: Ja'Toor
Target's clan: Ek-Thok
Biodata:
Gender - Male
Height - 8ft 6in
Weight - 522 LBS

Briefing:

Greetings agents, we have managed to track a Yautja to a planet designated RF 9834. Your mission is simple: capture the Yautja and its technology, if it cannot be taken alive, recovering its corpse is acceptable.

We have limited intel on RF 9834 but we know there is a WY blacksite and we believe that is the Yautja's target. Given our borderline hostile relations with WY the site personnel are to be considered hostile and if they try to interfere with your mission lethal force is authorised.

Our ability to intercept and decrypt Yutja communications is still extremely limited. And this means we have no idea how long they plan to stay on RF 9834 so time is of the essence. That means it will just be your team operating, everyone else is too far away.

Through our observations we have gathered important information about the target. They prefer to stalk their targets for a while before engaging them, taunting them from cloak before moving in to engage. They also have their preferred weapons: The combi stick, war axe smart disks and wrist mounted scimitars. You will need to make good use of your EMP grenades for this, and keep spread out otherwise the disks will tear through you all.

This Yautja also likes to take the spine as well as the skull before skinning and stringing up their victims so that will be your method to identify the target. This specific Yautja worships Kehrite Bhu'ja, and that makes it extremely fond of duels and will nearly always accept one especially if its opponent is wielding a melee weapon and has been to show a small amount of respect to those it defeats. You should use this to your advantage, from this we can gather that this Yautja prides itself on its strength and enjoys testing itself in one on one battles. You should try to leverage its beliefs to your advantage to bait it into an ambush or a trap.

This concludes your briefing so gear up and leave immediately you're going in a blind and this will be extremely dangerous, your survival is not guaranteed. There will be no reinforcements and no support, we have no clue how long they will be spending on the planet so time is off so move quickly good luck team, over and out.

…
…
…
→ END OF DATA ←

As you can see the O.W.L.F team was tracking the Yautja to our site and unfortunately arrived too late to intercept it though their corpses were all suffering gunshot wounds so it appears in the chaos shots were fired and the agents lost their lives.

Shortly after this data was recovered team 2 reported encountering the corpses of the remaining site staff and Xenomorph corpses, all of the Xenomorphs were killed by gunshots though some of the dead guards were missing their skull and spines, and several were skinned.

Team 2 also reported hearing clicking noises and something moving around on their motion detectors, after they reported this comms contact was lost with them and team 1 immediately reported hearing gunshots, screams and roars before everything went silent. Team 1 was ordered to evacuate with the data they had recovered rather than move to support team 2. Team 1 evacuated without incident and team 2 is presumed KIA.

REPORT CONCLUSION AND SUMMERY

This concludes the incident report, it is assumed that after the Yautja entered the facility in the ensuing chaos the Xenomorphs breached containment and began slaughtering the facility staff before being killed by the remaining guard personnel and upon the O.W.L.F agents entering the facility the confused and panicked guards opened fire not knowing who or what was attacking them.

Due to the limited damage to the structure of the blacksite we will begin reconstruction off it as its laboratories are still largely intact. However thanks to the data recovered from the O.W.L.F team we will begin our own efforts to track down this Yautja a team will be assembled and sent after them should they be successful, recovered Yautja tech will put WY at the top, above all other megacorps.

