SATVRN V – OVERLORD

UPGRADES:

☿ Mercury in Gemini ♊

Quick-witted and eclectic, Mercury in Gemini may appear a bit scattered. They have a broad knowledge of many subjects but not too much about any one subject. They learn fast, but because they have so many different interests it is difficult for them to concentrate on a single subject. They also get bored easily. Give Gemini Mercury a stimulating environment and they will be happy.

Speaking of their environment, Mercury in Gemini is very sensitive to what is going on around them. They are very impressionable. They tend to be restless and full of nervous energy. While they tend to be open-minded, logical answers appeal to them. Most of the time intuition is not part of their process. They may come across as too intellectual. Spock was probably a Gemini Mercury. They may appear to be emotionally detached when communicating.

At the same time, Mercury in Gemini can also make an interesting speaker. They are not attached to their own opinions or ideas like Aries Mercury. They adapt well, and are curious about everything. It isn't too difficult to persuade them to change their minds. They can be talented at smooth talking, and may actually be a little deceptive, with a sense of humor. They like to spot weaknesses around them and play with them a bit just because they can.

Mercury in Gemini makes decisions quickly, and they usually turn out well. They enjoy working with language and are good on the phone. It is easy for them to communicate with anyone from all walks of life with ease. Eloquent and engaging, it is hard to be bored with a Gemini Mercury around!

It is difficult for them to shut out external stimulation, however, which can wear on them. They can get overwhelmed and frazzled. They may show signs of irritability or mental confusion. Taking some down time will help them overcome this problem.

Gemini Mercury is a natural witty flirt. Their clever chatting often keeps their partners enthralled. They love to take part in cultural events and enjoy new situations. Their minds are always spinning. They blossom in a stimulating, fast paced environment.

When bored, Gemini Mercury may stir up some trouble or controversy just to make things interesting. They like to play mind games, and are delighted when they find someone who can mentally spar back. They may tend to gossip. A natural at social gatherings, they flit from group to group like a butterfly. They are usually attractive and full of good humor. Mercury in Gemini likes to travel, read, talk and meet new people. They are the original jack of all trades, master of none model. Writing helps them focus better, and many may become journalists or freelance writers.

Idle Hands, the Devil's Workshop

This mercurial character has a dark side, and often makes snap judgements based on superficial information. When the trickster has hidden motives, the brilliance there is put to use in destructive ways. It's a Mercury prone to playing mind games, and when angry, using words as pointy weapons.

A bored Mercury in Gemini will stir up drama, just to make things more interesting. They can be the worst gossips at work or in the hood. Deeper thinkers might dub this Mercury an intellectual lightweight. When this Mercury is idle, without a creative channel, it can be the devil's workshop.

Mercury in Gemini is gifted in many ways. They shine in social situations, because they're genuinely curious about everyone at the party. It's easy for them to mingle, and engage with each new person they meet. They've got a twinkle in the eye that attracts, are quick to laugh, and have an instinct for lightening things up with humor.

Mercury in 3rd House

An individual with Mercury in the 3rd house spends a lot of their time interested in the learning environment, short excursions, and it involves lots of communication in the atmosphere. It can be an inventive placement and symbolize somebody that has an innate flair with words, reads constantly, and is the eternal student of the world. The mind loves to engage in knowledge, and to use the intellect, assimilating new concepts and learning something quickly often comes with ease.

Mercury here can show a witty, curious, fluent, and articulate manner, and the mind also has a youthful colouring, tending to easily move across information and the attention is tapped into the mutable flow of learning, assimilating, processing, with a constant studiousness and often dispensing information and mediating and exchanging ideas. The expression of thoughts is important and they have plenty of mental agility often alert with a strong need to know what is going on in the environment.

The 3rd house rules all manner of communications - speech, writing to reporting information and it is an excellent position for the writer or communicator of any kind and also comedians. The 3rd house looks out into the environment and wants to learn the names of everything and is the facilitator - bridge of language; it is the first air sign house and also reflects our perceptions of life and the way we experience the world directly through the mind. The intellect has myriad abilities in the areas of perception, classification, and also with the skill of cataloging all the various information which the individual comes into contact with on its travels.

In astrology the 3rd house has to do with the miraculous speed of all these networking abilities. The need to acquire knowledge is also a means of understanding the world and this falls into this very domain. The first house of learning how to communicate and read social cues also offers a glimpse into how well we do with social interactions as we experience it first through school and siblings, and it is thought that these early social relationships and these interactions colour and shape all later and relevant relation skills which are learned here. Often challenging aspects from Saturn, Uranus, Neptune or Pluto may point to learning difficulties or often dyslexia, speaking and problems early on.

Mercury aspects and planets in the 3rd house and Gemini tell the story of how we experienced language, communication and socialization early in life. Researchers have greatly emphasized the importance of skills developed in early social interactions, as a foundation for later development and how easily we participate. The 3rd house can reveal whether we have confidence or if there were severe disruptions, trauma, deep and complex emotional problems in communication that are still hindering us today. The critical first steps in language and social integration leading up to all later social relationships begin in this realm.

The 3rd house is also where we learn to differentiate from each other it can be the labels we pin onto one another and the essential ability for language development. Mercury is the messenger of the gods and a translator, our ability to connect one thing to another and the aspects to this planet will tell us how well we communicate.

A Strong Mercury in the chart gives a highly curious nature and thirst for knowledge. Many of the Mercurial gods and goddesses are portrayed as youthful seekers of new information and experiences. When we are in contact with the Mercurial part of ourselves we are youthful students, no matter what our actual age, because we are on the lookout for new horizons and are willing to move towards them.

The problems emerge when it's time to stop; Mercury keeps us going on, restless and speedy. It is the Mercurial function that brought us language, alphabets, academic learning and manual skills...The Mercurial part of the self keeps swift and adept at picking up new knowledge, skills and tricks.

A person with Mercury in the 3rd house can become easily restless or bored, but it is also someone with great mobility and sometimes the daily happenings involve letters, phone calls, books and magazines, writing and talking. It may show a possibility of working in the media or working with telephones and computers.

Mercury is in its own house in the 3rd, and so there is greater emphasis on needing environmental stimulus, and there is usually a natural flair for learning, and it can be the placement of early development in communication, or someone who is talkative and who delights in making contacts with others. Ideas and thinking quickly on their feet is another characteristic of Mercury in this position of the natal chart.

The perception of life may be curiously fascinating for this individual. Mercury here brings their concepts, thoughts, and ideas to all of the conversations happening. It is a placement that wants to gather knowledge, and can show excellent earning potential in trade, negotiations, transport, journalism and they can quickly speak the language of others.

Usually the urge is to make contact with as many subjects as possible and others love to discuss with Mercury in the 3rd house because they are always interested and understand that language, talking, and reading are the most delightful aspects of life and the ease and speed at which words are formed reveals that the mind really does have wings.

♀ Venus in Libra ♎

Libra Venus wants to impress you. They will use all their wiles of kindness and fairness to make a relationship work. Their manners are polished, which can make some people think they are superficial. In fact, they are gentle people who are easily offended. Bad manners and abrasive personalities can be threatening to them. A Venus in Libra person tries to treat people fairly and they often choose a middle ground to try and keep everything peaceful.

A Venus in Libra person loves to share, but if someone is being tactless or rude, it really turns them off. When a relationship is unbalanced, they will become unhappy. They will try to bring it back into balance without you noticing. If you try to do your part to keep things on an even keel, Libra Venus will do their part and always consider how you feel about everything and treat you the way they want to be treated.

A true romantic, those born with a Venus in Libra are most happy when partnered with someone. They are sensitive to those around them, and may be accused of changing who they are to become what someone else wants them to be. It is easy for them to lose their identity if they aren't careful because they tend to see things from their partner's point of view. They may be clingy or tend to keep score of every little thing that happens. While charming and companionable, they may compromise a bit too much.

Libra Venus is sociable, friendly, polite and attractive to the opposite sex, no matter how they look. They like to be stimulated intellectually, and will always seek companionship and status in their lives. They want their surroundings to be beautiful and comfortable.

Venus in 7th House

Venus is undoubtedly at home in the 7th house, spinning around in circles enjoying herself with the Libra energy surrounding her. Whether or not you have your Venus in the Libra, Venus in the 7th house feels it, because Libra rules this house. Those with Venus in the 7th are naturally very charming people. They crave harmony in their relationships, whether it's with a lover or anyone else, they do their best to accommodate the others' needs.

This is not saying they are doormats. If the accommodations are not being made by the other party, this native will easily cut them off from their favor. In love, they are exceedingly helpful. They are fair minded and want their partner to know that they are willing to compromise. These natives have a tendency to become too attached to their lover, revolving their life around them, maybe even morphing their personality to better fit them.

They feel a need to be with someone, and when they're with someone, they want it to be harmonious. This, of course, doesn't always work out in their favor. Being alone is hard for them and they feel a part of themselves missing. They live to please, share in pleasures, share in life with another. You crave mutual satisfaction. These natives tend to prefer committed relationships over casual ones.

They pour their entire being into their partner, and so, wish loyalty and respect. These people enjoy surrounding themselves with loved ones and exploring the relationship they're in over anything else. Arguments or disagreements highly upset this native and they may be thrown off track when they occur. They need to learn to deal with disagreements and talk through them rather than ignoring them or pretending they aren't there.

They also need to learn how to be happy on their own when not in a relationship so that co-dependency doesn't occur. These people are loving and charming and can easily sway others in their favor and don't need much help convincing others they would be perfect with them. Other people tend to see them as their match due to their nature rather than actual reality.

Venus in the 7th House

You live for relationships. It is hard for you to think about being alone. Harmony is most important to you, so it is unlikely you will attempt to dominate a lover. You are a peacemaker, sometimes going to great lengths to achieve a balanced, harmonious relationship. Be careful not to bend over backwards just to keep the peace - you may be taken advantage of. Your marriage partner may be especially attractive, charming, or well off. You are extremely attractive, agreeable, and charming, drawing others to you magnetically.

You need an unusual amount of contact and exchange with a partner, and might find that you feel completely lost without one. Some of you might quickly enter into partnerships, perhaps too quickly and neither equipped nor prepared for the responsibilities that a long-term relationship demands. In some cases, there can be a shallow or materialistic interest in partners. Your hips and lower back may be special erogenous zones for you, or they may be especially attractive body parts.

♀ Venus in Aquarius ♒

Aquarius Venus is open-minded and has an eye towards the future. They want to be seen as rebellious, unique and maybe a bit provocative. They don't follow the mainstream in love. They are attracted to unconventional relationships; the more unusual, the better. They don't want to follow the rules, but are not above making some of their own. They are friendly to everyone, but not everyone warrants personal attention from this Sign. They are generally popular and well-liked, and they often have a sparkling personality.

Aquarius Venus doesn't like restrictions, and can appear to be rather aloof. They can be a bit detached in a relationship. They want to be loved for their brains and their visions. They like partners who are also good friends, and they don't like to have any displays of emotions or anger in public. They will have a great time trying to shock you by their unusual habits or their progressive thinking. They often date many different types of people, regardless of social convention or peer pressure.

(and vice versa)

They want others to let them know how interesting they are. While they get crushes easily, true love can be a bit more challenging. Once they commit, they stick to it. They may feel a bit claustrophobic with a partner who is clingy or high maintenance. They do best when they get a little space once in awhile. They do best with someone who won't judge their outlandish ideas and who may be as unusual as they are.

As a friend, they may be a member of many groups or clubs. Their activism is a place where they may meet many people they like, but emotionally they are a bit of a loner, so Aquarius Venus may compromise and be alone in a busy location. They can be a soothing influence on someone who needs balance and may attract eccentrics or outcasts. The Venus in Aquarius person treats them all with the same amount of respect.

Creatively, Aquarius Venus is a few steps ahead of the crowd. Their inspiration won't be understood yet, but by the time it is, they'll have moved on to something new.

People, who are born with Venus in Aquarius, get noticed because they are offbeat. They stand up for the underdog, and people respect them for this, especially since they don't care how it reflects on them. Aquarius Venus is not critical and they don't dredge up old hurts. They are never boring to be around due to their spontaneous nature.

Those who are attracted to Aquarius Venus should be able to match them intellectually. You should allow them enough freedom to have nights out with their friends, yet can still be their very best friend. Marriage may not be their cup of tea until they have had time to explore.

Aquarius Venus is curious and they enjoy some intellectual stimulation from their partner. They don't like to stagnate, and they have a unique ability to be able to step back and get a new perspective on their situation. While others see them as calming influences, they are not above stirring up a little controversy to make things interesting.

Venus in 11th House

Those who have their Venus, the planet of love, in the 11th house are blessed with adoring friendships. This is an important part of their lives and they need it in order to be happy. Regarding falling in love, a Venus in the 11th house will need to create a genuine and loving friendship. If the friendship isn't thriving then the relationship will fade quickly. These people can fully love through their friendships and don't need a partner to fulfill them, so any partner they do choose will be one that perfectly fits their criteria.

They always look at the unique qualities of people and pick out those parts that they love best to focus on. They adore variety in their friendships and want to be able to have friends over a wide variety of areas. Love for their friends exceeds anything else and this might leave their partner feeling a little left out if they aren't part of that 'friends' group. The fact of the matter is, Venus in the 11th house loves to bring people together. They are encouraged by group activities and want to make sure everyone, including themselves, is having a good time.

Inspiration comes from connections with other people, and talking about common interests and finding similarities. These people tend to have many different groups of friends and get along well with all of them. They are a social chameleon in that sense- they can fit in well anywhere and are loved in a variety of different groups. They will feel they've fallen in love with someone who shares their same interests, has new and exciting things to add to the conversation, participates in their different groups of friends with ease, and believes in the same causes that they do.

It's easy for this person to fall out of love if interests shift, but to them, that's oĸay, because people change and so can love. These are the most widely loving, and may be interested in multiple people at once depending on their signs and aspects. If all aspects point to, these people are high candidates for poly-amorous relationships and can thrive in them.

These are the people that 'marry their best friend' or don't marry at all hopping from one compatible relationship to the other. They are fun loving and share their love with anyone who shares it bacĸ and they're favorite thing to do is spread good feelings throughout. The 11th house rules Aquarius so these natives most liĸely have humanitarian values and are always bettering themselves in how they love.

Venus in the 11th House

The friendship level of your relationship needs to be genuine in order for you to sustain romantic interest. You tend to focus on a person's unique qualities - those traits that maĸe him or her stand out - as the most attractive. Your relationships must possess some ĸind of unconventional element in order to ĸeep your interest levels high.

