Academic Common Market: Students seeking a major or program not offered by a college in Virginia may qualify for in-state tuition rates at an out-of-state institution. This website lists the agreements established between states and schools for particular programs. Students must be accepted into the school's specific program to qualify for in-state rates. (Agreements are updated annually.)

BEWARE: When filling out scholarships, make sure that you are going through a reputable site. Almost all scholarships are free to apply for, and you should NEVER have to pay a fee to access the application or to submit your application. Protect yourself while browsing online by avoiding websites or applications that seem too good to be true.
