II. The following paragraph has 10 mistakes. Identify the mistakes in the lines and correct them. Write your answer in the space provided.

COMMUNICATION

Managers spend most of their free time communicating - reading, writing, talking or listening. Yet the evidence is they do not always do this successfully. One reason that has been suggested for this is that, in the past, communication was regarded like a natural process, not taught in any formal sense. This theory has been changing, and the concept in communication as an "art" now appears regularly in management courses and seminars. Communication is probably one of the least appreciated aspect of management, and more and more organisations are realising that effective communication involves to tell staff why things are happening. This not only helps day - to - day working but allows changes to be introducing more smoothly, and sometimes leads to improvements being mentioned by staff. Both the morale and efficiency of an organisation depends to a great extent on the abilities of its staff to communicate effectively. Communication is not something which should be undertaken only when trouble occurs. I should be a daily habit if the organisation is to run smoothly and avoid difficulties and, of course, it should be the two - way process, involving listening as well as talking. Regular exchanges of ideas between managers and staff will help to create a good teamwork.

WEDDING OF STRANGERS

A wedding between two strangers who met for the first time when they exchanged marital vows during a peak time radio broadcast has come in for widespread (1)..... (critic). Carla Germaine and Greg Cordell were married after winning each other in a 'lonely heart' competition organized by BRMB radio station. The service, perhaps (2)..... (surprise), attracted the highest ratings figures of the year.

The model and salesman were (3)..... (dismiss) of their critics and say they have made a serious (4)..... (commit) to make their marriage work. 'Everyone seems to have the (5)..... (expect) that we will split up, but we're going to prove them wrong,' Cordell said (6)..... (defy).

The couple were selected from 200 (7)..... (hope) candidates by a panel including (8)..... (relate) counsellors and an astrologer. As well as each other, they won a free honeymoon in the Bahamas, a sports car and a luxury two bedroom apartment.

ANIMALS

Most cat and dog owners would swear their pet was virtually human. It's pleased to see you and shows its disapproval when they go. It may not be particularly (9)..... (talk) or a genius mathematics but it sees grass as green and inhabits as rich world of smells (10)..... (imagine) to us. Until recently such notions of a pet's inner life, with (11)..... (similar) to our own in some ways would have been met with a (12)..... (know) sneer in many respected (13)..... (science) circles. Nowadays in fact, claiming (14)..... (conscious) for your pets is commonplace. The problem now is providing an adequate (15)..... (define) of what this actually means. Is it about having sensations like hunger and pain, or is it more about the ability to be aware that you are experiencing something?

SECTION C – READINGI. Read the following passage, and then choose the best answer from A, B, C, D.

Printers use the term broadside to refer to a large piece of paper printed on one side. In military language, it means an attack with all one's forces. Dudley Randall invoked both these senses of the word when he established the Broadside Press in 1965. Randall was a librarian and poet in Detroit when he began the Press with his personal savings as a way to copyright the words to his ballad about a 1963 racial incident in which Whites killed three Black children. The poem was printed as a broadside.

"By creating the Broadside Press, the most successful poetry institution in the history of African American literature. Randall created something that had previously not existed in the United States - an organization that would publish the works of Black poets," explains Professor Melba Boyd, a poet and former Press editor. Historically, work by Black poets had been criticized for emphasizing political issues and not using the traditional poetic forms of the White literary establishment. Thus, Black poets had found it difficult to get published.

Boyd is producing a film documentary that will present Randall's biography as well as his poetry. Randall served as general editor of the Press from 1965 to 1977. In the mid-seventies sky-rocketing printing costs and the closing of many small bookstores to whom he had extended credit left the Press in financial straits. Randall then sold the Press and slumped into a depression, but in the 1980's, he revived community support for the Press through the Broadside Poets Theater. Boyd hopes her documentary on Randall will introduce more people to African American literature.