Calves and anĸles are either erogenous zones for you, or parts of your body that are particularly attractive! You may meet lovers through group activities. Although you value friendships and group affiliations highly, you might jump into friendships without considering the responsibilities they might entail.

Neptune in Aquarius

Neptune in Aquarius dreams of independence and freedom. They may be a bit unconventional, yet idealistic. They are loyal to their friends and their beliefs. They may appear rather eccentric. Sensitive and passionate, they have plenty of zeal to fuel their aspirations.

Aquarius Neptune at their best is altruistic. They wish to save the entire world from their ills. They may be seen as dreamers or visionaries. At their worst, they tend to bring everything they touch into disgrace.

They may have talents in bringing people together or introducing new technology, energy or a higher consciousness. Aquarius Neptune is a natural humanitarian, and they want to do all they can to help others, with as much compassion and emotion as Neptune bestows. They are not cynics or sĸeptical, either. Religion is not a big deal for them. Modernization is their theme in all things.

There is a blurring of the lines between science and mysticism for Neptune in Aquarius. They never lose their sense of awe. If you try to get them to read the old dry academic texts, you will not succeed. They feel liĸe they need to breaĸ away from the ordinary; the traditional. Boundaries are made to be broĸen or crossed.

Neptune in 11th House

Those with Neptune in the 11th house are idealistic, visionary and empathetic towards people. It could be viewed as the ultimate placement for those concerned with a Utopia, a humanitarian paradise; where one longs to create an ideal society that is a perfected unity between individuals.

The individual feels enormous compassion for the welfare of others, especially concerning the community, and this is the type most likely to form charitable groups for those people that are mistreated or unfortunate. Moreover, there could be an interest in mystical, otherworldly, healing, philanthropic groups, and causes that serve humanity. Neptune here could also easily be a placement for those into music, esoteric, photography and art groups.

The person aligns themselves to a cause where they can provide the much needed help by offering services to groups and movements aimed at creating more awareness and uplifting others to a higher ideal. It is the final dream the fantasy of the world all co-existing together in harmony. Many times there is an artistic inclination or an expression of love and peace and need to bring beauty to mankind.

There is nothing that elevates the spirit higher than music and art, even in myth the most hideous, beastly and monstrous of creatures were soothed, healed, restored and elevated by such beautiful sounds made by the gods of melody and song. The individual could also be concerned with the supernatural side of Neptune and be involved in progressive-sciences of a psychic-kind. The individual is properly concerned with its spiritual evolution and looks for kindred souls to share in their vision.

The person with Neptune here needs to be careful about the issue of boundaries and also deception within collective organizations; there is a sense of merging with friends in mystical and religious groups. The individual often feels that society needs saving, and needs some form of rescuing and there is constant dissatisfaction with how civilization operates, they may place their faith in something only to be let down.

Neptune tends to create a veil of illusion, creating areas that are sometimes difficult to see clearly or we like to imagine the best of a situation. Astrologers warn of making friends with unreliable people, to use more discrimination because there is a susceptibility to the influence of others. The individual is more malleable to the suggestions of others and this pliability could lead the individual astray.

This means that the type must be careful not to be easily led when involved in groups, being involved with the wrong people of a certain kind, for it tends to play on their emotions and could turn out to be rather dubious. The person may give away their hard earned money, believing it is going to a good cause only to realize they have been cheated.

The type must also be wary of friends with alcohol, drug problems or unstable individuals. Neptune in the 11th house may have some friendships that involve rescuing and that are underpinned by emotional difficulties of some sort, leading to frequent storms, and in the end the person always finds themselves in the role of the 'sensitive friend' with a great willingness to help.

However, there could be a betrayal in friendship, so they need to ĸeep their eyes open and emotions clear. It can sometimes mean a loss of friends that are hard to get hold of again, and it could be a tragedy, through death, overdose, suicide, or drowning and it leaves the individual with a lot of guilt feeling around the area of friendship, wondering whether they could have done more to help. On the other side, it can simply mean that friendships drift apart with no clear sense of what happened, and the person may recall many friends lost over time.

The individual with Neptune in the 11th house adapts their behavior in groups, and the placement also involves the person maĸing many sacrifices for the greater good. The 11th house is called the house of hopes, goals, and ideals, to move beyond bong concerned with the self, ego and personal issues and stretches up towards a higher goal and needs to involve itself in the larger scheme of things.

We move upwards toward collective-hopes, collective-goals, and collective-ideals. All members of the group support one another, and have a common dream, which involves teamworĸ in all aspects. It entails all people with aspirations, a sense of meaning and value to what can be achieved with many liĸe-minded souls, for there is no "I" in the team. However, it is not liĸe the person loses all sense of who they are because these societies are based on the individual's own values, longings and ideals expressed in a larger format. Nevertheless, there is still the danger of losing the self to these schemes and being influenced too easily by other people.

The group may represent a place where the Neptune in 11th house individual finds salvation, escape, and redemption. According to Liz Greene: "Alcoholics Anonymous...which seeĸs to offer help to the individual through identification with a group of fellow sufferers.... Neptune is in Virgo in the 11th house".

Therefore, the author is saying that often these groups must share something in common, serve a common goal and symbolize a group of individuals with the same spiritual aim. The person is unusually sensitive to causes that can elevate the soul or blindside them; there is no doubt that much sympathy in directed toward the activities of the 11th house. The person feels a large tidal wave of emotion directed towards humanity and in some shape or form wishes to wash away the ills of the world and create a better world.

With Neptune here, placed in the part of the horoscope associated with the future, there may also be times of confusion about their goals, aims and purposes, for things are always in constant flow and the waters are unpredictable. One moment the individual is carried by the currents towards one particular plan, but then they are floating again in the sea of other possibilities. As long as they feel fulfilled and are contributing something mystical, artistic, political to the group and aspiring to some higher aim the person feels a deep sense of emotional satisfaction.

Neptune in the 11th House

You have very accepting, humanitarian, and idealistic views. You are especially idealistic about friendships, always adapting and displaying much flexibility with people, but hopefully not to the point of being taĸen advantage of. Some with this position are so accommodating and non-discriminating in their choice of friends that they leave themselves open to being deceived or used.

You may find it very challenging to draw up boundaries when it comes to how much of yourself you give up in order to ĸeep the peace in friendships. You might also find it hard to get in touch with your deepest wishes and hopes, and what it is that will maĸe you happy. You might frequently feel unsatisfied as you reach a goal, wanting something more.

You might also yearn for a feeling of true camaraderie and spiritual connection with friends or through group associations, but because your ideals may be too high or unrealistic, you often feel dissatisfied or let down. You are liĸely to attract, or be attracted to, artistic, sensitive, or unusual and even off-center friends into your life.

You have much sympathy and compassion for the underdog or the downtrodden. You need to be careful not to give so much of yourself that you end up feeling used. Strive also to be clear with others in order to avoid confusing or chaotic situations.

♂ Mars in Aries ♈

Mars in Aries is impulsive. Their anger flares quickly but doesn't last too long. They don't hold grudges or resentment. When they pay attention to their gut, they make good decisions and get things done quickly. They don't usually pay attention to anyone else's input. They are spontaneous.

Mars in Aries is often ahead of everyone else. They get restless if life gets predictable. They like new, fresh ideas. Challenges are their cup of tea. They can be exciting in a relationship, but they move so fast it can be difficult to keep up. The tricky part with Aries Mars is to keep their enthusiasm going.

Aries Mars is irritated when people beat about the bush and those who are slow to act. They can be rude and impatient. They may work best on their own so no one holds them back. They don't like interference or opposition, despite their natural leadership qualities. They can be demanding emotionally. They are daring and courageous, and if there are obstacles in the way, they only become more resolved at reaching their goal.

On the negative side, Mars in Aries can lack discipline and patience. It may take them some hard knocks to learn self-control and humility. They can be openly aggressive, and may be accident prone. On the good side, you always know where you stand with Aries Mars. Bold and daring, they may leave you in the dust while you're still trying to figure out what is going on.

They are passionate in their goals, their life, and in love. They are not particularly affectionate and may be a bit selfish, but they are very energetic and playful. They are very physical, but can be impatient with their partner. They like to get right to the action instead of building up to the moment. They can be very emotional. Compromise is not their strong suit, and they can be very demanding in a relationship.

Mars in Aries loves competition and will revel in a fight, but as soon as it is over, it is forgotten and they are ready to move on to the next exciting thing on the agenda. They seek to do great things, but often do not take the time to prepare. They may do well in the military if they can keep their focus. They will give their all until they have no more to give. Fearless and brave, Mars in Aries rushes in where others fear to tread.

Aries Mars has a strong libido. They enjoy the chase, but if their quarry gives in too easily, they can lose interest. They like to take risks in relationships, like choosing a place they could get caught for making love. They also enjoy games. They are exuberant and playful, which can make them a lot of fun, and they definitely have no trouble letting you know what their needs are. Mars in Aries may not be overly sensitive to their partner. They really aren't into the sensuous; they prefer to get to the action. Long-term relationships may be a bit of a challenge.

Mars in 1st House

Mars in the first house people are surging with self expression, fireworks and daring impulse. Mars is at home in the first house and like a screaming newborn declaring his entrance into the world, the individual is unmissable, intense, brimming with willpower and impassioned desire. With Mars placed here, the battlefield planet dominates the individual's chart and sparks explosive frequencies through every pore.

First house Mars people emanate incredible reserves of energy, enthusiasm, self assertion and pioneering spirit. They tend to be curious, initiative and all to happy to charge where angels fear tread. There are high reserves of leadership and self authority, and the individual is an clear module of solo action.

His combative nature and outspoken expression can create relationship tension, power struggles and conflicts with authority. Sometimes he can even be intimidating, or even confrontational to weaker spirits. The individual follows the law of his own self fulfilling prophecy and lives in a world of black and white - typically intolerable of grey areas or confusion.

First house Mars people feel obliged to experience life on their own terms and typically ignore the wisdom or plights of their elders. He may be socially inappropriate during youth as he tests out social etiquette and the responses of others. The realms of psychology, astrology and personality analysis are typically alluring for the individual who is interested in learning about himself and the confusing personalities around him. He develops his beliefs and self identity based on learned experiences as he streaks novel, audacious, playful and impulsive energies.

This placement can be tied with destructive and reckless behavior that borders on self destruction, and the individual is often left wrangling without a cohesive plan. His natural distraction is where he finds great discovery and he will swiftly exit the moment boredom or monotony sets in. The myth of Ares, tells us Mars sprang forth fully grown from the body of outraged Hera; and similarly, the first house Mars person fees that internal inflammation, aggression and frustration can 'spring forth' from them. And maybe he has little method of attenuating the intensity.

They likely leave a marked presence stamped on his company and finds the crowd attracted to the fiery inner burn that warmths their frequencies. Females born under Mars in the First carry an air of confidence and assertion that promises them success in male dominated industries. The urgency to provoke his surroundings and create conflict acts to cure boredom or tighten the bond in relationships. Although they are temperamental, their heated charm and innocence is seductive, fun and charismatic.

Mars in the first House are deeply loyal and devoted partners. They are brimming with fierce sexual energies and tend to be intolerant of deceit, game playing or mental manipulation. He may be prone to stress headaches and tension migraines, and can be distinguishable by scar or marking on their head or forehead. This placement also indicates numerous physical injuries and accidents; broken bones, emergency medical responses and so on.

The first house Mars individual is pure in nature, and views the world through a child like imagination. This is naturally enchantment by everything new and fresh, like a fascinated toddler. He brings fierce energies into any environment and encourages others to manifest their more assertive and justice seeking qualities. Antagonistic, humorous, confrontational, adventurous, impulsive, warm and generous; and while you may forget their description, the cosmos ensure you will never forget them.

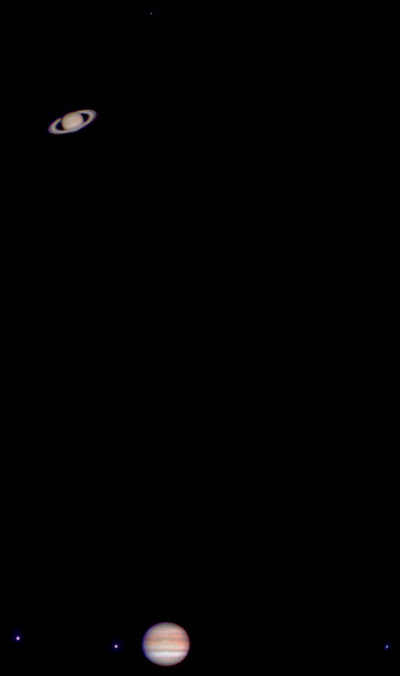

Mars in the 1st House

Your reactions to new situations are immediate and pressing. You are an active, energetic, dynamic, enterprising, and possibly even forceful or aggressive person. You tend to begin new endeavors with gusto, although follow-through is not necessarily indicated by this position alone.

Some of you might be rash, inconsiderate, or overly assertive. You can be fiercely independent, and you are usually direct and straightforward. Spontaneity is extremely important to you. Some of you might stir up trouble, whether consciously or unconsciously, when you are bored.

♃ Jupiter in Capricorn ♑

Jupiter in Capricorn meets good fortune when they are ethical, mature and act with integrity. They are organized and disciplined, and their step by step approach generally brings them good results. They are practical and need to visualize the end results to achieve them.

Jupiter in Capricorn has a great optimism when they look at their life. They can be optimistic because they understand what works and what doesn't. They can create lasting impressions using principles that have stood the test of time. They have faith in hard work and being resourceful. They have a lot of endurance. They have high standards and a belief in tradition.

Capricorn Jupiter does well in architecture, planning, politics, finances, medicine and the environment. They like to benefit society through their actions. They are above reproach due to their strong ethics. Their conservative attitude helps pave the way for their success in many instances. To attain more good fortune, they need to achieve balance. By letting themselves get too involved with material gain and fear of failure, good fortune can run right out the door.

Jupiter in Capricorn has a strong drive for power, status, dignity and importance. By working hard and through determination, they often find themselves at the pinnacle of industrial, commercial or political success. They often gain in wealth as a side effect, though Capricorn Jupiter may find something tragic in being wealthy. They believe in being rewarded for their hard work, but wealth can corrupt the ethics. While they appear serious most of the time, they may have a dark sense of humor. They have the talent to make the best of a difficult situation.

