

Amarildo Memisha

Aldo was born and raised in Albania, where he spent 14 years. Currently, he is studying business at George Mason University, with a focus on business management and analytics. Throughout his journey, Aldo has interned at places like the World Bank and Dominion Energy. His passion for sports has always been present in his life, but football is and always will be his favorite sport.