Top | Next | End

Hi Stink! It's just the two of us, I'm afraid. On the other hand, I have two of every power in the game.

Right. I've spoken to El, because that's overpowered. She's taking off the two soothes. You're going to die at some point, for your own win condition, but two riots lets me outvote four people, if none of them have their own vote manipulation powers. So I have two passive protects, two riots, and two lurches. There aren't any coinshots in the game (the PAFO in the thread refers only to my having all the powers (now duplicates of three of them), so I don't need to use them except when voting on you, and for WGGs.

Ooooh, I'm just a good ol Skybreaker. Who casually kills everyone lynching them before they die. How goes the holiday and all?

Being a Truthless Skybreaker will be great fun for you, I'm sure! Lots of potential to mess with the village.

The holiday has been fantastic. I spent a while in San Francisco at the beginning, have spent a few weeks with El in Monterey, and a week camping with her extended family in Big Sur. we're off to DC on Sunday, and then Utah on Friday. I then spend a few days in Sacramento before returning to civilisation.

How goes the work experience?

It's aight, just doing the work things and getting the work money. Don't think there's gonna be any camping involved at any point, sadly :P

They don't do camping properly here - it's a ludicrous exercise. I had a three person tent to myself and an air bed, and there were three eight man tents for two people each. Whatever happened to DofE, and character building camping in torrential rain? (It does not rain in California. :P)

I was just about to bring up DofE :P Gotta have like 1 man tents for 2 people for the true experience.

Absolutely. I did my Gold expedition in Snowdonia in the rain, sharing a two man tent with two rugby players. It was a far more formative experience than whatever El's family pretend qualifies as camping. At least you'd have been colder than if it was two football players. Ok that sentence looks wrong but you know what I mean.

You don't need the than, I think. Yes, I do.

We have a different word for what you call 'camping'. Our camping is civilised, thank you very much. :P

So, thoughts on the game? We have two real approaches with the Jester - we can keep both of us alive until the late game, and have a mislynch occur on you when we can't lose (I have double rioting), or we can try to get you mislynched earlier, and use your ability to take out players. I don't really mind which we go with, so whichever you think would be more fun.

I think that it'll be more fun to be in this doc for a while :P Despite my phone trying to sabotage my typing efforts. Surprised you got like a bit of everything though, I'm gonna cry out 'faviurtism' in exactly that spelling.

Shame you're in the worst timezone(s) though.

I'd definitely like to keep you around for a while. Much more entertaining that way.

The reason I'm Nale isn't favouritism, but necessity - I helped El come up with the game, and so knew that there'd be only a single eliminator, and a Skybreaker Truthless, which isn't really knowledge I could have had as a villager.

Don't ruin my cries of 'faviurtism' Orlok :P

Also you were meant to be asleep you fool.

My apologies, Stink. Sleep? Sleep is for the weak.

Ecth sent me a cryptic PM about receiving the same message that he got.

Would you copy his PM into here? El's happy for us to copy PMs into the eliminator doc.

Btw, the formatting for this doc is V impressive. Good job, El/Orlok/TheHybridThatIsBothOfYou.

Thanks. :P

El did the formatting. The lists at the bottom are a full player list, and then a player list with new players, players who have just returned from a long absence, and players who have died early in recent games removed.

The PM really is just what I said lol

'You wouldn't happen to have received a PM of the same nature as mine, would you?'

So yeah, cryptic PMs.

Interesting. Phishing?

Probably, and then he read my response and did nothing, which is just a rude thing to do :P

'Much scheming is occurring...'

Screw this vagueness. Gonna vote for him unless I'm given a reason not to in like the next 5 minutes.

Do so - I don't see the harm in it, nor why it would be seen as atypical for you.

Thoughts on D1 kill? Rae's very enthusiastic about this game, and it would be a real shame to kill her D1. Potentially Drake? He's active, and killing him won't be alignment indicative for anyone, so we'll get useless discussion from the village D2.

I mean I haven't really thought about the faction kill, but yeah that sounds great. I'd have like cleared Rae even if I was village, but it's a good thing that no-one really listens to me :)

Orlok when you do your big post about reads and all that please leave out your read for me until I say 'the classic etcetc' thing that honestly happens in every game no matter what.

I'm going to challenge your read of Rae, or at least the reasons for your read of Rae, as a heads up. The classic etcetc thing?

Always out of the reads list.

Very happy to do so.

Cycle 2

Top | Next | End

The PMs this game and schemes are actually out of hand even if I was a villager.

At this point I really hope Ecth is Truthless.

