

Round 2

Peace Before Chaos

IN THE EYE OF A HURRICANE

THERE IS QUIET

As nightfall arrives, a loyalist hunter comes upon them like a lion hunting his prey. (Clayton) Upon discovering the group, he procures another sleeping potion and throws it at them saying in a menacing tone, "Elias will be pleased." Suddenly, a cloud appears around the rebels. They can't see two feet in front of them. They decide to flee at the risk of being captured. When they finally make it out of the woods, they realize that Adelaide and Soren are missing, and must have been caught by the hunter. They have no choice but to move on.

After a while, they arrive at a mansion of sorts. Maverick goes for the key under the mat, but as he kneels down, the door opens. A redheaded fae stands there in glee that she sees faces that she recognizes. "There you guys are!" A moment passes while she scans a few more faces. "Who are you?" she asks gleefully. Maverick looks stunned. "Peanut?! What the hell are you doing here?" Peanut straightens herself and says proudly, "I live here now," Maverick is shook. "Since when?!" The bear behind her gruffs. "Five hours ago." Amira looks about the forest, showing a slight concern before turning to the rest of the party. "You all go ahead, I'll come in a bit. I wish to check that we and the dwellers of the forest are safe."

"Welcome to Mi Casa. That's fae for 'my mushroom.'" Behind her, Bedwyr says in a deadpan tone, "No it isn't."

After a bit more of confused conversation, they take the rest of the night to recuperate. Contestants can use this time to plot among themselves or with judges.

The next day, Clara reveals something to the others. "The night I heard of the rebellion, and that... you all were arrested, I went into Elias's chambers and found this. It looks like he's planning an attack on the Ferrus and Fae village. Ferrus tonight, and Fae tomorrow." She gives them to Jacob. They go over several documents in a journal. There's references to something that Elias wants to free, and also the planned attacks information. Amira shows an interest in some of the references "I've heard some of the elders of the forest speak of these before but they wouldn't tell me what they were for my own safety." "We can't let him do this."

Ezekiel says. Emil might provide information on the attacks. The group, now fugitives, decide to go to the Ferrus village to warn them of his plans. Bruno speaks up after a few moments, “There’s no way you’ll get there by nightfall. Unless... You go my way.”

A few seconds later, A man dressed as a prince walks in...

REQUIREMENTS:

- Must show 2 others disappearance
- Arriving at the Prince’s house
- The plan documents
- The prince’s entrance

DEADLINE : December 5th, 2022 (Extensions available)

ADDITIONAL NOTES:

- Anyone wanting to plot with judges can privately message them via discord.
- Amira from now on will be in her pink dress (Make it a little easier for y'all)
- You can decide amongst yourselves if anyone amongst the group has any useful information should you wish.
- Above all else, remember to have fun! Take breaks, stay healthy, and stay hydrated!

