Why the Marketing Label: The opportunity for RChain Unofficial Blog to be a community building tool and marketing tool go hand in hand. The very idea of a blog whether it be official or unofficial both require marketing in order to thrive. What we are trying to do is involve members and non-members alike without the risk of potentially misrepresenting RChain.

Post an article to help authors create visually appealing articles

Post an article to help potential new contributors understand the process to quickly setting up an account (WIP)

@Owans

First article, draft of second, managing submissions

@Barkov-F

Comments from the team

We request your patience and support. We've undertaken a significant project and have been working steadily and hard on it. We believe the RUB will become one of the most important assets of our RChain Cooperative. It provides a medium in which all people on the planet who are interested in RChain can find out about us, tell us what we could do to help them like us better, cooperate and join with us.

We believe that the RUB will enable you, as contributors to RChain, to advertise and explain your own projects in greater detail to a wider audience than ever before. We believe that members throughout our Cooperative will be able to tell about their experiences. We believe outsiders not familiar with RChain will gain transparency what we do, how and why, and may be inspired by our stories to join us in building the future.

Each of us on this team has worked long hours and put our reputations on the line. None of us are on a SoW. We depend on your votes to align our interests with yours.

Thanks for voting!