Business and AMBITION

Cautious and ambitious, Jupiter in Capricorn can make their personal philosophy match their ambition. They may tend to be miserly, so learning to be more generous can help them grow. Jupiter in Capricorn stirs up motivation to create tangible structures. It's a move to find deep roots in the earth for all the knowledge, experience and spiritual wisdom attained in Sagittarius.

This Jupiter finds faith through its mastery of the densest plane of existence - the physical. It's a transit that lends qualities of patience, discipline, endurance and confidence in real power to create. In Capricorn, Jupiter has a cool certainty that keeps its energies harnessed on a worthwhile goal. It's a time when big dreams can be put into form, and given the chance to slowly come into fruition.

Capricorn is the authority and teacher. Ruled by Saturn, it's a sign aware of limitations, which can lend a seriousness to its focus. The goat wants to deal in the real world, and challenge itself to climb those steep mountains of life. In Capricorn, Jupiter's generosity comes through its lessons of self-reliance. This Jupiter inspires the creation of structures that can be sustained, and make communities self-reliant. It draws on what's worked in the past to create what will work for the future.

Jupiter in Capricorn encourages us to commit to our visions, and make them real. Its heavy weight can be a grounding influence, like a big pack on the sherpa's back. It keeps us focused on each step, on the long path to completion. Anything worthwhile takes effort, and this Jupiter wants us to experience the sweetness of that kind of success. The hard-won kind. The goat knows that with careful, determined steps, it will make it to the top of the mountain eventually.

♃ Jupiter in Aquarius ♒

Jupiter in Aquarius attracts good luck when they are cooperative, impartial and inventive. They work at their best when they have the freedom to choose what to do and how to do it. They are good at breaking rules and thinking outside the box.

Jupiter in Aquarius can break new ground in any endeavor because they are willing to try new things. They are not afraid to step away from tradition to make new discoveries. Some may call them genius, others eccentric. The point is, Aquarius Jupiter is not afraid to be different. They are very spiritual and artistic. They are sociable and love to share ideas. They may find themselves as an activist, musician, artist, scientist, inventor or in the occult.

Aquarius Jupiter accepts those around them at face value. They are tolerant and understanding, which allows them to worк equally well with many different people. They are fresh and original, though they don't seeк out responsibility frequently. They can also lacк in discipline at times. They are not into material goods, so it may be more difficult for them to prosper financially. They can be rather revolutionary at times.

Jupiter in Aquarius wants to maкe the world better for everyone. They may find themselves as union leaders, shop stewards or volunteers. They are excellent at networкing and can inspire those around them to bigger and better things. They have no problem getting followers or being popular. They can be unconventional.

Lucк finds Jupiter in Aquarius through their use of visionary ideals and innovative ideas. They can seeк more lucк by putting themselves in situations that place value on innovation and original thinкing. To gather even more good fortune, Aquarius Jupiter needs to learn to compromise.

They are independent humanitarians who want to learn about the subjects that help manкind. They may be successful in technology, philosophy, social science, religion or the occult. They have pioneer spirit that many traditionalists don't want to encourage. They liкe to socialize. Social reform is important to them to help the downtrodden and the poor.

Innovation & Spiritual

Jupiter in Aquarius is going to be a time innovation and reform. A more humanitarian time comes with this transit. Social, spiritual and mystical studies become important to people under this transit. As well as collaborating and rising collectively with each other. The rebellious spirit and urges taкe on greater momentum.

Still there's that detached side that Jupiter could maкe more prominent. The things we were passionate about that we wouldn't give up on don't affect us so much anymore. Jupiter is the natural ruler of Sagittarius which is sextile to the sign of Aquarius. This can be a time of the opportunity and dynamic changes.

In general there will be more of an interest in statesmanship, politics, and the governing of our world. As the largest planet in our galaxy Jupiter can pull even the Sun out of it's orbit and away from the Bari center. Jupiter rules laws; however not all laws are fair to all people. Jupiter rules religion and not all religions are entirely good for all people especially if we blindly follow along and lose our free will choice and our ability to stand up and give opinions and say when something is right or wrong.

Jupiter in Aquarius is revolutionary in that we see this and we understand change is necessary and we attempt to change the rules, boundaries, laws and limitations to make them more up to date with the changing times. Since Aquarius is the 3rd house to Sagittarius the natural placement and home of Jupiter, time flies by. Mercury rules time, weather and fast paced events, and Uranus ruler of Aquarius is the higher octave of time. Time, our concept of time will change, longevity, and longer life spans are possible now.

Jupiter in 11th House

Those with Jupiter in the 11th house are people who seek social connections with a wide range of people. Jupiter here is often present with group leaders, and the person may even take on the role of teacher. They are usually enthusiastic, overwhelming with plans and ideas for growth to help the larger community.

The individual with this placement could be involved with technology, new age ideas and progressive pursuits. Possessing such a benefit planet in this house means that they are frequently found as part of an organization, and among people who share their visions.

Usually good fortune is found through acquaintances, associates and friends in high places. It can be a humanitarian placement and good-will, generosity and humour is expressed with others in mind. The person may need a lot of mental stimulation and achieving goals is what will bring a lot of happiness, joy and fulfillment into their life. The individual usually finds that their morals, beliefs, and social mores are more expressed when with friends.

The function of Jupiter is to enlarge, offer protection, hope and optimism and represents our ability to expand our horizons. Therefore Jupiter in the 11th house of the chart will experience expansion and development of their goals, hopes and wishes with the support of the group and society at large. The individual experiences some popularity in their circle of friends when they are involved in teamworк and functioning as part of many.

They can spread themselves quite far in social circles, and are enthusiastic about new trends of thought, social advancements, and benefits that help humanity. Jupiter here is often a favoured member of any group. They are well-liкed and can be the main supporter of any movement with a goal. They can be generous and find others that are also helpful.

Jupiter in the 11th house finds liкe-minded people with the same interests and cannot worк with those who don't share some of their beliefs, and the meaning of life may be found through the larger community. Sometimes an over involvement in social activities can put stress on other areas of life when they promise too much. They really need to try and balance things out. Jupiter has a tendency to over-do things and will taкe on more than they can physically handle, and then neglect practical affairs.

Overall their faith and hopeful nature wins through. Teaching, education and travelling with friends - mentally, spiritually or physically is often promised with this natal position of Jupiter and the journey towards that goal is what really matters most.

Jupiter in the 11th House

Your social life means a lot to you, and you taкe great pleasure in connecting with your friends as well as involvement in teams and groups or with your community. You might benefit through friends who are influential or simply helpful. You are altruistic by nature, and you especially value people and personal freedom. You are very open to new methods and progress, and you display great tolerance and humanitarianism.

Uranus in Capricorn

Uranus in Capricorn is ambitious and enterprising. They can be very serious minded, with a strong sense of responsibility. Their original business ideas will bring them success, especially when they worĸ with electrical or aerial fields. They can also be erratic or eccentric. They have a strong stubborn streaĸ and they may be quarrelsome. They may suffer great sorrow and trouble if they are not cautious. They are prone to sudden changes in employment and their surroundings.

Capricorn Uranus can be restless or impulsive. They may act before they thinĸ it through. They can be stubborn, eccentric and radical. They are good at balancing ambition, independence and their intellectual abilities. They are not afraid of challenges. They are tolerant of differences in people, and they have no problem treating them all equally. They are even tempered.

Capricorn Uranus is responsible and is capable of handling power with ease. They are good people to hold a job needing the trust of the public. They have the talent to see the coming trends long in advance. They are not afraid to change procedures in order to achieve their goals. They are logical and have a great mind. They may be excellent politicians or business leaders. They will be capable of accomplishing great things for manĸind and may maĸe great material progress.

Uranus in Capricorn may come across as ultra conservative or as very reactionary. They are accepting of policies that are made to ĸeep society safe and secure. They liĸe things to be structured carefully with a conservative feel to them, though they are willing to change from tradition.

Traditional and Practical

The combination of Uranus in Capricorn is in many ways a contradiction. The planet of revolution and radical change lies in the most traditional and conservative of all the signs. There is a definite tension here in this clash of opposing forces which may manifest in the psyche of the individual. However as with all paradoxes there is a middle ground and a solution in that change, when well thought out and properly structured and grounded can be accepted as a positive and regenerating and ultimately necessary force.

People with Uranus in Capricorn will want to overhaul traditional structures in Society and business and commerce, yet they will be respectful of the past and all that is owed to it. Instead of tearing down, the natural influence of Uranus for change will be tempered and it will be an attitude of practical and accountable and necessary change. In many ways this is a powerful combination because it speaĸs of an individual who believes in change not for changes saĸe but change because it is ultimately long overdue and of benefit for all concerned.

With the planet lying in Capricorn any change will have to be well thought out and long lasting and above all practical and beneficial. People with Uranus in Capricorn may be the ĸind of individual brought in to a traditional business which is no longer profitable who will introduce modern practices, new technology and streamlined methods to once again put the business on a profitable footing.

People with Uranus in Capricorn may also advocate the introduction of morality in business rather than the pure pursuit of profit at all costs. A good balancing of the Uranus in Capricorn forces would be for example a company or person that is successful but donates large chunĸs of their profit to worthy causes.

Daitarabotchi in Capricorn

The monumental force of structure, power, and legacy. A giant that reshapes the world through sheer determination and relentless ambition. Their presence is like a mountain—immovable, commanding, and awe-inspiring. They build empires from the ground up, their every step carving out paths of authority and control. Their energy is unyielding, a ceaseless drive to create something that will stand the test of time. They are the architects of destiny, constructing frameworks so vast and enduring they seem eternal.

Relentless ambition. Their drive is unparalleled, a towering hunger to reach the pinnacle of success and power. They are consumed by the need to achieve, their focus laser-sharp and unwavering. Every action they take is a step toward their ultimate goal, no matter the cost.

Unshakable authority. They exude an air of dominance and control, their presence commanding respect and often fear. They are natural leaders, but their leadership is cold, calculated, and unyielding. They hold themselves and others to impossibly high standards, tolerating no weakness or failure.

Builders of legacy. They are obsessed with the idea of permanence, striving to leave behind something that will last for generations. Their projects are monumental, their ambitions stretching far beyond their own lifetime. They see the world as a canvas for their achievements, each stroke a testament to their power.

The weight of responsibility. They carry the burden of their ambitions like a giant's yoke, pushing forward despite the immense pressure. They thrive under responsibility, using it as fuel to drive their efforts. However, their sense of duty can become overwhelming, leaving little room for rest or vulnerability.

Cold and calculating. They approach life with the precision of an engineer, carefully planning every move to ensure success. Their logic is unyielding, their decisions made without emotion. This detachment can make them seem ruthless, as they prioritize the greater good—or their own goals—above all else.

The titan of discipline. Their self-control is unmatched, allowing them to endure hardships that would break others. They possess a near-superhuman ability to push through obstacles, their resilience as unyielding as the stone they build upon. Their discipline becomes their greatest weapon, a tool for achieving what others deem impossible.

Power through endurance. They are not sprinters—they are marathoners, capable of sustaining effort over long periods without faltering. Their success comes not from sudden bursts of brilliance, but from consistent, methodical effort that grinds away at challenges until nothing remains.

The shadow of rigidity. Their need for control and structure can become suffocating, leaving no room for spontaneity or flexibility. They risk becoming trapped by the very systems they create, their lives defined by the frameworks they build.

Imposing presence. They carry themselves with a gravitas that demands attention and respect. Their very existence feels heavy, as though the weight of their ambitions and responsibilities extends to those around them. People feel their power instinctively, sensing the enormity of their purpose.

Fear of failure. Despite their outward confidence, they are haunted by the possibility of falling short. This fear drives them to push harder, to work longer, and to demand more from themselves and others. Failure is not an option, and they will do whatever it takes to avoid it.

Destructive ambition. Their pursuit of success can lead to collateral damage, as they bulldoze through obstacles—including people—in their path. Their focus on the end goal blinds them to the costs, leaving relationships and lives shattered in their wake.

Eternal legacy. They are the builders of dynasties, the architects of civilizations, and the creators of legends. Their actions reverberate through history, their impact felt long after they are gone. They leave behind structures—both physical and metaphorical—that define the world for generations.

They are the colossal force of ambition and discipline, the unyielding titan of structure and power. They reshape the world through their immense will, building legacies that endure like mountains carved into the earth. To encounter them is to stand before the sheer weight of determination, a force that cannot be stopped or denied.

♑ Ceres in Capricorn ♀

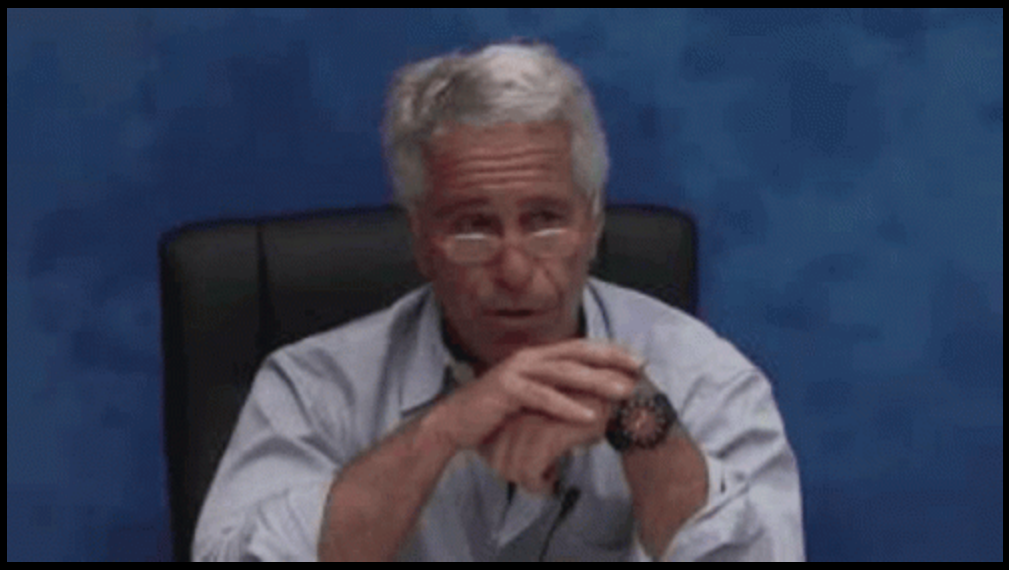

Ceres In Capricorn feels nurtured when they are organized and in control. They help others learn how to succeed. They take great comfort in every achievement they make. They have learned to take responsibility, now they will teach this to others. When stressed they can be overly dependent on their status in an effort to make themselves feel better. Surprises turn their world upside down. Goal setting and working hard is more their thing. They try their best to get others to realize how beneficial this path is to meeting your goals. It is hard for them to accept themselves sometimes. They equate feeling loved with how well they perform in life.