Why do I never get included in these things? >>

More likely that he's phishing for the Truthless, I'd have thought.

As a heads up, I rioted Flash, trying to keep Ecthelion alive. He's useful as a future lynch target, shouldn't die early again, and hopefully suspicion of my will focus on defending Ecthelion, which will dissipate when he's revealed as a villager.

I'm too annoyed at yitzi to post anyway.

What did he say?

The whole 'no you didn't talk about ecth and a weird pm'

Right. Suggestions for tonight's kill?

(Discussion in our Facebook chat, decision to kill Sart to avoid giving information to the village.

Consideration of removing a vote from Stink to slowly build suspicion, consensus to evaluate state of voting at the end of the cycle.)

Transcribed here:

Thoughts on tonight's kill?

I have no idea at the end of the day

Sart, potentially?

mhm that sounds good

Gives absolutely no useful information to the village, and doesn't kill someone new ,just returned, or someone with a recent early death.

Still awake? Thoughts on moving the vote from you onto PK or Stick?

Only if you can justify it on your end

It'd garner you some suspicion, but manageable. No one knows I'm a rioter.

If i can get loads of suspicion then I'd say its still alright. Youre the one that has to be lowkey.

Suspicion for you, building up over a number of cycles, might lead to a decent lynch.

I don't think it can be realistically traced back to me

I'll make a judgement towards the end of the cycle.

Aye you're the better player at this kind of stuff

Not too sure about that. :P Thoughts on how I'm doing? Any advice?

You realise that if we can get a five person lynch on you, we can kill seven players with it.

sure you're doing grand

I'm the one doing the dodgy plays but i can get away with it cause of rep

You're doing absolutely fine, definitely.

Cycle 3

Top | Next | End

Much FB chat, much to my shame of my honour of this doc.

More transcription (future readers are welcome):

I went with Megasif rather than Sart due to the suspicion of Sart emerging at the end of the cycle - it looks like he may well be a lynch target anyway.

Ah fair enough

Thoughts tonight's kill? Rae? Lopen?

Hm. Feel like now's a safe time to kill Rae

She ain't gonna do much more in terms of unhelpful thinking

Though she did help D1

Sure. I'll put in the order now. As before, I'll make the call on vote manipulation at 8:55pm.

Noice

WGG myself? Or wait, and do that after I'm lynched and revealed as a pewterarm.

no point in doing a WGG really

At some point people will question why I haven't been attacked.

tbh by the point they do it'll probably be too late

I can win when it gets to six villagers remaining. Currently 18 of them - if we can get you convincingly lynched, we can take out 6-8 players, depending on the size of the lynch. (Including the fact that I can riot two players onto the lynch.)

If I die, by the way, you can still win. You need to get it down to two villagers left, kill one, and make sure the other votes on you. If it's two left, and they're voting on one of them, kill the same player, so the two of you will be left, which means you get yourself lynched (through vote switching onto yourself at the end of the cycle - it would be an early morning for you), killing them, completing your own win condition, and completing ours, which is technically kill or outnumber all villagers. The village complete theirs simultaneously, but it's still a victory. And quote possibly the first game we've had where literally every player wins.

Might be worth going for

Cycle 4

Top | Next | End

I changed the order to Lopen, who is apparently a storming Elsecaller, or who was protected.

Uh, there's a fair bit to bring over from FB this cycle. I'm aware, and am planning on it later on. It's far too fun to lose to the depths of chat.

Also, pizza.

Thoughts on the kill?

What options are ya thinking of?

Don't think we should hit Lopen again. He's good with the both of us

Not planning on it. But now glad that his protection is gone. Bard points a finger at me, Rae wouldn't be too bad.

Bards doing all these big posts right. But they're all from like D1

Yes - paranoid of me. Doesn't know why. Bye!

So the value of those is underrated I feel. Tbh I'd be fine with a Rae kill. But I also dont really Could just kill DA

Either works. If we can get through three cycles, we're home safe. That would take it to 11 villagers left (12 if there's another pewterarm).

At that point we always have the option of lynching you, taking out another six (four votes is realistic for the lynch, +two riots), making it either 5 or 6 to 1, at which point I can win.

We don't have to do that immediately, but it's a nice safety net.

Ideally, we'd play until we're both in the last six. At which point we have a ceremonial lynch of you, and El then calls the game.

Ooh. Would this be a good turn for a WGG on me?

after they just talked about a WGG on Lopen? possible

Under the pretext that Lopen just asked asked for protection which makes me an excellent target choice or the eliminators.

yup

You need to post today to avoid the filter.

