

The You Show Episode 6: New Beginnings

Intro

fade in, Brian and Alan are in front of a theater, setting up equipment, logo over top with them in soft focus. Music is not cheesy at all, something like 20th Century Fox

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0WS33dNxKYc> They are wearing blazers. Because blazers.

They are conversing as setting up, in between saying things like 'hey toss me the HD patch cable' "got the monitor eq?"

Talk about how things have changed since last week, it was worth it to take a break.

Compliment each other on wardrobe

Excited about new format, confident, etc.

On the Set

Brian and Alan seated in front row of a red seat theater, maybe a swoop in with camera? They will be more even keeled, no goofy banter, good posture, etc.)

New and improved You Show

We have restructured the next two weeks.

Making video an option, providing resource from DS106, will consult one one one

Talk about highlights of working with individual last week, Gail and Joseph's audio,. Franzi and Colin's blogs. the stuff Tim and Alannas group is doing.

Concentrate now on ways to keep adding to blog portfolio, but organize, and like our show, to redo the front stage to make it more of a web site / portfolio and less of a blog.

Alan talks about what he is doing with his blog.

Brian does the same (no pressure, Brian.... ok a lot of pressure)

Drop in sessions and office calls are available.

Gearing up towards a show case event (when???)

But the You Show show never is over

(Voice maybe Jon yells out “and cut, that’s a wrap”, camera keeps going)

Brian and Alan talk about how good they feel, especially looking back to week 1. Confidence of running the show today.

Let’s go check with the guys in the back to see how it looks (they get up and walk way, long shot of them going up aisle of theater)

Closing

(shot just outside of a control booth door)

Brian and Alan are continuing their conversation, maybe with some video jargon thrown in to show how much they know now. They knock on door, but no one answers, so they walk in. camera follows them in as they enter control booth that is empty.

Where are those guys?

Camera zooms in to just a hoodie, a hat, and sunglasses left on the table.

Well, I guess we do not really need them anyhow

(reaches over to board, flips a few switches). There we go, just uploaded the new show to the CDN.

(they walk out the door, maybe talking about dropping in to see their agent). Door closes, camera swings around again to zoom in on the left behind stuff from the tech guys)

Fade to credits.