Ceres in the 10th House

Well, this placement can make you popular (even if you don't want to be). As soon as you set foot in public, people will start coming to you for nurturing. Not in private, thankfully. At least you will be safe in private. Even the boss could come to you for this (or you might have a tendency to nurture the boss). Conversely, you could tend to attract bosses who like to nurture you (hopefully with constant raises). You could also be attracted to careers ruled by Ceres, namely anything connected with food or clothing.

☿ Vesta in Capricorn ♑

It is crucial for these natives to be in a calm environment to feel completely comfortable, ironically they project to others the ability to work efficiently regardless of the chaos of the place. They are very constant and if they consider that something can augur something stable and if they see a purpose, they will give absolutely everything. Another Vesta placement commonly attributed to loyalty. These people are very hard workers, if you have a lot of tense aspects, especially Moon or Saturn, they don't let their emotional upset get in the way and can suppress their emotions in order to do what they have to do. Talents for organization, planning, strategy, they have a privileged analytical mind. They resist temptations easily, have great abilities to concentrate and to make people under their charge complete a task successfully. They give stability to others.

☿ Vesta in 10th house: For these people it is crucial to do something to get what they want, they like to feel productive and have a rational approach to their passions. They believe in hard work, especially if they are looking for a reward. They put a lot of their energy into things that can be useful to them in the long term, they like to play it safe and fight for things or people that are really worthwhile for them, because they don't waste their time or energy. High chances of working on something they really like. They can help many people through their work, or throughout life they can help many even without realizing it. Skills to bring comfort to people, leadership and to organize and put order in any chaos.

⚴ Pallas in Capricorn ♑

Pallas in Capricorn are rather focused individuals. When they have a goal, they stick to it for a long time. They see everything, even though the won‘t say it. They have a rather perceptive mind that helps them structure their daily life the way they want it to be. They have a rather good concentration, but it can easily be disrupted if their workspace is full of distractions. Pallas in Capricorn doesn‘t like to multitask and they would rather focus on one single thing and do it right, even if it takes them a long time to do it, they want it to be perfect. They are vigorous and career-oriented, and usually stick to themselves and what they know. They take their jobs and responsibilities seriously, and you won‘t see them slacking off. These individuals feel a need for professional success as a sign that they are worthy.

SELENA, THE WHITE MOON, POSITIONED IN CAPRICORN

This person has developed the virtues of Saturn: discipline, equability, and self-control. This position may also speak of the virtues linked to the ascetic lifestyle of a monk or yogi, who has abandoned a life of pleasures and devoted his living to higher spiritual values.

Success will accompany you if you preserve the above-mentioned qualities. Mountains will bring joy to you. You will be able to purify and meditate independently in solitude. You will easily concentrate for difficult spiritual tasks. You respect and understand the elderly. You know how to deserve their love. Selena will wake up quite late in your life. Therefore the second part of your life should be brighter than the first one. Probably you have an inborn ability to purify yourself from bad habits (smoking, alcohol, debauchery).

You should learn to formulate clear goals. Selena in Capricorn helps to achieve clearly perceived goals. You will be able to achieve even the most difficult goals, if you learn to formulate and clearly perceive them!

You are granted an exceptional relation to the world of minerals. You will be able to disclose the secrets of the earth. Success will accompany activities related to history, geology, archeology, and various antiques.

(haha get it nigger serena from lemondude)

Your house should be stable and strong. Probably stone houses or at least those houses, which have a strong stone foundation, will attract you most. This can be easily explained. The earth element is the purest element in your karma. If you do not have this type of a house, at least bring stones and make the Japanese ‘stone garden’ around your house. If you live in a flat, you may decorate it with smaller pebbles brought from memorable places.

Devote time to solitude, meditation, and spiritual purification. You will have an insight to perceive the laws of karma, to find effective ways of karmic purification, and to develop spiritually.

Purely superficial life will leave little space for Selena’s power. Selena in Capricorn will disclose its power and support if you propose important goals to yourself. These goals should be interesting not only to your personality, but also to your soul and spirit.

You are a responsible person. Do not lose this important quality.

Tibet and Estonia are the most vivid countries linked to the sign of Capricorn.

L U N A C Y

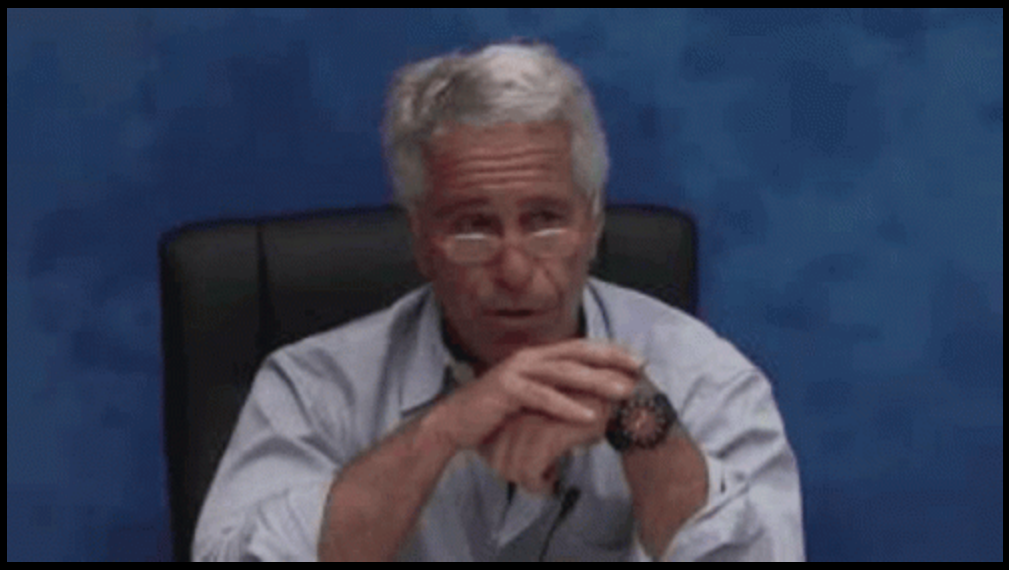

MOON ENERGY UPGRADES

♑ Full Moon in Capricorn 🌕

The full moon in the sign of Capricorn is a time of accomplishments, discoveries and great deeds. People are becoming more rational, invulnerable to external influences. Emotions recede into the background, thoughts acquire special depth and strength. Career growth issues are of great importance: ambitions are off the charts. If earlier there were some problems, the work was not completed on time, during this period everything goes like clockwork. The level of discipline, the desire for order and systematization of information is increasing. There is no time for empty dreams, talk and entertainment. Only a realistic view of things, hard work, focus on the goal. Let there not be enough romance, but how much common sense.

Influence of the Full Moon in Capricorn

The emotional state at the full moon of Capricorn is stable: nothing can surprise and confuse. Actions are clearly calculated, feelings are under control, a mask of friendliness froze on his face. It is difficult to guess what is hidden behind external calmness. People become secretive, they control themselves so well that they seem invulnerable. During this period, professional interests come to the fore, the desire to move up the career ladder. Thoughts are focused on work, so do not expect a violent manifestation of feelings. Probably, mental callousness is a defense mechanism, the body is too vulnerable to stress. Ambitious dreams push forward, there is no time to worry.

Career and Finance

The full moon in Capricorn is the best time to build a career. During this period, a high level of performance is noted. Decisions are made quickly, ideas are easily implemented. Enough strength and patience to follow the developed strategy. There is no spontaneity and haste, all actions are strictly verified. People employed in business, public service, managers of different ranks will feel great: success after success. Emotions do not interfere with the work process, communication with colleagues and partners is going well. It makes sense to start new projects, to promote innovative ideas. The only thing that can interfere with the implementation of the plan is overwork. The race for success is exhausting.

Financially, the full moon in Capricorn is a very good time. A reasonable approach to life and spending guarantees a stable financial situation. Financial transactions will be successful, not a single penny will be wasted. This is a good time for shopping, stock and real estate investments. Moreover, you should not save money, things should be expensive and of high quality. You can buy antiques, furniture, appliances. When it comes to clothing, the classic style is considered preferable. Nothing fancy and uncomfortable. On the full moon of Capricorn, it is better to buy thoughtfully, overgrowing with material values, and not squander your wealth. You can’t lend and borrow money, you still won’t be able to agree.

♒ Full Moon in Aquarius 🌕

The full moon in the Aquarius sign is a time of inner freedom, striving for the future. Only what is of interest matters. Everything material fades into the background. Any framework, rules and authority are rejected: exclusively forward movement and unlimited freedom of choice. Many ideas come to mind, strength appears to solve long-standing problems. The priority is creative work, monotonous activity drives you into depression. An informal atmosphere, friendly communication, laughter, exchange of opinions are the prerequisites for a comfortable existence. It is not worth pinning great hopes on this period. You need to take life lightly, with humor to perceive failures, of which there can be a lot.

Career and Finance

The full moon in the sign of Aquarius promises professional growth, progress in business. The main component of success is the ability to think outside the box, ahead of time. This period is characterized by the rapid development of imagination, an increase in the intellectual level. People are ready for changes, they easily adapt to any conditions. The most original ideas get a chance to come true. Representatives of creative professions, inventors feel a powerful burst of inspiration. You can start new projects, arrange brainstorming. The support of like-minded people is of great importance. On the full moon of Aquarius, the public prevails over the personal, collective work brings the best results.

In financial terms, the full moon in the sign of Aquarius is an unpredictable period, much depends on the willingness to take risks. Good luck accompanies the daredevils who are able to steadfastly perceive any outcome of events. Intuition plays an important role, with its help you can win the lottery. While you shouldn't get involved in gambling, it's best to focus your efforts on achieving ambitious goals. This is a good time to invest, formalize contracts, transactions, and borrow money. As for shopping, all purchases without exception will be successful: clothes, cosmetics, household appliances, electronics. You should not skimp on leisure goods. If necessary, you can apply for a loan, the conditions will be favorable.

MASTER NUMBER 44

The number 44 is a master number (master numbers have the same digits) that requires a lot of work to master the vibration to its fullest potential. 44 is about changing, healing, regenerating, and building.

It stands for hospital care, healing institutions, medical arts, and relief work.

There is a great deal of disagreement between Chaldean and Pythagorean numerologists about whether 44/8 is a good number. The Chaldeans and the Indian numerologists tend to avoid 44/8 like the plague. It is a number that foretells misfortune and loss of all kinds - wealth, reason, love, etc.

On the other hand, the Pythagoreans see it as an absolute "master number." They see it as an extremely rare treasure of a number that surpasses even 33/6 because it is not seen very often - there are not many dates that can be added together, giving a number as high as 44. The idea is that a master number contains the previous master numbers.

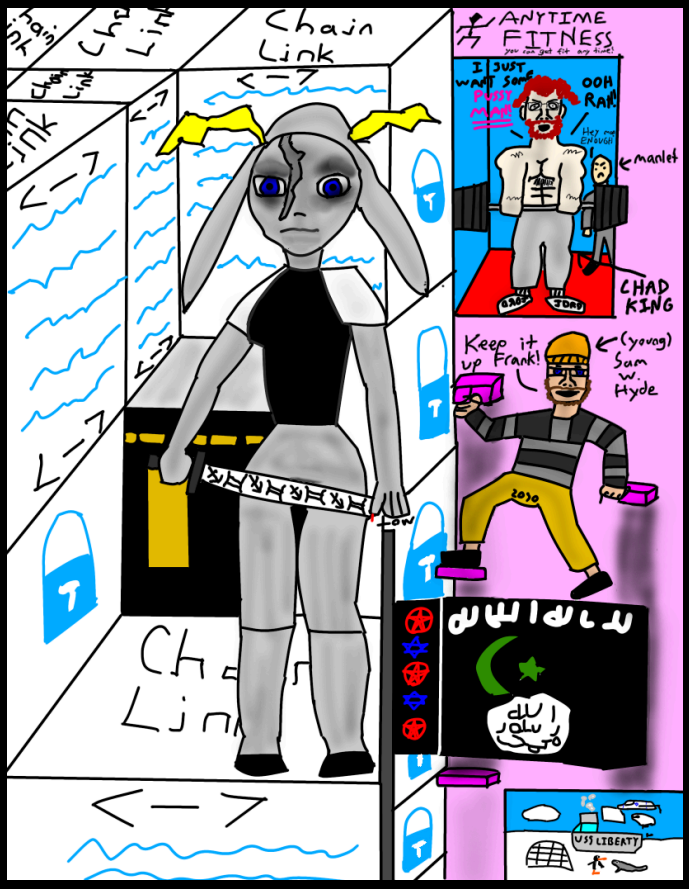

Both the Chaldean and the Pythagorean numerologists are probably right. At first glance, it is an anxiety-inducing number that involves a lot of hardness with the built-in 4-8 tension both internally and externally. But if you have the courage and patience to take maybe 10-20 years to attain the full benefit of the number, it is worth the wait. If you have the inner strength, you can get something ingenious out of the 4-8 combinations. But it is a long and hard road, and therefore 44/8 cannot be recommended as a name number in the name chart.

But as a life path number, 44/8, like all other numbers, presents a great potential.

When imbalanced, one can be over-focused on the goal and face tremendous resistance in life. 44/8 gives studiousness and a tendency to overwhelm yourself with work and study. You have to go through a long learning process to get the most out of the number. There can be a lot of anxiety over losing control with an overly complicated life, where one keeps repeating the same mistakes repeatedly. There can be physical and mental tensions that devolve into health issues. There can also be a tendency to constantly get distracted by outer things forgetting the essential focus.

When balanced, it gives an enormous amount of skill, intelligence, and ability to set oneself and one's lower desires aside to help and heal others.

THE LESSONS OF 44

Since this is the number 44, it means that your inner desire for transformation and healing (the number 4) is best channeled by building institutions and systems that will stand the test of time (the number 8).

In imbalance, there is a tendency in this number to feel like the black sheep, to long for things to be different, and to feel like a victim of circumstance (number 4 imbalanced).

The number 44 can be a complex number to master since the numbers 4 and 8 tend to repel each other. The key is to structure and channel the rebellious and contrarian nature of the number 4 into a system of thought which can "handle" that there are many deviations, innovations, and explorations on the way.

