

Director Kang Hyuk finally became the official director of the Korea Gas Corporation.

Daegu Korea Gas Corporation Pegasus completed the promotion of Kang Hyuk from acting coach to official coach on the 26th.

The final approval inside the Korea Gas Corporation team was completed in the afternoon of the 26th, and coach Kang Hyuk will lead the team as an official coach of Korea Gas Corporation.

The contract period is two years, until the 2025-2026 season. Rumor has it that it is the best condition for a new coach. It seems that the positive evaluation of the club's head coach Kang Hyuk was largely reflected.

Korea Gas Corporation plans to anchor a full-fledged rebound under the supervision of Kang Hyuk.

Coach Kang Hyuk has led the Korea Gas Corporation as an acting coach since the 2023 off-season.

Initially, Korea Gas Corporation was expected to be at the bottom of the league due to the departure of major powers such as Lee Dae-sung and Jeong Hyo-geun, but under coach Kang Hyuk, the ranking soared to seventh place with a major reversal from the middle of the season.

It has become practically difficult to advance to the semi-finals of the playoffs, but the recent performance is said to be as good as the playoff team.

Coach Kang Hyuk's leadership had a positive effect on the entire team.

Andrew Nicholson, who showed disappointing balance of offense and defense two years ago in the KBL stage, has been reborn as a player who puts a lot of energy into defense under the guidance of coach Kang. Nicholson also applauded Kang's capabilities, saying, "Coach Kang has the quality to be the best coach in the league."

Unlike the last season, communication between the team and the coaching staff has also become smooth. Rumors have it that the atmosphere of the team, which had been depressed by manager Kang's soft but detailed leadership, has also been greatly encouraged.

Coach Kang Hyuk will play his first game as an official coach on March 1.
