APPENDIX A: THE ROLE OF SUBCOMMITTEES IN ENHANCING LEADERSHIP AND EFFECTIVENESS

Each of the E-Board roles in the Chapter has its unique responsibilities and areas of focus, and any of them could potentially justify creating a subcommittee to enhance the Chapter's structure and capacity. However, some roles may lend themselves more naturally to creating subcommittees than others based on the breadth and complexity of their duties. Here's an analysis of each role and its potential for creating subcommittees:

- Service Learning Trip Director
  - Service Learning Trip subcommittee
- Expansion Director
  - Public Relations subcommittee - Pre-med club relations and Faculty/academic departments newsletters, mass emails, school newspaper.
  - On-campus recruitment subcommittee - Class visit, flyering, coffee hours, and other activities.

  - Education and Training subcommittee - Researches and presents topics on Medicine, International Development, Public Health, nursing, education or others during General Body Meetings and facilitates discussions. Facilitate medical shadowing and mentorship programs with healthcare professionals, host workshops and seminars on medical school applications, MCAT preparation, career paths in medicine and public health, guest lectures, and panel discussions on current public health issues and careers.
  - Community service subcommittee - Finds opportunities in the community for the Chapter to give back locally and keep students engaged throughout the semester.
  - Team Bonding subcommittee - Organizes fun and engaging activities for all the chapters during GBM or outside of GBMs. These activities create a sense of community amongst members and help create new friendships.

- Membership & Points Director (Secretary)

For a Chapter encompassing a broad spectrum of interests such as premedical students, nursing, pre dental, engineering, women's health, and public health, specialized subcommittees can enhance the organization's reach and impact by catering to these diverse areas. Here are suggested subcommittees tailored to these fields:

- Vice President for Smiles Movement (Dental)
  - Pre dental and Oral Health Director - Organize dental volunteering opportunities through MEDLIFE Service Learning Trips and Smiles Movement with the vice-president, coordinate dental health camps and fluoride application drives, and host informational sessions on dental school admissions and careers in dentistry.
  - Dental Expansion Director - Dental club relations and Faculty/academic departments newsletters, mass emails, school newspaper, class visits, flyering, coffee hours, and other activities.
- Vice President for Safe Homes Movement (Engineering)
  - Engineering solutions for Health Director - Organize community development volunteering opportunities through MEDLIFE Service Learning Trips and Safe Homes Movement in coordination with the vice-president, collaborate with local communities and partners to assess needs and develop engineering solutions, organize workshops on biomedical engineering, environmental health engineering, and other relevant topics.
  - Engineering Expansion Director - Engineering clubs relations and Faculty/academic departments newsletters, mass emails, school newspaper, Class visits, flyering, coffee hours, and other activities.
- Vice President for Nursing Community
  - Nursing and Community Health Director - Organize nursing volunteering opportunities through MEDLIFE Service Learning Trips with the vice-president, develop and implement community health screenings and education sessions, and organize nursing-specific workshops and guest lectures on global health nursing.
  - Nursing Expansion Director - Nursing club relations and Faculty/academic departments newsletters, mass emails, school newspaper, class visits, flyering, coffee hours, and other activities.

Each subcommittee should have leadership roles (chair/co-chair) and be responsible for coordination with the executive board. This ensures that the subcommittees' activities align with the organization's overall goals and that there is effective communication between all groups. Regular meetings between subcommittee leaders and the main leadership team can help synchronize efforts, share resources, and enhance the organization's overall impact.
