

---

Article title here in Sentence case (Align Left, Bold, Bookman Old Style 14, Maximum of 14 words)

First Writer <sup>1*</sup>, Second Writer <sup>1</sup>, & Thrid Writer <sup>2</sup> (Full names without titles)

<sup>1</sup> Affiliation.

<sup>2</sup> Affiliation.

* Corresponding Author. Email: xxx

ABSTRACT: Bookman Old Style

The abstract firmly states the aim, method, and findings of the research. It is written narratively in a paragraph of maximum 250 words. It should clearly reflects the red lines of the manuscript, especially what this research aims, how the data were collected, analyzed, and/or interpreted, how the instruments were validated, and what the findings indicate.

Keyword: x, x, x

INTRODUCTION: Bookman Old Style

Introduction contains background, rationale, and/or the urgency of the research. Reference (literature or relevant research(es) need to be included in in this part; its relation to the justification of the research urgency; the emergence of research problems; alternative solution; and the solutions which are chosen. In writing the citation in the text, the following elements should be presented clearly: the last name of the author; year of publication; and the page in which the cited text is located. For example: From the year 1990, vocational school is only available from senior secondary school or starts from grade 10 (Paryono, 2005). We strongly recommend the authors to use Reference Manager application in writing the citation and references list.

Problems, aims/objectives, and benefits of the research, and operational definition (if needed), are written narratively in paragraphs. Please notice that all text/words written in non-English languages must be written in italic form seperti tulisan ini.

RESEARCH METHOD: Bookman Old Style

Method comprises the type of the research, time and setting/place of the research, the targets of the research, subjects of the research, procedure, instruments, data collection techniques, data analysis techniques, and also other things related to the research method. Heading and sub-headings (if needed) are written in the following format:

HEADING 1

Text running.....

Sub-heading1

Text running.....

Sub-heading2

Text running.....

Sub-heading3

Text running.....

RESULT AND DISCUSSION: Bookman Old Style

The findings and discussion can be presented in either one (as a ‘finding and discussion’ part) or two-separated (as a ‘findings sub-heading’ and ‘discussion sub-heading’) part. Findings are the presentation of the research purely based on the analyzed data while discussion is the explanation of the findings relevant to the literature discussed in the introduction and other relevant theories and ideas. The author(s) is/are required to provide the findings and discussion on the same sequence with the research aims, and, should also provide the summary of the discussion aimed at answering the grand question of the research at the end of the discussion part.

Findings (If Separated); Bookman Old Style

If figures or tables need to be added, do not forget to write a figure number and caption below the figure, and a table number and title above the table. Each figure and table presented in the paper must be referred to the text. For example, the styles shown in Figure 1 are used for formatting the manuscript to be submitted (this is a sentence for referring a figure).

Discussion (If Separated); Bookman Old Style

The writing format must comply with the style provided in this template. The Style is shown in the Microsoft Word in Home tab and then Change Style sub-tab as shown in Figure 1. Style is used by putting the pointer to the text, then clicking on the appropriate Style. Table 1 is the list of the Style content and its function. Comments which appear in this template can be deleted by putting the pointer to the highlighted text, then choose Review tab and choose Delete.

Table 1. Style and Its Function

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

CONCLUSION: Bookman Old Style

Conclusion is in the form of finding generalization according to the research problems. It must answer the research problems and is presented narratively and clearly.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT (if any): Bookman Old Style

The funding or grant-awarding bodies are acknowledged in this separate paragraph. For single agency grant: "This work was supported by the [Name of Funding Agency] under Grant [number xxxx].

REFERENCES: Bookman Old Style

The citation and references are referred to American Psychological Association (APA) (7th Edition) style. Authors are strongly recommended to use a reference manager.