

List of Career Research Websites

You can start exploring your career through many free online resources. These websites are known to provide updated and comprehensive information on job outlook, trends, industry requirements, and work environment, etc. These websites can be a good place to start doing your research.

U.S Bureau of Labor and Statistics

<https://www.bls.gov/ooh/>

U.S Bureau of Labor and Statistics offers an Occupational Outlook Handbook that contains high quality sources of career guidance. Students can utilize the occupation finder filtered by pay, education, training, and growth rate.

My Next Move

<https://www.mynextmove.org/>

My Next Move has over 900 career options and resources for you to look at. They break down each career by skills, abilities, knowledge, personalities, and many more.

Career One Stop

<https://www.careeronestop.org/>

CareerOneStop is the flagship career, training, and job search website for the U. S Department of Labor. The website serves job seekers, businesses, students, and career advisors with a variety of free online tools, information, and resources.

O*NET Online

<https://www.onetonline.org/>

This website is your tool for career exploration and job analysis. O*NET Online has detailed descriptions of the world of work for use by job seekers, professionals, students, researchers and more.

O*NET OnLine

Job Corps

<https://www.jobcorps.gov/learn>

Job Corps is a no-cost education and vocational training program administered by the U.S. Department of Labor that helps young people ages 16-24 improve the quality of their lives by empowering them to get great jobs and become independent.

The Non-Citizen's Guide to Entrepreneurship

https://static1.squarespace.com/static/5568cf13e4b0580240daceee/t/5d1a589a56fd5b0001e927f1/1562007758020/NYSYLC_Guide_062019_Web.pdf

The Non-Citizen's Guide to Entrepreneurship was written under the guidance of Angy Rivera from the New York State Youth Leadership Council. It provides all non-citizens, regardless of status, with an idea of the possible work and entrepreneurial options available.

JA Career Speakers Videos

<https://sites.google.com/ja.org/career-speaker-videos>

JA Career Speakers offer videos and assignments related to agricultural, architecture, arts, business, education, finance, government, health science, human services, technology, law, engineering, mathematics, and many more careers. Explore various career clusters by watching videos to learn more about a career.

