

Swarm 2 Announcement:

SWARM 2 Soars onto VR: An Electrifying Rogue-like Lands in March

Greensky Games has announced that "SWARM 2," the eagerly awaited sequel to the number one rated VR action game "Swarm" (2021), is now available for pre-order and is set to launch on Meta Quest 2 and Quest 3 on March 7, 2024.

SWARM 2 is an electrifying rogue-like shooter that builds upon the best parts of SWARM 1. With epic new environments, intoxicating rogue-like progression, and globally competitive leaderboards players will really feel like Spider-man with guns.

Picking up where SWARM 1 left off, you'll play as Marv, the last surviving grapple commando. You'll use your trusty pistol and grappling hook to battle back the Swarm and save Earth - with style! - while growing stronger and unraveling more of the story with each unique mission to the surface. An entirely new roguelike progression system allows you to permanently upgrade your skills and choose among dozens of perks to find the winning combination.

Every mission brings unexpected challenges as you navigate through the neon-lit ruins of Earth, now a constantly changing battleground. Using a newly refined Smooth Grappling System, your movement will be even more fluid and intuitive, allowing for greater control and precision as you swing through much larger, and immersive levels.

This makes swinging through environments and dodging enemy fire an even more exhilarating experience.

Normally priced at $24.99, players who pre-order on Quest will be able to scoop Swarm 2 for a discounted $21.99 and receive a Legendary 'Crimson Strike' skin for Marv's revolver.

Greensky Games Description

At Greensky Games, we're building games that couldn't possibly exist on any other platform.

Humans didn't evolve to sit on the couch, with a craned neck, small controller in hand, and stare nearly motionless at a glowing rectangle.

We make games that we're dying to play.

We're building the future of gaming.
