

As part of my PhD research at the University of East London, I want to hear Humanitarian/EiE practitioners and researchers thoughts, insights and critiques towards including . Please share below your thoughts on:

How can Humanitarian Practitioners embed decolonial practice into their work?

What can you do in your role to ensure that your practices are equity-based?