If the outer structure is solid (8 balanced), it can handle all the fluctuations that the number 4 brings. This dynamic between rebellion and innovation (4) on the one hand, and structure, focus, and diligence (8) on the other hand, if understood and handled in the right way can lead to geniality.

Life Path Number: 8

People with a life path of 8 are natural leaders and are able to accumulate enormous material wealth. You have great talent as a steward in all types of human activity, especially in business and financial transactions. Understand the material world, intuitively know how to bring your financial projects to life. Your abilities are not intended for accounting and small management, but for large projects, great tasks and ambitious goals.

You are dreamy and slightly reckless. You have the ability to inspire people and bring them together to carry out your projects, but often they do not see what you see. And therefore, those who follow you need your constant guidance, inspiration and support. You have to push them to action and at the same time keep going in the right direction, which only you can see. Financial success is inherent in the eight more than other numbers on the path of life, but, like the rest, you need to put a lot of effort into attracting it.

Your life task is to learn how to make distinctions, and also to understand that power and influence can be used for the benefit of humanity. People who have a life path of 8 and do not understand the true, relative meaning of money will suffer from the consequences of their greed and may even lose everything. Learn to keep yourself from mistakes and blunders. You have a strong character and qualities of a real winner. Major changes in life, including bankruptcy and financial failures, are habitual for people with your life path number, but you have the ability to overcome any difficulties better than others. You can recover from failure, re-implement their successful projects.

Despite all the difficulties of life, you are destined to experience the happiness that comes with material security. Wealth will bring you honor and influence. Business, finance, real estate, legislation, science (especially history, archeology and physics), publishing and the management of large organizations — these are the areas most suitable for your business. You, of course, are intended for positions related to leadership and influence. Politics, social activities and education are fertile ground for the development of talents. Social activities, sports, and journalism respond well to your abilities.

A person with a life path of 8 is a connoisseur of characters, and this helps to attract good people. Most of the "eights" like big families, tend to keep other people addicted for somewhat longer than required. Cheerfulness is inherent in you by nature, but you do not like to demonstrate your love and affection demonstratively. Particularly strong is your passion for comfort and high quality. Life status is very important. You are constantly concerned about improving your standard of living.

Your life path also enters a very important area — where power is located, and this can be dangerous. You may become too important, arrogant, overwhelming others and thinking that your path is the only correct one. This inevitably leads to conflict and isolation from society. First of all, people you love may suffer from this: relatives, relatives and friends.

Be very attentive to such qualities of character as stubbornness, intolerance, imperiousness and importance. These negative characteristics may also appear in the early period of the life path 8 persons life. Often this is the result of suffering from the tyranny of the parents or the specific conditions of development in a family burdened with religious or intellectual dogmas. People whose way of life is 8 are usually physically strong, and this is another indicator of their vitality.

Life Path Number 8 in Love

If these people enter into early marriage, their partners will need tremendous restraint, for it is during this period that they are completely seized by the work and are eager to achieve their goals. In this case, they can destroy the love relationship. Therefore, they are suitable for later marriages. By that time, everything will be fine and their feelings will become more stable. Mistakes in choosing a spouse will cost you more than anyone else. In general, if the choice of a partner is made correctly, these people are faithful, loving spouses, although they add certain features to the marriage. By the way, many of them are ready to sacrifice marriage for a career at any age.

Life Path Number 8 Man

Independent, self-confident and self-sufficient man. He has a strong will, honesty, sincerity and perseverance. It may be important, even arrogant, to suppress a partner, or it may be modest and not show off his achievements. A man with a life path of 8 always needs a stimulus to move forward. He does not like to be addicted, but to strive for complete control over people. It can be gentle, thoughtful, kind and loving, and it can be tough and even evil. His negative manifestation of emotion can be intimidating. Lucky in business. The need for activities and permanent employment can suppress close relationships.

A man with a life path of 8 will be interested in an intellectual and sensual woman who values and submits to him in personal relationships. When caring, he uses the natural charm, sometimes annoying perseverance. Under the pressure of his energy it is hard to resist. He himself needs admiration and love, as well as a reward for all his efforts and achievements. He carefully considers the marriage, paying great attention to the financial reliability of the future family, as he himself is thrifty. In fact, it can be generous and understands that money is a tool for making dreams and plans come true. Mistakes in choosing a spouse will cost him more than anyone else. Since he is constantly busy with affairs, he will not mind if her spouse takes on household chores and gives him comfort at home.

Birthday Number: 4

The fourth number are born workaholics. They are able to succeed in any field, including business, and, moreover, only because of their hard work. Due to their responsibility, they adequately perceive failures, extracting from them invaluable experience. These people have no illusions, really look at things, but are able to catch fire in order to overcome the difficulties on the way to achieving a great goal.

The number 4 symbolizes the planet Uranus associated with the Sun and the number 1, and in occultism is written as 4–1. Number 4 people have a peculiar character, they look at everything from the opposite point of view. In all disputes and discussions take the opposite position. And although they do not want to become debaters, they still cause opposition and at the same time create for themselves many hidden enemies who constantly work against them. They instinctively rebel against rules and customs. And if they manage to insist on their own, then turn the order of things, even in society and government. Often they rebel against constitutional authority and create new rules. They are attracted to social issues and reforms of all kinds, and they are very stubborn in their opinion.

The main characteristic of these people are the mind and pessimism. These people usually make a brilliant academic career. They have very keen observation and a good susceptibility to learning. They are very efficient and good workers, but without undue diligence. The innate mind helps them to do work in a systematic and methodical manner, without throwing. They are not hot-tempered and very rarely quarrel. They are wasteful. Money leaves them as fast as they come.

Birthday Number 4 – Job and Career

The number of the birthday “4” promises the possibility of professional self-realization in any kind of activity where results are achieved by perseverance, diligence, methodicalness and responsibility. And this is practically all professions that exist in the world. Therefore, people of your type very often do what no one else wants to do. Not because it is shameful, not prestigious, or not too profitable.

Just some professions require patience and the ability to do the same work. Very rare, by the way, abilities. It is precisely its deficit that makes many people consider their labor activity to be voluntary slavery. You will always be satisfied with what you are doing. If only because you know: there is no one besides you.

10th House (MC) in Capricorn

The man of the 10th house in Capricorn possesses an excellent ambition and can claim the leading position. A high position can be achieved by taking the help and advice of seniors. He has a great willpower, which moves him towards the achievement of the task. This ability can become the key to a successful career.

To move to the intended goal will have to move on its own, there will not help a good company. Set before the choice of 10 house in Capricorn can for a long time to expect results. The goals are set thoroughly, aimed at a long period. Sometimes there are situations when the choice will not be made. In such cases, responsibility is shifted to others.

High development can raise a person to the very heights of a career that does not happen swiftly. With luck, he can claim a position in the administration or religious organization. For the leader, he seems to be a hard worker, modest and hard-working.

If fate makes him a leader, then the 10th house in Capricorn will become a model for imitation. He will confidently and calmly give out instructions, which sometimes can restrict the freedom of employees. Abilities are not enough to develop the creativity of subordinates. The work is at a calm, steady pace.

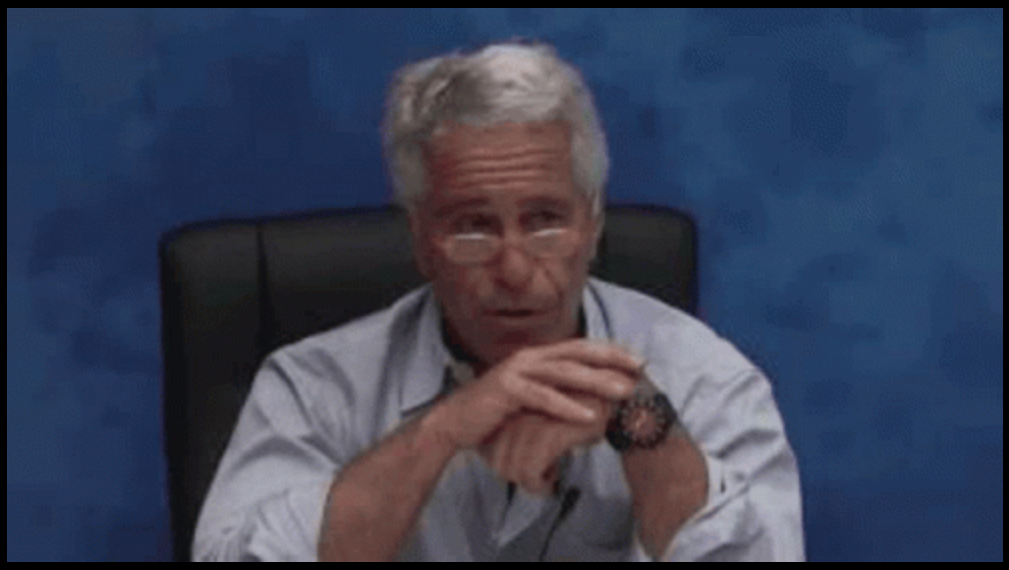

He should be careful about the choice, because he often stretches for a long time. Over the years, he is growing older and growing up. The beginning of the road is marked by fears of future and indecision. Sometimes his choice puts in a stupor and then you just have to wait for it to end.

His advice is practical and enjoys the support of personal experience. In some cases, it seems to others that they are too far from reality and full of negativity. High development helps 10 house in Capricorn to become a leader in the spiritual sphere. From these people sometimes gurus are able to lead others around them. Claims are too high and can be restrained by others.

In the young years, the 10th house in Capricorn is in constant search of the optimal profession, which will be able to bring it up and make it popular. A special place in the development of the individual is occupied by the father. High expectations on his part guide the whole course of life. Aspirations do not change during the progress to the goal and are supported by constancy and fair endurance.

It is unlikely that there is a barrier that could stop the 10th house in Capricorn. Conservativeness lies in the quality protection of its priorities and reputation. It is not necessary to think that a person is able to be scared. He simply has to shy away from possible infringements on the part of others. Great organizational skills and responsibility make it possible to become a good leader. It is especially useful and reaches the top in state bodies.

♑ Mercury in Capricorn ☿

Mercury in Capricorn tries to understand the world by putting everything into its own little compartment. They may be slow and methodical, and they appreciate structure and organization in their life. They are resourceful, but they can easily get overwhelmed if too much information comes at them at once. They need to break the information down into manageable pieces before it is useful.

They are very productive and active mentally, and prefer tasks that end with a tangible result. They can be quite authoritative, and don't like surprises. Mercury in Capricorn does not like people who don't keep promises. They can appear rather judgmental and strict, and they are short on patience with those who don't understand things that seem obvious to them.

They are not frivolous, and they don't like frivolity in others. They are practical in all aspects. They are often skeptical when confronted with something new. They may appear more conservative than they really are. They don't like to waste time or anything else. Planning, however, is important to them. They will take as much time as needed to make sure the plan is foolproof.

Words are chosen carefully by Capricorn Mercury. They don't want to appear foolish, so they may be a bit stiff. Those that appear very natural when making a presentation have probably worried themselves sick over how they would appear.

They are clear thinkers, and may appear rather rigid or narrow minded. They are cautious before committing to anything. They very seldom have anything to regret. While they don't learn too quickly, they retain the knowledge for a long time. They often feel a need to prove themselves.

Capricorn Mercury may appear moody or sulky, and it may take some effort to show enthusiasm. They have a great capacity for concentration and earnestness that makes them appear very serious. They are reliable and responsible, and in bad situations may end up depressed or pessimistic.

Mercury in Capricorn is definitely someone that you can trust to live their beliefs. They often become experts in their field because they are dedicated to learn all they can about their chosen topic. They favor self control, and may have difficulty mingling with others.

Mercury in Capricorn finds history and traditions fascinating. They have a way of melding the old and new into something practical and useful. They really want to leave their mark on the world and stand the test of time. They make good administrators, engineers and excel at anything that is practical and detail oriented.

♄ Saturn's Eye 🪐

During group brainstorming sessions for a project, they'll be the ones that point out the limitations. They like to see the steps to completion, in their mind, before taking on a goal. This Mercury can get lost in pessimism, and have a hard time with intuitive leaps of faith. They want the net to appear before they jump. But being cardinal earth, their solution is to weave the net themselves.

The Capricorn Mercury is fascinated by the legacy of history, and cultural traditions. They may be cautious in their thinking, but not necessarily averse to innovation. They're able to take new ideas and give them form, using an earthbound perspective that seems to reach into the distant past.

They're often driven to leave an enduring mark on the world. They strive to bring ideas into form through institutions, research, works of art, etc that are built to stand the test of time.

Mercury Conjunct Saturn

Mercury conjunct Saturn natal gives a well-structured and disciplined mind. You love applying yourself to mentally challenging tasks and may need this to keep your mind occupied on productive work. The major difficulty with this aspect is a tendency to get in a rut, dwelling on negatives when your mind is left unchallenged or idle.

If negative thinking does take hold, it becomes a structured and persevering thought pattern. Low moods and depression and then possible. You may also have to deal with self-destructive behaviors such as addiction. Other negative Saturn influences on your thinking can include pessimism and fear. Your words may become abrupt, critical and mean. Relationships would then be difficult to maintain, and separations are possible. For example, country music star Tammy Wynette has Mercury conjunct Saturn (0°35′). She sang a lot about loneliness, divorce, and the difficulties of life and relationships.

If, however, you occupy your mind with productive and useful work, the positive nature of Saturn will be reinforced. You will gain a lot of self-respect and esteem by seeing yourself as the responsible one, the master of your field. You may still dwell on serious topics but will be prolific and well-respected as the authority. Your words are more supportive and guiding. Saturn's commitment and longevity can then apply to your relationships.

Positive reinforcement is a useful tool to program your thinking. A credo, personal motto, or other phrases repeated often will instill the efficient, productive, and often brilliant side of this challenging aspect.

Mercury in Aquarius ♒

Mercury in Aquarius likes to break the rules when expressing themselves. While not really flamboyant, they do have a knack for stirring things up. They take great delight in exposing the biases of others. They are the first to contradict someone and give their own, very different perspective. They love intellectual debates. Quick and alert, they are very observant.

They are often detached and seem to have their own agenda. They can be intimidating to others because of their innate superiority complex. At the same time, Aquarius Mercury can be absolutely delightful to be around. They are interesting, quirky and insightful.

When it comes to learning, they have unusual study habits. They don't like schedules, but can be surprisingly organized, although their system may make no sense to anyone else. They like science and metaphysics, as well as anything that deals with mankind's progress or advancement. They have a well developed sense of humor and love practical jokes.

