History of the Policy and Procedures Manual

Beginning in the fall of 2020, the Governance and Nominations committee, led by Immediate Past-President Lauren Cook, began the arduous effort of revising the WACAC bylaws. This initiative was begun after recommendations from NACAC upon the conclusion of the Department of Justice investigation. In light of the streamlined NACAC and State of California compliant bylaws, the more prescriptive portions of previous bylaws were moved to a separate document, the Policies and Procedures Manual (PPM).

While the bylaws are designed to be evergreen and to require minimal alterations and amendments, the PPM is in fact organic and designed to be changed as the association, Executive Board and profession itself changes.

This document will be reviewed and updated annually every summer during the Annual Board Retreat.

Statement On Board Membership and Remote Work Policy

The WACAC Executive Board is composed of counseling and enrollment professionals from California and Nevada who work in non-profit settings and who hold voting membership in the Association. Board members are both elected from the WACAC membership at large as well as appointed by their peers for contributions to the profession and specific skills they will contribute to their board roles and responsibilities.

WACAC Executive Board members are expected to physically reside within California or Nevada, regardless of whether their work is remote or on-premise. Exceptions may be granted for board members whose situation have changed, such as relocating outside of California or Nevada or membership status changes from a voting to non-voting category. Exceptions will only be considered and granted by the Presidential Trio. The decision will be based on the committee's needs, the individual's ability to maintain WACAC membership, and how well they might fulfill the expectations of being an Executive Board member.

All employees maintain remote work status, regardless of residence within California, Nevada or another state.

Technology Use Policy

All WACAC Executive Board Members and employees are expected to follow the approved Technology Use Policy.

Google

WACAC employees and volunteer Executive Board members agree to use Google Drive for all association files (i.e. documents, spreadsheets, powerpoints, etc.) and shall utilize the WACAC emails associated with @wacac.org. Each Committee Chair should contact the Managing Director if access is required. Chairs may set their own passwords and may forward their WACAC email to their personal/work account. However, they are encouraged to login to their WACAC account to respond.

All recovery information for said emails should be listed as wacacadmin@wacac.org and 818.541.9296 (WACAC Office).

ZOOM

Zoom is used to conduct Virtual Meetings, including but not limited to Executive Board and Oversight Committee meetings on behalf of the Association. Contact the Office for login credentials.

SLACK

Slack can help for quick answers, collaboration, and working on projects. Use Slack for internal teams and ongoing projects, but use email to summarize and provide historical context for the next board.

Hardware

WACAC shall provide its employees with a computer workstation as outlined in their most recent contracts. It shall be the intention of WACAC to refresh these workstations every 3-4 years. It shall be the responsibility of the employee to alert the current WACAC President when it is time for a refresh of technology.
