

On February 1, 2018, we will celebrate World Read Aloud Day with LitWorld .

This is always such a special day for celebrating the power of literacy...and one of the best for our libraries, schools, and students too. Over the past few years it has been so much fun coming together to read and collaborate together with other students, teacher librarians, teachers, schools, and communities. And this year we are excited for even more of these special connections.

If you are interested in connecting with others on this day, please add your name, contact info, occupation, school, location, schedule, and ideas to the information below. To support our connections, let's group our schedules by time zones. If your timezone is not represented, please add it as a heading and we will update the table of contents. Look for others to connect with and sign up on their schedules too. Be sure to use your name and contact information when you sign up on others' schedules.

We plan to celebrate throughout that entire week....January 29-February 2, 2018.

We will share ideas, inspiration and what has worked over the last several years. One way to bring these ideas and inspiration to everyone, we started a Padlet. You can share your ideas and inspiration for WRAD too. Check out the Padlet here.

Let us know if you have any questions on how this works. Have fun and get connected for World Read Aloud Day this year too. And remember to use #WorldReadAloudDay when sharing on social media.
