

Muskoseepi Park: Grande Prairie's Urban Oasis

Muskoseepi Park—named from the Cree word for "Bear Creek"—is a vibrant green corridor stretching over 1,100 acres through the heart of Grande Prairie. Established in 1986 and created with the support of the Heritage Trust Fund, the park offers an immersive all-season experience that combines natural beauty, cultural heritage, and community connection.

Park Layout & Sections

Muskoseepi Park is divided into six distinct areas—bear Creek North, Reservoir, Centennial, Corridor, South, and Crystal Lake—connected by nearly 20 kilometres of paved and natural trails. Each section offers unique landscapes, from rugged wilderness to manicured recreational spaces.

Multi-Season Recreation

This park truly shines year-round. In summer, enjoy hiking, biking, picnicking, disc golf, fishing in the pavilion pond, and paddling in the reservoir. Come winter, transition to skating, snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, and sledding—making it a full-time outdoor playground.

Family-Friendly Amenities

Centennial Park hosts family-focused facilities including playgrounds, a splash pool, tennis and lawn bowling courts, disc golf areas, horseshoe pits, and picnic shelters. The Ernie Radbourne Pavilion is the hub for community events, rentals, and educational programming.
