What are your skills for the future?

WORKSHEET 2.1: SWEET SPOT FOR FUTURE SKILLS

Each peak performance zone has its own spectrum of skills, and where you perform at your best on this spectrum will help you figure out your work+learn path. Look at the spectrums for the archetypes you've chosen. See where they are at their peak of performance.

Then mark your own sweet spot for each zone—your winning position. It's the spot where you can imagine building skills for a lifetime.

For example, to Build Your Crew, you might find that your sweet spot is somewhere between local communities and a more global network that can extend your reach.

Once you've found your sweet spot for all the zones, compare them to your archetype's profile. Does your profile look a lot like the archetype you've chosen? If not, compare your profile to some of the other archetypes. You might be surprised at the future that awaits you.

Finally, make up a name for your performance zone strategy that describes how you're going to build up your skills in that zone.

Use your chosen archetype (or archetypes) as a guide, but make the path your own.

| MAKE YOURSELF KNOWN: Where is your strength?      |            |                |
|---|------------|----------------|
| celebrity   | visibility | self-knowledge |
| YOUR STRATEGY: How will you develop these skills? |            |                |
|   |            |                |
|   |            |                |
| BEFRIEND THE MACHINES: Where is your strength?    |            |                |
| curation  | creation   | simulation     |
| YOUR STRATEGY: How will you develop these skills? |            |                |
|   |            |                |
|   |            |                |

