

DIALOGUE – Winter Weather

A: Hey, can you believe the weather these days?

B: I know, last week we faced a snowstorm and now there will be a nor'easter coming our way tomorrow morning.

A: Seriously! It's already freezing cold outside. I'm wearing four layers of clothing right now because of the cold.

B: Yeah, and the wind chill makes the weather feel even colder. It's amazing that we don't have frostbite.

A: So, what will the forecast be for this next big storm?

B: It looks like a real blizzard.

A: There will probably be black ice on the roads and sidewalks. Are you going to salt your driveway?

B: Oh, I am all set. I also have a snow shovel in the garage in case I need to shovel the driveway.

A: It sounds like you are prepared! Hopefully, it will not be so bad. The weatherman said that the blizzard will fade to flurries by tomorrow evening.

B: True, but it's better to be safe than sorry!

A: Yeah! You're right.
