Detroit Area Students Win Prizes in C-SPAN's National Documentary Competition

Students explore issues most important to them and their communities in messages to the president of the United States

Climate, education policies, and health care among top topics addressed

WASHINGTON (March 12, 2025) — Today C-SPAN announced that students in Royal Oak, Bloomfield Township and Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan, are 2025 winners in C-SPAN's 21st annual StudentCam competition.

Ani Ceccacci, a student at Royal Oak High School, is a second-prize winner and will receive $1,500 for the video, "Gender-Affirming Care, it Saves More Lives Than You Would Think." This video was also recognized as "Fan Favorite," having secured the most votes in a week-long nationwide public voting period. Ani will receive an additional $500 in prize money. This documentary will air on C-SPAN on April 11 at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day.

Wyatt Martin, a student at Royal Oak High School, is a third-prize winner and will receive $750 for the video, "Saving The Workforce's Backbone," about the importance of career and technical education.

Levi Citron and Eleanor Dewald, students at International Academy OKMA in Bloomfield Township, are honorable mention prize winners and will receive $250 for the video, "Healthcare Not Wealthcare," about anti-trust and private equity in hospitals.

Otto Massie, Kerith Short and Anna Gray, students at University Liggett School in Grosse Pointe Woods, are honorable mention prize winners and will receive $250 for the video, "The State of Social Security in the U.S."

C-SPAN also recognizes educators Mike Conrad at Royal Oak High School, Nicole Cinader at International Academy OKMA and Scott Pangrazzi at University Liggett School, who served as advisers in the StudentCam competition.

C-SPAN, in cooperation with its cable and satellite television partners, asked middle and high school students to address the theme — "Your Message to the President: What issue is most important to you or your community?"

Now in its 21st year, this project-based learning experience asked students to explore and analyze matters of personal, local or national importance. In response, C-SPAN received over 1,700 entries and nearly 3,500 students participated from 42 states and Washington, D.C. The most popular topics addressed were:

- Climate, Environment, and Land Use (11%)
- K–12 Education Policies and the Cost of College (10%)
- Health Care and Mental Health (10%)
- Gun Violence, School Safety, and Firearm Policies (9%)
- Inflation, Taxes, Government Spending, and the Economy (9%)

“Congratulations to all of the incredibly talented young students who won awards in this year’s competition! Through in-depth research and interviews with an array of topical and technical experts, you have crafted impactful short stories that capture issues of wide public interest and importance,” said C-SPAN’s Director of Education Relations Craig McAndrew. “Your documentaries set a very high bar for future StudentCam filmmakers, and you should be proud knowing your work will inspire your peers and foster thoughtful consideration from all audiences. We can’t wait to see what you do next!”

C-SPAN is funded by America’s cable and satellite television companies as a commercial free public service. In Royal Oak, Bloomfield Township and Grosse Pointe Woods, C-SPAN is available through Comcast, our local partner in StudentCam.

In addition to the grand-prize and first-prize winners, C-SPAN is awarding 16 second prizes, 32 third prizes and 97 honorable mention prizes. These winning videos will receive cash awards of $1,500, $750 and $250, respectively. The StudentCam competition has awarded over $1.6 million in prizes since 2004.

High school students competed on a regional level, with the United States divided into three regions: East, Central and West. Middle school students were judged on a national basis. The grand-prize winner was selected nationally among all regions and grade levels.

The 150 winning videos can be viewed at studentcam.org and may be used in a broadcast with attribution to C-SPAN. To schedule an interview with one or more of the winning students, please contact Pam McGorry at pmcgorry@c-span.org.

The annual StudentCam competition is funded by the C-SPAN Education Foundation. Videos were evaluated by a panel of educators and C-SPAN representatives based on the thoughtful examination of the competition’s theme, quality of expression, inclusion of varying sides of the documentary’s topic, and effective incorporation of C-SPAN programming.
