

An Empty Place

There is nothing for Death in an empty house,
nor left for him in the white dish broken over the road.

Come and sit down by me
on the sunny stoop,
and let your heart so gently rock you, rock you.

There is nothing to harm us here.

—Ted Kooser