The Universe: God of Wishes and stars

- The universe isn't a normal being, it's a vast expansion of the cosmos being the very universe itself. The Universe isn't a benevolent being, only working for its own entertainment. This has led it to being at odds with Azcu, The God of Change.
- 1. The universe is a god that watches and observes certain beings. These beings are considered special by the universe. The universe would remove the north island after they would fail to complete a ritual to honor the universe. Though there would be survivors which are.
- 2. The North Island were faithful followers of the universe, here they would learn of stars and planets.
- 3. The universe and the change god both hate each other mostly due to the universe always stopping change and causing stillness for their own entertainment.

Azcu: The Change God

- A being that brings change to all and is very lazy, though they are active when faced with beings that threaten change itself. Mostly having to deal with the universe and its allies leading to the universe's religion mostly being confined to the North Island.
- 1. Azcu has favorites, particularly Mirabelle enjoying her kindness and dedication to change. Though they never talk to her, they do protect her from the universe and its antics.
- 2. The change religion is the most favored religion in the world being followed by the universe's religion and the religion of order.
- 3. Azcu has little care for people outside of its own religion, sometimes even despising them.
- 4. The vanishing of color was a result of the battle between Azcu and the universe.
- 5. The Universe is stronger than Azcu but Azcu has far more followers and influence than the universe.

Other Deitys

Diocus: God of Order

- Acts as the god of order giving everything a purpose that would end and begin again and again in a perfect cycle.

ISAT: STARLESS Story

Prelude

Everything up until act 5 final would all occur as things would change upon the final of act 5. Siffrin would be consumed by their own wish being twisted, beginning to become a god they'd go back trying to fix their past actions. Odile would attempt to stop Siffrin but this attempt would fail, leading to Siffrin going back to the start once more.

Though one remnant of this change would be left, starless would have a new form entirely now looking like the mal du pays with red bits on them and stars floating around them. Here Starless would begin the loop again and again until meeting the universe similar to Loop.

but instead of begging for freedom starless would want more fun, more control over the loops. And so the universe would grant this wish, taking starless as a servant to carry out its eternal fun.

Along with this they would grant them absolute control over time, and in doing so their old body would give out taking form into a new godly being.

The universe would tie them to a new puppet so they could interact with the timeline, awakening them, starless would then begin the next stage of their play.

Loop would then prove to be a thorn in Starless's side as they soon reveal the truth to Odile, Bonnie, Isa, and Mirabelle. This would lead to them fighting against Starless. This battle would lead to the world being broken as the stars would vanish and the day would vanish dragging the world into eternal night.

Starless afterwards would freeze the people of dormont in time, keeping them in the king's room for when the play may begin again. But the universe would begin to drag starless around forcing them to watch and interact for their own entertainment.

Act 1: Dreamless Star

Years passed as starless lived their life, until an Isabeau would appear, due to their kindness and starless being influenced by the universe they'd let Isabeau stay awhile. Loop would try to help but Isa's own goodness would lead to them returning to Starless.

In the end Isa would learn the horrid acts starless had done in the past, mostly freezing all of dormont and Odile, and bonnie. This would lead to a massive fight ending with Isa leaving the starless alone once more.

Interlude: Shadows and Deceit

Starless lost in their own depression and self resentment would encounter the Flower of Deceit near the yogurt river of rebirth.

Through some small convincing Starless would cast themselves into the river of rebirth in both an attempt to kill themselves and change themselves would be reborn.

Starless would work for a small bit under Shadow Milk Cookie but would grow discontent mostly with the lack of a vision in their eyes. In the end Starless would attempt to leave leading to a massive fight between Starless and the Flower of Deceit ending with Starless losing an arm.

Act 2: Eternal Hate

After the events of leaving Shadow Milk Cookie starless would get back into a flow only to get torn up from that by the universe showing starless the truth. Starless would learn of their godly status now living with that truth starless would enter a depression realizing they could never really be normal again.

Starless after this would find a new friend of theirs Naveen had joined Shadow Milk Cookie, Starless would decide to kill Naveen not wanting one of their friends to join that monster. This fight would sadly end with Starless losing control of that puppet as The Gray Deceit would make it another follower of Shadow Milk Cookie.

Starless would wander around for a while until meeting with The Oceanic and Calming Storms Trio asking for their help they'd construct a new body for Starless. With this Starless would hunt for their old body soon meeting with Shadow Milk Cookie working out a deal to reclaim it. The battle that would follow would end with starless killing the star of deceit leaving them in the yogurt river of rebirth Starless would lose all hope of restoring their old life.

The star of deceit would be reborn due to being in the river of rebirth but now mutated and twister holding resentment towards everything beginning to hate life itself.

Starless would venture out coming to terms with their new life; they'd realize that all of this would give them a second chance in life... a chance to be better than before. They'd have a small reunion with Isa lying to them dubbing themselves Qusar.

They'd soon encounter The Gray Deceit multiple different times, these interactions would make Starless see a lot of themselves in them. All of these events would make Starless question themselves and make them wonder if what they're doing is just.

Starless would soon come face to face with the Flower of deceit, this time Starless would be determined, leading to Starless trying one final time to save them. After all of this Starless would eventually help them see reason and after one final confrontation starless would depart planning to save one more friend.

Starless would soon meet with the Gray deceit again and during this interaction Starless would meet another friend of Naveen Desi.

after this starless would work with Desi to Save Naveen soon boiling into one final confrontation. During this The Gray Deceit would push Starless over the edge leading to them trying to kill Gray. but alas someone else would strike them down, this would lead to Naveen being buried and starless beginning to spiral.

During this spiral the Mal Du Pays would return, mocking Starless and pushing them further into this pit of despair. Then after obtaining bad advice from the king of nowhere starless would plan to shatter all of space and time and entrap their friends in eternal bliss forever.

SUPER NOVA EVENT

Starless would cause several timelines to collide together and with Starless deteriorating mental state time begins to rot. Eventually twisted and pushing Odile into helping them they'd send them out to find the others and would later start puppeting the change god. Some of starless other friends The Oceanic and Calming Storms Trio, The Princess, and Isa would awaken in the now mangled timelines. Soon meeting one another and then Odile, and the group would decide to stop starless and put an end to their plot.

Venturing out and soon arriving at the Kings house here they'd navigate the twisting and broken corridors. Eventually meeting the Puppeted Change god who'd put up a little fight as they'd go to face starless in the king's room. Here Starless would face their friends and realize the agony they'd put them through primarily the princess and already starting to realize what they were becoming they'd begin to stop it. But thanks to the Mal Du Pays they'd push starless to a breaking point leading them to trying to go super nova and kill themselves.

With this The Princess would contain starless and drag them into the long quiet talking to them. Here they'd give Starless a second chance and they'd take it. Returning they'd meet with the Trios and Isa in the ruins of the king's house who'd admit their anger but also their willingness to forgive Starless if they don't pull something like this again. Starless would accept and would also agree to stay with Isa until they'd work through their trauma.