Thoughts on pointing out that I might be Truthless?

You know what I could do? Make a post saying that you claimed Truthless to me in PM. And that you probably claimed Truthless to others. To try and get your win con. Then one of those people is probably an elim. So that would explain why you're not dead. Because the elims would want to leverage the truthless Interesting. Why would I be trying to avoid a lynch, if I were Truthless? Ooh. Neutral win condition. I need to kill at least five players with my ability, hence wanting suspicion to build.

And you claimed to me because you guessed that I would help you win

Why are you now outing me, then? Perhaps wait a cycle? I'm not worried about being lynched this cycle, really. How late will you stay up?

Ooh. No. Stink. PM that to Lopen, rather than say it in thread.

Can't stay up that late tonight. Aight will do

Well, let's think this through first. When did I tell you? And why are you telling Lopen?

I could be saying it now, because I don't want you killing a bunch of villagers this early. Want you to do it on like the last cycle and get the last elim etc.

So I was wrong about you helping me, then. Sure. Do we go with neutral and five deaths at my hand then?

That sounds viable

Hmm. Should you out me, or explain it to Lopen, and ask him to help me?

Could always explain to Lopen, and if it gets worse in the thread then out
Rather than wanting me dead, you could propose that he joins you and helps me win late in the game?
Sure.
Mhm
I'm not too worried about it getting worse.
We'll say you claimed C1. That good with you?
Sure. But you're now worried that Lopen will lynch me at an inconvenient time. It explains why I've been playing in a non-villagery way - I've been trying to avoid the eliminator kill.
This is also good, because it'll make people suspicious of me instead of you. Someone's gonna ask 'What if stink is evil'.
Hmm. At some point, I could out you to Lopen for his help.
Should I go with my thing about you claiming to elims? And that's why you weren't attacked? Like you did figure them out, but didn't use it for the village. Just contacted them.
I figured one of them out, perhaps. What exactly would you say?
Just that I'm almost 100% sure you have found the elims and contacted them but roleclaimed and have a similar arrangement with them. So if we help Orlok more etc etc Sure. If Lopen then asks me one of them, I can out you.
Yup yup
And make it seem like I'm betraying the elims.
I took a picture of the PM but the PM and the pic are now gone
You sent him a PM?
Didn't send it. Draft got deleted.
Talk to Wilson - I had an entire thread disappear on me when merging it yesterday.
Right, sure. I'll be around for a while - no rush to redraft it. I'd offer to do it for you, but I can't mimic your writing.
Didn't send it thankfully. Wanted to check the facts with u
Sure.

"Sup Lopen, this is actually my second time writing this PM so yeah, it's prolly gonna sound really awkward to read.

Early on in the game, Orlok claimed that he was a neutral Truthless to me in a PM, and that he has to kill 5 people to win. As you can probably guess, I agreed to lynch him later on in the game

And when I say later on in the game, I mean when there's one elim left and that elim also gets killed by Orlok and the village and him win and it's all very nice.

However, I'm pretty sure that Orlok also actually did find out who the elims were, and contacted them to also bargain with them about either not being killed or getting him to be voted up.

Obviously, we can't really do anything about this lynch-wise, but I'm also pretty confident in our ability to make it so that Orlok can give us at least one elim.

It's a pretty simple plan really, we make suspicion of Orlok go down so that he's not gonna get lynched, and then say that we'll get him lynched if he gives us an elim.

You up for that?"

Could well work, yes. Let's run with it. It will be immense fun.

That's good to send then?

Go for it!

Sent now

Let's see what happens.

Heh. Either they don't believe me and lynch you, which is fine iirc, or they get paranoid and lynch me, then die.

They won't throw seven votes on me, particularly if they worry that there's a chance I'm Truthless.

Yup.

Much easier to test the theory by lynching you.

:)

You'd be a confirmed eliminator - what could possibly be dangerous about that?

Ye the Truthless is already found. Cause I reckon most people think there's only one.

Exactly.

Has Lopen read your PM yet?

Nope.

Right. Unlikely that he now will before you sleep, I think. Kill target for the day? WGG on you? Or one of Darkness, Bard, and Ecthelion?

No point in a WGG. Everyone's oddly scared to say they're actually suspicious of me

It supports your story to Lopen, and then my claim that you're evil.

maybe later?

Sure.

I feel like nows a good time to kill someone suspicious of eternum Preference as to DA, Bard or Ecthelion? Oh ok, sure. Why's that?

but not someone thats pulled out the 'he could be new elim' because most people sus of eternum also wanna tie more links, ya know?

