

Rules

Basics

1. No godmodding
2. Inbox is for anyone, mutuals or otherwise provided you've read my rules, however I will only thread with mutuals.
 - a. I'm less likely to answer sentence memes/prompts from non mutuals then I am from mutuals.
3. Tag triggers, I tag anything that's an obvious trigger and anything I think could be one. I ask that you tag; Rabies, Forced Abortion, Trypophobia, Torture, and Suicide. If you need me to tag something you can message me privately or send an ask on anon and it will be accommodated with no questions asked.
4. If you send hate, anon or otherwise you will be blocked immediately without being responded to
5. Do not continually push me to do drafts. I work full time and while I do try to get drafts completely cleared out every two or so weeks it doesn't always happen.
6. This blog does not have exclusives. I will write with multiple versions of every character because all portrayals are valid and good. I don't want to exclude anyone.
 - a. This extends to shipping, I will ship with multiple versions of the same character
7. I do not soft block, and I ask that you don't soft block me. If you're going to soft block so I'm no longer following you, just keep me blocked please. I have a shit memory and am going to think tumblr did a random unfollow, so if you truly don't want me following you, just block me.
8. No means no. Not convince me. Even if I write with another version of your muse or with a different muse of yours or a different plot with your muse, if I say no to something that is the end of the discussion.
9. I do not send in passwords to prove I've read anything. This also means I will not follow anyone who requires I send in a password to write with them.
10. I currently am not comfortable writing with Negan and thus will not be doing so. If you write with him that is fine, I don't care, just don't come here seeking interactions with Negan as a muse

Replies

1. You're more than welcome to inquire about replies I owe you and where they are, I'm only human and thus sometimes forget about or lose replies
2. I give priority to threads that are plotted over those from starter calls or continued from ask memes.
 - a. Just because you continue an ask meme does not mean I will respond to the thread. I don't have much time and I do want to give priority to my plotted threads, thus ask meme threads are more likely to be dropped without notice
 - b. I will give notice for dropping plotted threads

3. My reply speed varies greatly, I currently work full time, am finishing university, and have three dogs. I do apologize for this and encourage you to ask me if it's been a long time since I've replied to your thread.

Inbox and IMs

1. I will delete any IM or ask if I am not comfortable answering without notification or explanation.
2. My inbox, is for mutuals and non mutuals alike, however I am more likely to favor ask memes and stuff sent from mutuals
3. For general questions about my blog you can send an ask but an IM is preferred
4. I do not practice reblog karma, and don't expect you to.
 - a. I don't mind how many memes you reblog from me either.
 - b. Just because I don't practice reblog karma doesn't mean I won't try, if i'm going to reblog a meme from you I am most likely going to send one and in the event i really can't see any interaction for our muses I'll reblog from the source in most cases
5. IMs are open to anyone as well provided you're a RP blog or the main blog to an RP sideblog.
6. IMs are all OOC

OCs - while this page is OC friendly there are a few additional rules

1. Have a clear and extensive biography page for your OC
2. I will NOT write with OCs related to my muse. I have very extensive back stories for the muses i write and I'm not going to change them
3. I will NOT write with self inserts. I'm just not comfortable with it - it's a little too close to real person fanfiction for me.
 - a. If i find out your OC is a self insert and you have not been up front with it you will be hard blocked. There will be no confrontation.
4. I do ask that the OC's mun come up with the first plot. If I know nothing about your character I can't come up with a plot for our muses, this puts you the mun of an OC in the better position to come up with a plot.

Shipping

1. I will not ship with anyone right off the bat. I require that we have some sort of plot or interaction going beforehand. This applies to canon muses as well, I need to know how your portrayal and mine work together before we ship.
 - a. Because of this ship memes are for ship partners only, it's not anything personal but I don't want ship memes being used as an icebreaker.
2. If you force a ship or plot on me you will also be immediately blocked. This goes for OOC or IC. If I tell you I do not ship something or see an idea for an AU that's it, end of story. We won't discuss it anymore. The same goes if you say the same to me, if you you're not interested in a plot we won't discuss it any longer.

3. I ship mostly chemistry on this blog, so if our characters have chemistry then it's perfectly alright to approach me about shipping. I welcome it because I can never get enough ships
4. I will ship with OCs but not as freely as with canon characters. I need decent build up. Proper build up. Not build up where our characters start flirting right off the bat because you're only RPing with me because you want to ship your OC with my character/faceclaim.
5. Because I ship based on chemistry I will ship more based on mun portrayal. So just because I'm shipping with another version of x muse doesn't mean I'll ship with your version of x muse. Mun relationships are super important when it comes to shipping.
6. I write Daryl as asexual and biromantic. So if you want to get things going, we need to start somewhere else. Just because you see me shipping with one version of your character doesn't mean I'll do it with your version, each ship is in a different verse.
 - i. Also please remember, Daryl is in his late 40s/early 50s. He's not going to go for someone in their 20s/30s
 - ii. While Daryl is asexual he is sex neutral, he will not seek it out but he isn't sex repulsed either. He is open to sexual contact with established romantic partners of any gender but only from established partners and it's not something he finds gratifying so much as he wants to please his partner
7. I'm comfortable with most ships provided that we build up to them and plot first. The only one that's a hard no for me is Daryl/Beth.
8. Again, no Daryl/Beth on this blog. Nada. Opso. Doesn't exist here.

Smut

1. For the time being, though I'm over 18 the following rules apply for smut interactions
2. I will answer smutty memes and such on Sinday
3. Smut memes are only for established ship partners across all my blogs.
4. i will also only RP smut with muses and muns who are of age

Formatting

1. I ask that my partners keep all text the default size in replies for me.
2. I don't format my replies, I find it makes them difficult to read. I don't mind if you do but don't expect mine to be formatted. I try to keep this blog easily readable for those who are visually impaired and if something on my blog is showing up in a strange color or you can't read the font please let me know and i'll do my best to make it as readable as possible.
3. If I can't read/find your about, rules and verses page due to formatting on your theme I will not RP with you.
4. If you cannot read something on my blog please let me know, I will do the best I can to fix the issue. I really do not care what my blog looks like, being able to be read is more important.

Underage Policy

1. Due to previous bad experiences I will not be RPing with anyone under the age of 18.

2. I also ask that you DO NOT FOLLOW ME if you're under the age of 18. This is a very adult blog, I don't want children here.
3. If I cannot find your age on your blog I will not be following you
4. If you attempt to contact me IC for plots and memes and threads and you are under 18 I will send you a message, give you 24 hours to unfollow, and if you do not then I will block you.

About the mun

Hello! Thank you for taking the time to read these rules! I'm the keeper of this lovely blog, my name is Galia I am a 21+ person who uses she/her/they/them pronouns and lives in South Korea. This makes my timezone GMT +9. I am autistic and currently work full time and am going back to school so bare with me if I'm slow! Mutuals feel free to reach out to me for my discord information as it's a much easier way to get in touch with me!