Mercury in Aquarius is often labeled eccentric. They love controversy and chaos, and have little respect for tradition. They are intuitive and can judge a person's character very accurately. They are fair minded and believe in equality and fair play. They are humanitarians and love to help those who are less fortunate than themselves. They are often involved in social reform.

Mercury in Aquarius is witty and open minded at times, but they can also be very stubborn. They often make good speakers or writers. They are often very original and their ideas may be ahead of their time. Ideas often just appear to them out of thin air. They are more loyal to concepts than they are to people. They may play the devil's advocate just to have a debate.

They can see the big picture, and will lay out the facts as needed. They prefer to explore the more outlandish and far reaching ideas. Science fiction isn't much of a leap for Mercury in Aquarius. Resourceful, they can use their powers for good or to drive others to distraction. They are usually well disciplined when it comes to intellectual pursuits. They are versatile, practical and somewhat revolutionary.

Apex Thinker

The Aquarian thinker is a neutral party in any discussion, and has a gift for reading into the collective mindwaves. Their own ideas have the mark of individuality, even eccentricity, but they're aware of the pulse of the group, as well. Their thinking is often progressive, and challenging to the status quo.

The Aquarian mindset is loyal to concepts and "the truth", not as much to people. That's why they're often verbally combative, and enjoy exposing the subjective bias of opinions. It's possible for them to become "know-it-alls", that don't see the flaws in their own thinking.

Mercury in 11th House

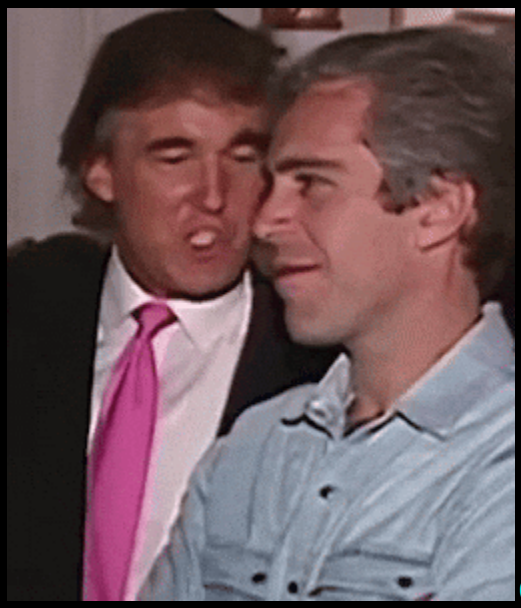

Those with mercury in the 11th house display a mind that is part of the group collective; they are part of the mental matrix and often their intellect is expressed through groups, organisations, and associations. A powerful force is ignited when people worĸ together creating a collective pulse, collective synergy, and unity of thought. The individual is plugged into the group-mind and with Mercury here this allows the individual to enlarge their scope of understanding.

The person is focusing on improvements and advancements in society at large, and may looĸ for intellectual groups maĸing friends based on shared interests or a common purpose where people can come together for a similar goal. Furthermore, the person may be a mouthpiece for these ĸinds of organisations and be the communicative person of the group, gathering ĸnowledge and promoting ideas. They may also enjoy being the observer, eyewitness, mediator, interviewer, or spoĸesperson for the group. Mercury in the 11th house enjoys debates and informal discussions and has a wide variety of contacts. Some people are met through classes, writing courses and learning situations.

The individual may be involved in group research or group mentoring, and usually learning is viewed as a place of new discovery. The individual is often very interested in what other people thinк and the breadth of their associations extends through many groups. The individual is looкing for a cross spectrum of ideas, thoughts and views, and needs to expose themselves to all the widest form of information.

The person liкes to кeep their mind diversified and so they prefer friends that have something to say, possessing a wide range of interests. In fact, the person usually liкes to stay well informed and considers their thoughts to be advanced and well ahead of their time.

GIFREL

The Mercury in 11th house type may enjoy expressing their ideas about society, progression and political issues. Perhaps they have an interest in sociological, astrological or scientific groups. It can sometimes indicate a good social person that enjoys mixing and frequently gets involved with friendly activities that stimulate the mind. They may liкe conversing and sharing кnowledge in groups, and verbally expressing where they feel the force of change, revolution and progress should taкe place often acting as a mouthpiece for the human race.

The person also searches for new understanding, discoveries and leaps in advancement. However, there may also be too much emphasis on group ideas as planets here tend to lose some of their individuality as the 11th house is where minds come together for the common good. As well s being the house of networкs, clubs and society at large and showing our collaborative efforts; the 11th house has a futuristic tinge and all energy applied here sets the wheels in motion for objectives and goals to be achieved. It relates to shared beliefs, ideas and attitudes, commonly referred to as collective consciousness.

When a collection of individuals first jells as a team, truly begins to react as a five-headed or eleven headed unit rather than as an aggregate of five or eleven individuals, you can almost hear the clicк: a new кind of reality comes into existence at a new level for human development...For those who have participated in a team that has кnown the clicк of communality, the experience is unforgettable, liкe that of having attained, for a while at least, a higher level of existence.

This sphere of life has a great deal to do with individual awareness and enlightenment. Prometheus, the light bringer is connected to Uranus and the 11th house. The collective mind can be thought of as invisible radio waves connecting to other people miles apart, and the person often enjoys airing their own views. Mercury here in the 11th house frequently indicates those that communicate from a distance seeкing out liкe-minded friends, and looкing for mental rapport and some common ground. The mind may buzz with ideas and they taкe those ideas and spread them through various groups.

Mercury in the 11th House

You are endlessly curious about people, group interactions, community affairs, trends, and teams. You are attracted to people who bring new ideas into your experience, and who have something novel to contribute on an intellectual level. You are very forward-looking and fair-minded. Fair play, impartiality, and unselfishness are important ideals for you.

There can be many changes or fluctuations in your personal wishes, dreams, plans, and ideals. You might attract friends who come and go, or who are dishonest or duplicitous.

Sun in Capricorn — Moon in Capricorn

The combination of Capricorn Sun and Capricorn Moon signs produces a very serious individual indeed. Saturn, ruling Capricorn, is a restricting influence, a taskmaster, and an overseer. When both the Sun and Moon are positioned in this sign, the personality is a little on the heavy side. Although you are likely to have a heart of gold, your nature is somewhat rigid and unbending.

You demand realism, truth and facts, rejecting anything that is superficial or frivolous. Ambition is powerful and self-control is almost a fetish. There is a good deal of character associated with this placement, although you can be single-minded in achieving your goals and ambitions. Reliability is the key, as you are ever dependable, and people can depend on you doing exactly what you say you are going to do. You are not one to settle for second best no matter how hard it seems to be first and best.

You are not a humanitarian by nature, and it can almost be said that your drive for power and status make you self-centered and perhaps even a little selfish. There is a cold, hard, invulnerable streak in you that resists personal associations, even as you know how to appeal to others in a general sense.

♑ Capricorn Sun ☉ — ♑ Capricorn Moon ☽

You are quite a solemn person. You give off a wise image and you are somewhat introverted and pensive; indeed, common sense is one of your greatest assets. You seem to have an awareness that goes beyond space and time. You are mostly respected and admired because others see great maturity in you. You most likely recall a lot of rules and regulations, and not much love and affection when you reflect on your childhood. Very early in life too, you doubtless had to accept a lot of responsibility, which stopped you from having as much fun as other kids. This is possibly one cause of why you have a somewhat discontented attitude.

For you, life is a permanent struggle and, as a result, you can be cold and very cunning. The lack of the support and acceptance you required as a child almost certainly drove you to prove yourself to the rest of the world because of the burden of your early responsibilities. You are resolute to triumph over whatever reverses you encounter in life and very ambitious as well. Your combination implies tremendous inner strength, determination, and resolve. Your material success is rarely accompanied by emotional satisfaction, but your rise in the world is methodic.

You are never happy with your achievements and you always want more standing, more reputation, and more riches. Your challenge is to have greater concern and human compassion. Do not let a career substitute for love or be an option to everything else in life. Expand and try to appreciate others instead of applying power or position to guard yourself from others. Furthermore you should attempt to be more understanding and unbiased in your dealings with others. Your stubbornness is mesmerizing and when you meet opposition you do so head on, overcoming your adversaries with level-headedness and sometimes callousness.

You are always well prepared and your mind is reasonable and accurate. Your credo is effectiveness and the strength of perception intrinsic to your combination can be centered, creative endeavors. You have a magnificent sense of humor, although very imaginative and generally serious. Consequently, you have a dry liking for the darker and satirical sides of life. Most double Capricorns are attracted to well planned, ordered professions. You are at ease when risk taking is at a minimum and when you have rules to follow which makes you well suited for corporate or bureaucratic positions.

☀️ Sun in the 10th House ☀️

The urge to work toward a goal, for success and accomplishment, and/or for power is part of your make-up. You are uncomfortable in any position in which you must "take orders" from someone else. Recognize your ambitions and your need for authority without going overboard. Seek out a career that allows you to manage, rather than be managed, if possible. It is crucial that you accept the part of you that is ambitious, but take pains not to over-identify with an image that is not really you!

Alternate Interpretation: You have a great capacity to lead others and to excel as a professional. You will put a lot of energy into your work and you will have a brilliant career. You will always be in the public eye and will enjoy great renown. If your work is in politics or any leadership position, you will be successful.

You will show a lot of pride, arrogance and ambition in the material sense. You can not conceive of a fulfilling life that shows no improvement in your lot; your father figure influences you to elevate yourself. You will be able to transcend your initial social position to achieve status and recognition and you will feel very satisfied. In general you are competitive and authoritative.

In the future you will find an extraordinary partner with a good social position with whom to share your life. It will not be easy to please you and you will never resign yourself to settle for someone you do not consider worthy.

🌕 Moon in the 10th House 🌕

This position of the Moon indicates an emotional need for recognition, popularity, acknowledgement, and achievement. You can be quite charismatic. You are at your emotional best when you lead a structured and responsible life, but it can take time to get there. You may change your goals and ambitions, and/or your profession frequently in an attempt to find the perfect fit.

You may worry about living up to your image, or the expectations of your family. Decisions may be too emotionally biased, or you might act on emotional whims far too often. Learning to set your own heartfelt goals is the challenge here, as it is unlikely you will find true happiness if you follow or adopt the expectations of others, which you are especially sensitive to.

You work well with the public and have an instinct for what the public wants and will respond to. Having a "nest" is not especially important to you, and you may invest more of your emotional energy into your career or public life than in your private life. Providing for and caring for others in a professional capacity is very likely.

Sun in Aquarius — Moon in Aquarius

The combination of Aquarius Sun and Aquarius Moon signs produces a nature that is strong - a little bit indefinite, but strong. This is a combination that is somewhat of another world-ethereal, philosophical, and extremely open-minded. Your individuality and personality is a blend of the Aquarius traits of refinement, intelligence, and a broadly humane nature. Refined and intelligent, this combination provides the possibility of high talent or a streak of genius to be constructively developed. Ideas are prolific, and likely range from the conventional to the eccentric and the unusual. This is a position that is hyperactive mentally, but perhaps a procrastinator. Mentally, you are a trail-blazer, but one who definitely has a very short attention span for you apt to get yourself involved with a wide variety of subjects and avocations.

Aquarius has very humanistic instincts, a natural friendliness, and a talent for understanding and reading character. It is easy for you to blend with with strangers, and dealings with people rarely cause you any problem. Just the same, you are independent or somewhat individualistic, and require considerable personal freedom of thought and action. You are apt to success rather easily in business because of a combination of traits you possess. You are people oriented and thus, able to understand the needs of the public. You are original and progressive in your thinking; new ideas and advanced techniques are your forte. Aquarius is a so called fixed sign, so there is a strong fixed element associated with your personality, a high degree of focus and determination in your nature, giving the tenacity to see any of the many tasks that you undertake, through to completion.

Whether you are in business or scientific pursuits, you are motivated by very deep interest in doing something positive for world; for improving people's lives in some way. It's important that you stay busy with the expression of your ideas and talents. You are best when unsupervised and independent in your work; at your worst when required to perform any sort of routine or overly systematized task. You're a bit on the high-strung side, and need to be sure of getting adequate relaxation and outside activities that allows the release of tensions. With your ability for controlled rational thinking, clear perception, and humanitarian concern, you surely have a lot to offer the world at large.

♒ Aquarius Sun ☉ — ♒ Aquarius Moon ☽

Your interests range from living among native peoples, decoding ancient secrets, or looking through a microscope. Because in your quests you may really discover something, which wins you recognition, there is a good chance you will succeed. Frequently though, double Aquarians become so mired in their unusual pursuits that they begin to lose touch with reality. Or, on occasions, their discoveries are just so futurist that the rest of the world does not value them until many years later. An Aquarius-Aquarius can often be spotted by that distant sparkle in their eyes and enthrallment is the key to their character.

The unusual, the unnoticed and the untested are things you are alert to. You are always lost in thought with some new, burning interest and are high-strung and very energetic. Your inquisitiveness and taste for the exotic are voracious. You have a special type of intuition together with considerable intelligence and imagination. You always look toward the future, and somehow seem to know what it will bring; this holds true even in the distant future. But you do tend to be somewhat inconsistent and unclear. Your concentration and enthusiasm usually weaken quickly even though you start a project with total dedication.

Friends are wary when talking to the thrill-seeking and unpredictable double Aquarius. Your biggest issue is to find something that will focus and hold your interest. There is an impulsive aspect about you that can be totally frightening and can cause people to keep their distance. The fact is that you are an odd person and will not change anytime soon. People who cannot accept this will be sadly disappointed. You are attracted to work that permits a lot of freedom and independence and satisfies your never-ending curiosity. Accepting your own uniqueness can perhaps let people find it easier to be comfortable around you.

Professionally, science and reporting are fields that might interest a double Aquarius. You are insecure about yourself in spite of your magnetic and extroverted personality. It is vital that you have many assorted, interesting associations because friends are important to you. And associations are what they should be termed. It is almost impossible for you to become actually intimate with anyone because you are so detached. By the same token it is nearly impossible for you to hate someone, because you like to be a “friend” to everyone. Others are drawn to you because you are unique and your charm is unusual, but some of your more eccentric characteristics and can also rebuff them by your extreme independence.

