

Zo-Kalar

(from <http://yog-blogsouth.blogspot.com/2014/06/zo-kalar.html>.)

"On the ground were halls as vast and splendid as those of the palaces; where gathered throngs in worship of Zo-Kalar and Tamash and Lobon, the chief gods of Sarnath, whose incense-enveloped shrines were as the thrones of monarchs. Not like the eikons of other gods were those of Zo-Kalar and Tamash and Lobon, for so close to life were they that one might swear the graceful bearded gods themselves sat on the ivory thrones."

H.P. Lovecraft, The Doom That Came To Sarnath

