Red implies proposed removals and green implies proposed additions:

The following proposed change regards the duties of the Public Relations Officer and the Webmaster. Responsibility for developing content for the Society's social media accounts will move from the Webmaster to the Public Relations Officer. This groups social media content with the PRO's existing publicity responsibilities, while the Webmaster retains responsibility for the Society's website.

E. In addition to the duties of all Committee members the Public Relations Officer shall:

i. Organise and oversee the design, printing and distribution of all of the Society's printed materials, including but not limited to posters, membership cards and leaflets.

ii. Be responsible for the photography and videography of Society events where such are required.

iii. Be responsible for the content development on the Society's social media accounts.

F. In addition to the duties of all Committee members the Webmaster shall:

i. Be responsible for maintenance, usage and content development on the Society's website. ~~and social media accounts.~~

The following proposed change regards the addition of an Irish Language Officer. The aim is to have such a role to support the development of a computer science community in Irish as well as English.

L. In addition to the duties of all Committee members, the Irish Language Officer shall:

i. Promote the Irish language within the Society, including organising Irish-language activities and supporting the Public Relations Officer with Irish-language publicity materials.
