

Dear Sister,

I've been thinking about you and felt led to share a few words. Sometimes we don't realize how much just one message can strengthen someone's spirit, so I hope this meets you right where you are.

I see Yahuah growing you in [insert area—e.g. patience, faith, letting go, boldness]. Even if you don't feel it all the time, the fruit is showing. You're not who you were even a few months ago—and that's a testimony in itself.

One thing I really admire about your walk is [insert observation—e.g. your consistency, your transparency, your hunger for truth]. It's a reminder to me that obedience doesn't have to be loud to be powerful.

I'm praying that Yahuah continues to strengthen you in [insert area they've been seeking growth or peace in]. And if you're in a season where it's hard to see the full picture, I just want to remind you:

✨ You are not behind.

✨ You are not forgotten.

✨ You are right on time—in His time.

Here's a verse that's been speaking to me, and I hope it lifts you too:

[Insert scripture here]

Don't forget: [Insert a personal encouragement—e.g. "Your quiet obedience is still obedience" or "Yahuah finishes what He starts."]

With love and truth,

[Your Name]
