Sara age: 16

She goes to school → procrastinates a bit on social media → studies for the rest of the day.

She values her friends and family's opinions about her because that's where she gets her confidence.

She gets frustrated when she doesn't understand something or when she gets bad grades.

She likes to take notes while studying.

Others perceive her as a student who works hard to get good grades (a bit of a nerd)

Her dream state is graduating with excellent grades and going to a big college via scholarship.

However, she still has a lot of studying to do and she feels like it's a lot of hard work.
