

Response To Why Woman Smile

Mona

Dr.Marquardt

ENG1430 W10

April, 1,2015

Amy Cunningham mentioned in her article Why Women Smile, “Despite all the work we American women have done to get and maintain full legal control of our bodies, not to mention our destinies, we still don’t seem to be fully in charge of a couple of small muscle groups in our faces.” In that case, women’ smile is constructed to a social product which is cheap and fake rather a real emotion reveal and an affective way. In general, bona fide smiles will make people happy , comfortable and have a good impression. However, it can not be the legitimate reason that enforces women to smile whenever.

Most people always associated smile with joy, relief and amusement, however, smiles also contains negative emotions like frightened, embarrassed, angry, sad or miserable. Hence, when a woman smile, it can not have a hasty conclusion that she is happy; a smile can become her stranded protection to hide her real emotions.