

TITLE OF THE PAPER: CONCISE, INFORMATIVE, AND IN TITLE CASE

First Author^{1*}, Second Author², and Third Author³

¹Department, Faculty, University/Institution, City, Country

²Department, Faculty, University/Institution, City, Country

Corresponding author: email@institution.ac.id*

AUTHOR NOTE

Replace all instructional text and placeholders before submission. Manuscripts must be written in English, use this template, and contain approximately 3,000-6,000 words, including tables, figures, and references.

Abstract

Write one paragraph of 150-250 words. Briefly state the background, objective, method, principal findings, and conclusion. Do not include citations, tables, figures, or undefined abbreviations.

[Insert the abstract here.]

Keywords: keyword 1; keyword 2; keyword 3; keyword 4; keyword 5

1. Introduction

Explain the research background, current problem, relevant literature, research gap, originality, objective, and contribution. End with a clear statement of the research objective or questions. Use APA 7th edition in-text citations, for example: Smith (2025) or (Smith & Lee, 2025).

[Write the manuscript text here.]

2. Literature Review and/or Conceptual Framework

Synthesize relevant theories and empirical findings. Develop hypotheses or propositions when applicable. This section may be integrated into the Introduction if preferred.

2.1 Subsection Heading

[Write the manuscript text here.]

2.2 Hypotheses or Propositions (if applicable)

[State and justify the hypotheses or propositions here.]

3. Research Method

Describe the research design, setting, participants/sample, variables or constructs, instruments, data sources, procedures, analytical techniques, and ethical considerations in sufficient detail for replication.

3.1 Research Design and Data

[Write the manuscript text here.]

3.2 Measurement or Instruments

[Write the manuscript text here.]

3.3 Data Analysis

[Write the manuscript text here.]

3.4 Ethical Considerations

[Write the manuscript text here.]

4. Results

Present findings clearly and objectively. Report relevant descriptive and inferential statistics, qualitative themes, or other evidence. Do not duplicate the same information in both a table and a figure.

[Write the manuscript text here.]

Table 1. Example of a Table Title

Variable	Mean	SD	Range
Variable A	0.00	0.00	0.00-0.00
Variable B	0.00	0.00	0.00-0.00
Variable C	0.00	0.00	0.00-0.00

Note. Explain abbreviations, statistical significance, and sources below the table. Tables must be editable, numbered consecutively, and cited in the text.

Figure 1. Example of a Figure Title

[INSERT HIGH-RESOLUTION FIGURE HERE]

Note. Use clear labels and ensure that the figure remains legible in grayscale. Cite the figure in the text and provide the source when it is not original.

5. Discussion

Interpret the findings in relation to the research objective, theory, and prior studies. Explain contributions, unexpected results, practical implications, and limitations without repeating the Results section.

[Write the manuscript text here.]

5.1 Theoretical Implications

[Write the manuscript text here.]

5.2 Practical or Policy Implications

[Write the manuscript text here.]

6. Conclusion

Provide a concise answer to the research objective, summarize the main contribution, and offer justified recommendations or directions for future research. Do not introduce new results or citations unless essential.

[Write the manuscript text here.]

Acknowledgements

Optional. Acknowledge non-author contributions, institutional support, or technical assistance.

[Insert acknowledgements or write: Not applicable.]

Funding

[State the funder and grant number, or write: This research received no external funding.]

Conflict of Interest

[State any conflict of interest, or write: The authors declare no conflict of interest.]

Author Contributions

[Describe each author's contribution using initials. Example: Conceptualization, A.A.; methodology, A.A. and B.B.; analysis, B.B.; writing-original draft, A.A.; review and editing, all authors.]

Data Availability Statement

[State where supporting data may be accessed, or explain why they are unavailable.]

Ethics Statement

[Provide ethics approval and informed-consent information where applicable, or write: Not applicable.]

References

Use APA 7th edition. Include only works cited in the manuscript. Arrange entries alphabetically and use a 0.5-inch hanging indent. Add DOI links in <https://doi.org/...> format when available.

Journal article: Author, A. A., & Author, B. B. (2025). Title of the article. Journal Title, 12(3), 100-115.
<https://doi.org/10.xxxx/xxxxx>

Book: Author, A. A. (2024). Title of the book. Publisher.

Chapter: Author, A. A. (2023). Title of chapter. In B. B. Editor (Ed.), Title of book (pp. 10-25). Publisher.
<https://doi.org/10.xxxx/xxxxx>

Web source: Organization Name. (2026, January 15). Title of webpage. <https://example.org/page>

Appendix A (if applicable)

Place supplementary instruments, extended tables, or technical material here. Appendices must be cited in the main text.

[Write the manuscript text here.]

Formatting Checklist

- The manuscript is written in English and uses the official ODIS template.
- The paper contains approximately 3,000-6,000 words, including references.
- The abstract contains 150-250 words and three to five keywords.
- The title, author names, affiliations, and corresponding-author email are complete.
- All tables and figures are numbered, titled, cited in the text, and editable or high resolution.
- In-text citations and references follow APA 7th edition consistently.
- The manuscript has been checked for grammar, spelling, originality, and research ethics.
- All instructional text, example content, and gray placeholders have been removed.
- The file is saved in DOCX format using the filename: ODIS2027_FirstAuthor_ShortTitle.docx.
- The corresponding author has obtained approval from all co-authors before submission.

Submission Information

Conference	The 1st ODIS International Conference 2027
Date	9 January 2027
Format	Online Conference
Website	https://icodis.cvodis.com
Contact	WhatsApp: +62 813-5748-150