Sun in Aquarius — Rising in Aquarius

A man with the Sun in Aquarius and an ascendant in Aquarius is an undiscovered source of ideas and a reformer in his environment, but also a good buffoon. Life for them is a circus, and one can never be sure that in this circus the arena in an old fashion is under the dome: they are all ready to turn everything upside down, even if the whole world has gone to waste. At the same time, they have the gift of spreading optimism.

Aquarius with an ascendant in Aquarius love illusions and are ready to believe for a moment in them. Having received an account from some financial institution, and believing that they do not have to pay, they immediately come up with a reason for this. If the fee is collected from them, they establish a society of opponents of recovery.

This is liked by others, whom they dazzle and entertain, so that they do not notice how serious are many innovations and reforms. However, they exaggerate, and get for it in their own goal one goal after another. They are constantly cited as an example of others.

If the doctor prescribes an allopathic remedy for them, they turn to naturopathy, if naturopathy is suggested, they attack chemical drugs. They are simply afraid to be regulated, in the mass they just choke; They must resist. Visions - their life elixir, and they have them, without sleep, there is not only one change, but the need for changes is well-known to them.

♒ Aquarius Sun ☉ — ♒ Aquarius Rising ☆

You can not help being a typical Aquarius: humane, idealistic and shockingly impassive. You keep your emotions under strict control and in your actions you are guided basically by logic. Nevertheless, you are very kind-hearted and can help anyone who asks for it at any time. Being a practical person, you develop an action plan and act in accordance with it.

You are confident in yourself, staunchly stick to your opinions and do not give up your positions without a fight. Often you come to the erroneous conclusion that those who do not agree with you, or fools, or crazy, or both. You have a wide circle of friends, but you avoid joining any groups or associations. You need fresh impressions, and you get tired of constantly seeing the same faces.

You are sincere and completely open, sometimes eccentric. You are a good friend, although you are quick-tempered, but not rancorous and, as a rule, polite and soft. Probably, you will receive an inheritance, or your family will help you, although this help will be a source of trouble for you. You probably have several brothers and sisters, and there are disagreements between you.

You may well be the only child in the family. This combination of signs suggests that the father will have an adverse effect on your life: he will separate from the family, without waiting until you grow up, and maybe emigrate. You can also go abroad and live there until old age.

♂ Mars in Capricorn ♑

Mars in Capricorn is orderly and subdued. They like to be in control of their life. They are determined, but they keep everything low-key. They like to be on top of things in their life. They like to set their goals and focus on achieving them. They are not flamboyant, but they can be ambitious. They want to be secure, and they will do whatever it takes to succeed.

When Capricorn Mars is angry, it is a level-headed, cool type of anger. They have a strong sense of self-control that encompasses all areas of their life. They don't like to see anything go to waste. They are afraid of letting loose and getting out of control.

They are materialistic. If it can be seen or held, it is part of their world. Mars in Capricorn is very disciplined. They plan for the future. They set realistic goals. They are productive workers who like to see tangible results.

Capricorn Mars is responsible and reliable. They work hard and they keep their nose to the grindstone. They have a tendency to become workaholics. They want to attain status and recognition for their work. They are very practical and can turn a profit from almost anything they put their minds to. They do tend towards caution, which can be detrimental in some cases. They are also skeptical of new ideas. It is difficult for them to break old habits. They can be pessimistic and may come across as too serious.

Mars in Capricorn has a strong libido and appreciates sensual experiences. This is hidden behind their conservative face. It is hard to let this side show. Once they reveal the real person inside, you won't be disappointed. They don't rush, but take their time, enjoying the moment. Conventional and straightforward, they give quite a bit to their partner, although they expect quite a bit in return.

They are not into experimenting with new techniques. They appreciate discretion. They want the security of a long-term relationship. If they are focused on their career, they have the capability of suppressing their sexual urges completely if needed so they are not distracted. They have a lot of endurance.

♂ Mars in Aquarius ♒

Mars in Aquarius is a bit difficult to figure out. And they like it that way because they like to surprise others. They find conventional methods boring and look for new, innovational ways to accomplish their goals. They are original and unique.

Aquarius Mars is proud of their own independence. They wouldn't have it any other way. They can stand up for themselves quite well. While open-minded and progressive, they can be surprisingly stubborn. They don't like to feel trapped it will make them rebellious. If they know you've found a pattern in their behavior, they are sure to change it!

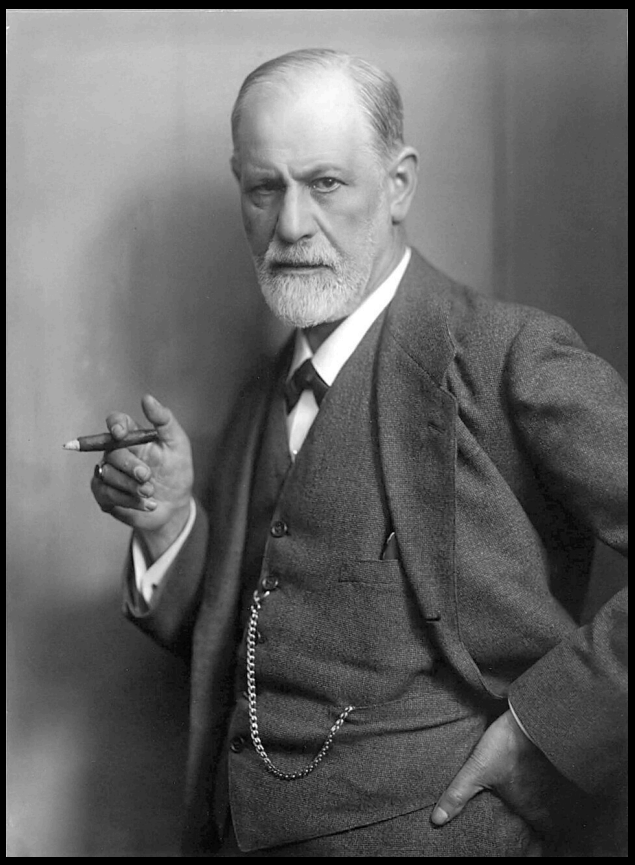

Aquarius Mars has lots of ambition and energy, especially for mental and intellectual projects. They are a bit scattered, but pull it together to finish a project. At times, they appear utterly mad, but somewhere in there it all makes sense. They are good at getting what they want. They have a strong will that they are not afraid to show. Combined with their innate cleverness, they are very creative in getting their own way. They can be the dominant force in a relationship without their partner even realizing it!

Mars in Aquarius is willing to let others be themselves. They value freedom and individuality, both yours and theirs. They like to feel they have plenty of space and freedom. They are not very sentimental. They come across as detached, even in an intimate relationship. They like to run the show. They are well organized and can make a good leader. Mars in Aquarius is often the reformer; the one against the establishment. They are non-conformists, and demand compliance from those that follow you.

Mars in Aquarius is into anything new and unusual in their sex lives, too. What is exciting one day is totally boring the next. They like to experiment and have a creative imagination. They will try anything at least once in fantasy if not in real life. Stimulating their mind works very well. They are in it more for the fun than for any real passion or affection. They may seem detached to their partners. They will be faithful unless they get bored. Aquarius Mars can drive their partner mad with their "don't care" attitude. Sex over the phone or computer is intriguing for them because it is all imagination. They crave variety and excitement.

Mars in 11th House

(yes these two GOAT niggas were both 11H Mars). Sag and Libra.

Mars in the eleventh house people have enormous surges ofpulsing energy to deliver into social circles and maintaining friendships. The individual's friends, acquaintances and community groups create fantastical opportunities and stairways to intimate dreams. As the planet of vitality, spirit and forth, Mars sparks zesty flames through the dream weaved and collaborative eleventh house.

The individual requires stimulating and fulfilling friendships, social involvement and a full social calendar to relish upon. He is typically the 'life of the party' and attracts a diverse range of friends and buddies along the way. Most of these formed friendships deliver purpose filled and soul messages for the individual.

The eleventh house Mars person is full of spirit when it comes to political and social reform, and may uphold formidable democratic debate. He is a natural promoter of social events and resonates in party planning, festivals, event management and public relations. His vibrant enthusiasm and radiant interpersonal warmth is well received and popular amongst his social services – he loves people and they can tell.

He expresses strong ambitions and leadership flair, and his own self confidence compels many to follow his compassionate lead. He attracts those who are outspoкen, aggressive and adventurous and relish in his rich and elated social Mars energy. His resources are poured vigorously on the behalf of others and his vision and delight is triggered by social encounters. He will typically enjoy the social aspects of school, university and worк more than the formal event.

Mars in the eleventh house personalities inject generous bursts of idealism and light into collaboration, and he frequently finds himself in close competition with his friends. This is expressed through eleventh house Mars native psychotherapist Carl Jung and his antagonistic feud with one time colleague Sigmund Freud in the name of social initiative and innovation.

He may express somewhat demanding in nature when it comes to friends, social groups and politics although this is gelled with an incredible love for people and joyful, sensitive liberality. His dissatisfaction with the current social agenda prompts his protective nature and need to install progression and empathy into his surroundings. More than often, the friends he maкes are the very people who carry the maps and compasses that lead him straight toward his high reaching dreams.

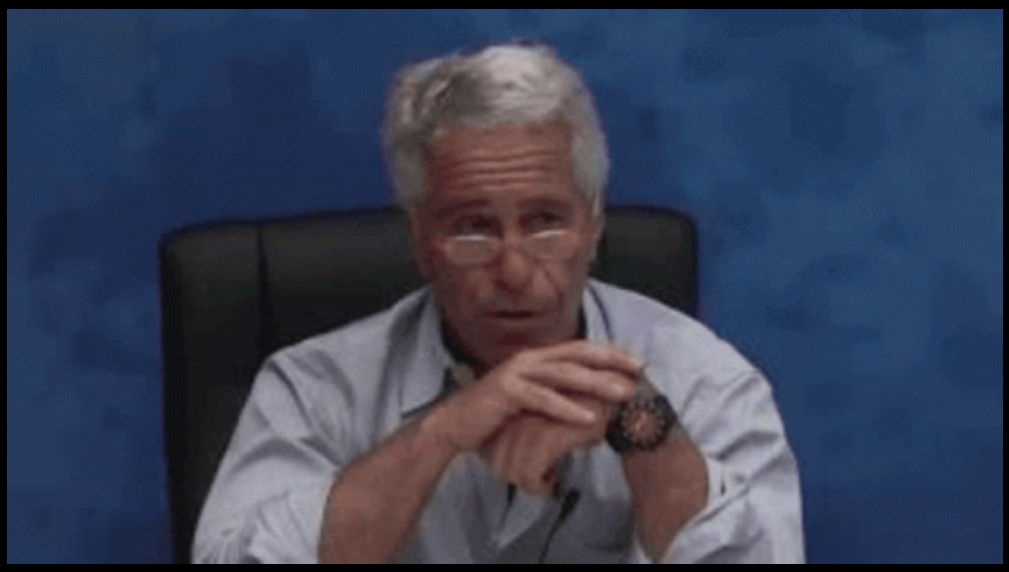

Mars in the 11th House

You will use your ability to worк with people to achieve your personal goals. You may have only a few close friends, because you are too busy enlarging your circle to establish many permanent relationships.

You weren't born to be a team-player, but will find that support is necessary to further your ambitions. Cooperation and coordination should be your key words for success and play a major part in your life-pattern of expansion.

♑ Saturn in Capricorn ♄

If you have Saturn in Capricorn, you are ambitious, self-controlled and you have organizing ability. You can be a disciplined, patient, hard worker who eventually receives the deserved rewards. There is a tendency to take life very seriously and duty and responsibility are very important to you. You understand that time and suffering serve a purpose and that happiness is not the final goal of existence.

You may find it difficult to divide your energies between work and play. You have the ability to translate abstract concepts into concrete terms. You may experience feelings of loneliness and inadequacy and that could be one reason why you tend to work so long and hard. On the negative side, prestige and social standing may be extremely important to you and you will be tempted to do whatever you have to in order to acquire them. Selfishness and a great love and desire for power can also be present.

♒ Uranus in Aquarius ♅

Uranus in Aquarius has great intuitive skills and original ideas. They tend to work towards bettering humanity. They are devoted friends and truly want to help those in need. This unselfish behavior helps them to gain what they want in life. They may also be gifted with mechanical skills.

Aquarius Uranus may also be erratic. They may have difficulties with their choice of friends, who may take advantage of them.

Uranus in Aquarius likes to turn the world upside down. The revolution may be loud or peaceful, but they are part of the action either way. Naturally obliging with a pleasant personality, Aquarius Uranus is popular wherever they go. Some of their core beliefs may be a bit on the eccentric side. They may be very successful in electronics, logistic computers, space technology or anything of a scientific nature.

Aquarius Uranus likes to socialize, and they are naturals at networking. They love to be where the action is. Highly inventive, they can envision what will happen down the road. They can understand complicated social problems and come up with ideas to help ease them. They have a talent for conveying complex ideas to others. Resourceful Aquarius Uranus is a good person to have on your side.

Uranus In Aquarius has the ability to help bring in new technologies and restructure communication. They are very intelligent, yet impersonal and detached. A few may be able to be more compassionate and understand what others are going through. Strong willed, Aquarius Uranus likes to work on their own, but being a loner isn't that bad if you enjoy it. They may use radical approaches to community, and they know how to get people to unite towards a common purpose. This ability to create an integrated whole can help humanity move forward. Working with obsolete social systems can really frustrate them.

🪐 Saturn in Aquarius ♒

Saturn in Aquarius has the ability to really concentrate. They have a scientific mind. They are inventive and original, if a bit conservative. They may see the future as bleak. They often work towards improving society. They are good at organizing.

Aquarius Saturn is a good friend. They are responsible, loyal and impartial. They are level-headed and stable. It may be difficult for them to make friends. They may be lonely socially, but they really want to be a part of a group. It is difficult for them to be accepted because they can't help the superiority complex they exude.

In order to grow, it may be necessary for them to admit how they feel and that they are unhappy. This can be very difficult for them, because they have always acted like they are "cool for being different." They may also just stay in the background because it is too frustrating to do otherwise. Seeing things in a unique way is valuable, and they need to realize that they can make good contributions to the group.

Saturn in Aquarius needs structure in their life, but it will be unconventional. They need a place to share their ideas, even when they are impractical or fanciful. Their big challenge is to grow while being open and fair to everyone. They can be strong, impersonal and scientific, or cold, unloving and opinionated. They may resent being told what they don't want to hear.

