

Venture Capital Statement of Support for SVB

tinyurl.com/vccommunitysvbstatement

On March 10, several venture capital leaders met to discuss the aftermath of Silicon Valley Bank's downfall. We published the following joint statement on social media which was met with strong support from a number of firms across our industry:

Silicon Valley Bank has been a trusted and long-time partner to the venture capital industry and our founders. For forty years, it has been an important platform that played a pivotal role in serving the startup community and supporting the innovation economy in the US.

The events that unfolded over the past 48 hours have been deeply disappointing and concerning. In the event that SVB were to be purchased and appropriately capitalized, we would be strongly supportive and encourage our portfolio companies to resume their banking relationship with them.