Ah - of Eternum. Not like Eternum.

So we do something that most people think a newb elim would do and they'll all be like 'wow more confirmation'

I'll look through it tonight, then.

mhm

Vote count up above.

Yes but i cant exactly say that in thread can i and im reacting based on what reply is gonna be. So ya, its not the vote count that counts. :P

You can't, no. :P

i reckon id be able to get away with it

Probably. :P

aight. im thinking of voting for len but obvs he could be truthless so you could manip me off him or something?

Sounds good. Although I highly doubt that there are multiple truthless.

Mhm.

Thread is v chaotic right now. Whats our game plan voted for len

Will be online in 10 minutes. Quick summary?

len claimed that he has a second life so doesnt care if he gets lynched

He's clearly lying.

mhm

Three village elsecallers is highly unlikely, and I very much don't think we have a lightweaver. I don't think there are two truthless. Broken against the village far too far, and a village Truthless makes no sense.

its still worth vote manipping if there's a big enough majority imo

Definitely. I wouldn't mind Elenion dying, though - he's suspicious of me, and will eventually work out how to articulate it.

Well we can already account for one vote manip. And is Arin the only one left?

I believe so, yes. I have a second riot which I'm not using - I'll keep it and surprise the village if they try to lynch me.

Yup

Cycle 5

Top | Next | End

"Hmm. Sounds good to me I think. The only thing wrong with this plan is if you and him are elims together, but I actually kinda trust you." Lopen responded.

So Lopen is on board. It's wroth redirecting votes onto Sart off Lopen rn

He hasn't contacted me, which is interesting. What would you suggest from here? Just use Lopen's support to win, or arrange to bus you?

No need to bus rn

We use it as a Last Resort. I'll PM him saying that you suspect I told him about you because he let you go so easily?

Sure. I'm not terribly worried about Lopen ending up lynched, but can definitely use a riot to help. I'm keeping my second riot unused, both to test whether or not it's actually necessary, and so that the village don't stack seven votes on me - the Truthless should scare them enough to be below that. Give me a few minutes to work out what I'd think.

Aight. It ain't that important anyway. The village are just helping us

So Lopen agreed to help, right? Why would you not just tell me straight out?

I probably would. So I tell you and you contact Lopen?

That sounds reasonable to me. Paraphrase what you told him and his response, so I have something very slightly off to run with?

So I told you in a PM that I've told Lopen about you and that you won't be lynched unless we get an elim from you

So the condition of my being lynched is that I give up an eliminator.

Yes

Excellent.

I'm slightly surprised that you want to avoid busing, now - if we pulled it off, it would end with a large bandwagon on you, ending the game this turn, but am happy not to do so. Clearly it wouldn't be a "Hey Lopen! Stink is evil", but I can see paths of the conversation where it works - my wanting to win with the village not eliminators, for example.

O

It can end the game this cycle?

There's a problem with it tho where most people are sus of you or Lopen, so if the two of you do something they'll say the both of you are working together and evil

Twelve active villagers. If we get at least five on the lynch, it's game over.

People are suspicious of Lopen or myself.

Sure let's do it

But Lopen could either out me, and say I gave Stink up, or just say that he's very certain that you're an eliminator.

I know you're an eliminator through your having admitted it to me, right? I called out on it, and you admitted it, but won't give up your team.

Yes. You figured out the elims but used it to help yourself as neutral by making a bargain. And by elims I mean me.

I can easily argue that I'm not prepared to give up their whole team - I don't think that would be in the spirit of the game.

Yup. But you'll give me up cause I was scheming or giving you away or something

I know that you'll take it well enough - we're friends out of the game. And I think the village need a boost - the eliminators won't help me win ultimately - they won't kill me, but they won't provide five votes on me at the end, clearly. The village have the numbers to do so, if they're winning.

Mhm

Lopen hasn't seen my PM with him yet. Looks like another two villagers will go this cycle, taking it to 10 active villagers, and 1 inactive. With two of us, we can outvote 5, and tie with six. I'm not really worried more.

Oh - and two more at risk of inactivity.

Ye

We don't really need to do anything. Just bored.

Yep. Hopefully Lopen will come online soon, and make things interesting.

they dont wanna vote me even tho im super suspicious

Apparently so...

Cycle 6

Top | Next | End

PMd with Lopen, he's on board. Trying to get him to realise that his optimum move is to out me as a Truthless without him realising that that's what I'm doing.

Mhm

Got some votes on me which is always good

One more vote and we win.