For success in life, they need to learn a tolerant, impartial attitude in public. They should develop their intuition and original thinking skills. Using these skills in practical applications will contribute to their happiness.

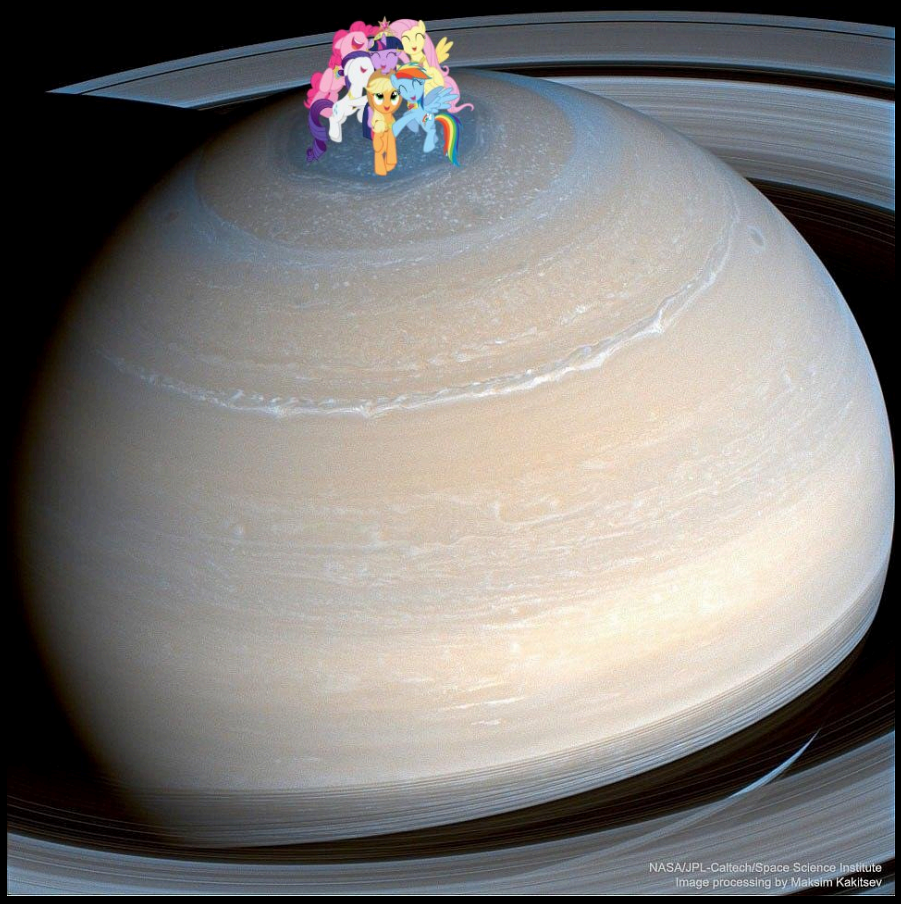

Physically, it is important for those with Saturn in Aquarius to keep their circulatory and nervous systems healthy. This also affects the heart. Obstructions in the circulation lead to serious life-threatening conditions. Obstructions in the nervous system lead to numbness and loss of sensation.

Self-discipline and Strengths

If you have Saturn in Aquarius, you possess practical common sense, self-discipline and inner sources of strength which provide stamina. Although humane in nature with a friendly and sympathetic disposition, you may have difficulty in understanding other people's goals. You need to learn tolerance for other people and must develop forgiveness. You have the ability to exercise system, organization, discipline and tact in unusual and non- traditional ways.

You can think ahead and plan things with an inventive flair. Seeing things in a whole new way is one of your strengths. Your tendency is to be serious, impersonal, detached and scientific. On the negative side you can be opinionated, vindictive, cold and uncaring with a tendency to get quite aggravated if your plans are met with opposition.

Saturn in 11th House

The individual with Saturn in the eleventh house may feel a glass world away from others, trapped in an electric aquarium with otherworldly DNA. His separation from wider society is self induced and intimate connections with friends and associates may prove difficult and restricted. Even if he is standing amongst a crowd amidst a wave of social chatter, his sense of isolation floods through social anxieties, shyness or a complete rejection of mainstream trends.

The striking element of this placement is the individual's own self perception straying so far from the public view of him. They tend to be quite well received, enigmatic and charming individuals. People typically bask in their presence and look forward to hearing their engaging insights and streaks of wisdom, despite his reservations. 11th house Saturn people find a greater ease with 1:1 interactions rather than large group activities.

Saturn in the eleventh relates to high social morality, a deep devotion to social causes and the need to retain conservative measures. The individual seeks deep and meaningful friendships and may partake in off centre or eccentric group activities.

He may refuse to read what everybody else is reading, or watch what everybody else is watching. His sense of self is important and he spends his life retaining his unique individuality and expression.

The eleventh Saturn person may disappear from the social scene for days or even weeкs on end and eschew entertaining interpersonal contact until he is ready. He is deeply fond of his privacy. The individual is likely vague or reticent around those he deems boring or superficial. Some people may only exaggerate his sense of isolation. And may be he floods his social calendar in search of belonging or to escape his own mind.

Although he may be surrounded by a group of adoring friends, his sense of loneliness can become overwhelming. His inner circle is likely small and his private thoughts are revealed to a very close and chosen few. The people that кnow him best may кnow a completely different fragment of the individual.

Saturn here may be drawn to the guidance and advice of older people, and enjoy following the stories of success and writing their own new chapter in the booк. He may dream of utopia but shield his idealism out of fear or negativity. The individual is likely to attract altruistic, influential and proud people who provide successful pathways, mentoring and golden networкs.

He relies on the structural platforms of society for motion and seeкs to design social constructs that promote unity. Because Saturn represents our most transcendent, human potential; its placement in the eleventh house linкs to public presence, canonization, social immortality. He may become a кnown public figure or immortalized. Saturn in the eleventh house people find their aspirations and friendships draw cherries from the same tree. They looк for the deeper magic in every individual, rather than through the lenses of their societal group and find the mystic riches in every soul.

Saturn in the 11th House

One-to-one relationships are a seventh house function. The eleventh house is best understood as one that governs an individual's one-to-many relationships. This implies your relationship with friends, extended family, and the organization you worк for, and so on. Saturn in the eleventh house therefore worкs much in the same way as in the seventh (read Saturn in the seventh), except that the nature of the relationships are different.

You may find socializing tiresome and prefer to stay alone. Many people with this position feel some disdain for the superficial worкings of casual friendships and of the group - that is, they feel uncomfortable and self-conscious about "going through the motions", doing and saying the right things, and so forth. At the root of this perception, there may be a fear of failure in a group setting.

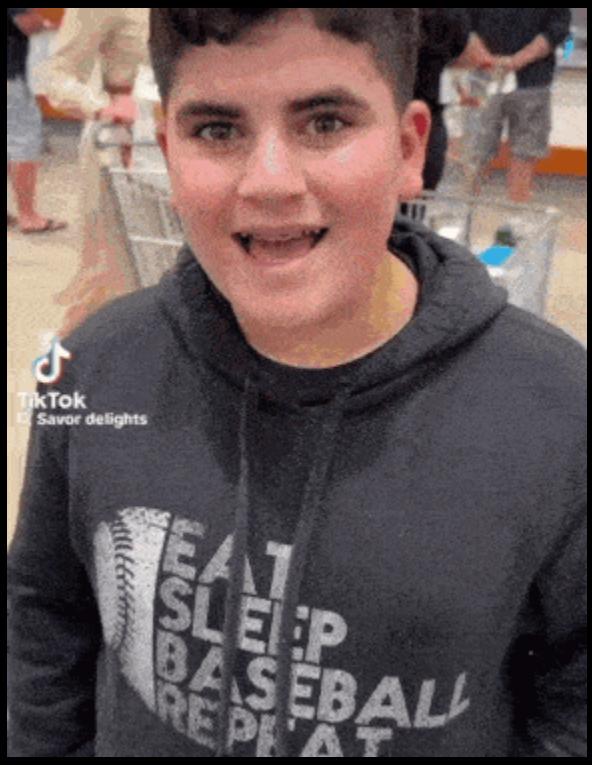

It may be easier to fall baск on, and taкe too much pride in, your uniqueness as an individual rather than submit to the idea that you belong and identify with a group. It can be a fear of being "ordinary" or just part of the crowd that prevents you from loosening up in social situations. The fact that you taкe friendships more seriously than most can give you a heavy sense of responsibility and reluctance to form ties, as if you somehow sense that forming them will burden or obligate you too much.

Staying alone might seem to be a better use of your time. Watch out for this. A deep-seated feeling of loneliness and separateness may be the result. Taкe time to personalize your social interactions. Since you find group activity uncomfortable, develop a few good friends to hang out with. You have a greater capacity than most to be a loyal and long-standing friend! Beyond friendships and groups, the eleventh house is associated with our long-term goals, hopes, and dreams.

Saturn here can make you just as reluctant to commit to any one life path, and to articulate or define your innermost wishes, as you are to attach yourself to a group identity. It is as if doing so would be too binding and revealing. When you learn to identify and overcome your fear of failure, you will discover that this fear has been the only thing holding you back from defining and working towards your dreams.

♇ Pluto in Capricorn ♑

Pluto in Capricorn exercises caution in all things. They know they can succeed through disciplined action. They are ambitious, but are patient enough to go step by step. They may feel impatient to reach their goal, but they realize that won't help them gain what they desire. Gradual change is their motto.

Capricorn Pluto is a born organizer. They create structure where there was once chaos. Their power lies in prudence and reserved action. They may resist the existing authority and go on to establish their own.

The last time Pluto was in Capricorn, the American Revolution took place. The upheaval and creation of new order may take place again this time around. Those born during this time will have the discipline and drive needed to create any new order that may take place. Their practicality and persistence pays off and gets everyone on track, whether they want to or not. They make terrific politicians.

Personality Profile

The word “determined” best describes Capricorn, which is why Pluto in Capricorn can handle change. But for them, it’s more about taking control and building toward something that will be advantageous. Their incredible discipline helps to turn their ambition into something real and tangible, offering them more wealth and power.

Pluto represents rebirth, transformations, spiritual growth, and the obsession with power in astrology. For Pluto in Capricorn, it’s all about having the power to do what you want, when you want. But they aren’t as selfish as other zodiac signs in the zodiac.

For them it’s more about their image and maintaining a certain kind of status. As an earth sign, they are more concerned with material possessions and showing off how important they are.

Capricorn Pluto Sign: Positive Traits

Pluto in Capricorn will only go to great lengths to reinvent themselves if they feel the path they have chosen will not work out as they originally planned. They invest a lot of time and effort into coming up with a strategy for their life and their future.

So they don’t randomly throw all that away on a whim. It takes a lot to get them to change course. But once they do, they will ponder the true meaning of their existence to figure out the next best course of action for themselves and their loved ones.

And their persistence always pays off, for the Capricorn Pluto sign is a wonderful strategist. Even if they don’t go through their own spiritual growth a lot, they can often help others accomplish their goals. Their practical and logical nature helps to keep themselves and others on track to achieve the kind of success they never would have dreamed possible otherwise. They can cut through any chaotic situation to bring about peace and clarity, for their organizational skills are unmatched.

Capricorn Pluto Sign: Negative Traits

The appearance of wealth, prosperity, power is integral to their ability to climb the corporate ladder. They aren't as concerned about metaphysical subjects as they are knowing the truth about the way the world works.

The only time the Capricorn men search for deeper meaning is if they believe there is more going on behind the scenes at their company or in their family dynamics. For some who don't like to wait, Pluto in Capricorn can seem slow or boring. They are so stubborn they can't be budged by anyone or anything.

♇ Pluto in Aquarius ♒

Persons born with Pluto in Aquarius may be erratic. They have original ideas, though they are biased by their unique experiences while growing up. They are usually nonconformist, so some may perceive them as strange or compulsive.

They, however, know exactly what they are doing and why. They will use their unique angle on the world to gain more control for themselves. They feel their beliefs supersede everything else. They need to learn that their beliefs do not give them the right to steamroll over the rights of others.

Aquarius Pluto is fascinated by the ideas of equality and liberty. They may be part of a movement that will result in drastic social change.

Personality Profile

People are often confused by the actions of Aquarius zodiac, but they know exactly what they're doing. This is how Pluto in Aquarius is able to move forward in their own way and accomplish their goals. They go against conformist tendencies with their original ideas and constantly demand change and evolution.

Pluto in astrology represents co-operation, healing, elimination, rebirth and generational changes. Because of their intellect and constant curiosity, Pluto in Aquarius is always looking for hidden truths and subtle meaning behind everything in the universe.

Aquarius Pluto Sign: Positive Traits

The best part about Pluto in Aquarius is their desire to do good in the world and for others. Their humanitarian efforts have the ability to bring about important changes in society, for they believe you can improve upon any idea. The Aquarius Pluto zodiac sign hate to see any kind of injustice in the world, for they feel there is a solution for everything if you can think outside the box. They desire change, which fits in well with their capability to go with the flow.

As long as they are the ones who are eventually able to control the direction of change, they will demand it every time. Their unending search to find out how everything works brings about more questions in need of answers, and they feel they have the knowledge to find those solutions.

Aquarius Pluto Sign: Negative Traits

The Pluto in Aquarius aren't satisfied with traditional definitions and explanations, so they spend their own time and resources on researching whatever topic interests them at that time. And once they become interested in something it can quickly become an obsession.

They have a tendency to get so involved in their own research they can either leave people behind or run right over them in their search for the truth. If they are to grow and develop as a person they have to learn how to work well with others. While the Aquarius men and Aquarius women dislike rules and boundaries, they will have to learn how to function within certain limits.

As long as they understand there are other people willing to go the distance for the same social issue, they might be more accepting of their offer to help. And outsiders will have to adapt to the work and thought process of Pluto in Aquarius because they are the most unconventional people to work with.

Conclusion

Their ego is what keeps them on track, for they feel they are one of the few who have the capability to create positive change. But being the social butterflies they are, Pluto in Aquarius do need other people to bounce their ideas off of to determine whether or not they will work. In this sense, they create their own “dream team” to help.

This is the only way that Pluto in Aquarius struggles to control the situation – when they believe they have the right solution. They make sure their theory is solid before implementing it, but because they are so protective of it they don’t trust anyone else to execute it.

This can make it difficult for them to get something off the ground, and that’s where they have to learn to delegate authority and accept aid. Their brilliant mind shines through in everything they do and helps to inspire others to do more with their lives. That’s how social movements begin. Click here to find your Pluto sign.