

Coconut + Castor Oil Massage Oil

Product Analysis

This multi-functional massage oil combines rich botanical oils and essential oils selected for their joint-supportive, skin-conditioning, and invigorating properties. The base includes cold-pressed coconut oil, castor oil, grapeseed oil, and shea butter, offering a unique balance of viscosity and skin absorption. Castor oil, high in ricinoleic acid, has been studied for its potential anti-inflammatory and analgesic effects when applied topically—particularly beneficial for joint or muscle massage. Shea butter adds a dense, emollient texture while reinforcing the skin barrier with fatty acids and triterpenes. Complementing the base are essential oils including peppermint, eucalyptus, lavandin, and tea tree, which lend a cooling, clarifying sensation while also contributing antimicrobial and circulation-supporting effects. Frankincense adds a calming dimension, and lemon oil provides a mild uplifting note. The formulation is well-suited for deeper massage, joint relief, and targeted tension work.

Recommended Usage

Before applying, perform a patch test to check for sensitivity. To use, warm a small amount of the oil between your hands or by gently heating the bottle. Apply to clean, dry skin and massage using steady, circular movements, concentrating on tight or overworked areas like joints, shoulders, or lower back. Due to the thicker texture from castor oil and shea butter, this formula is ideal for deeper massage techniques or spot treatments. Use 1–2 pumps to begin, adding more if needed for larger areas. The combined aroma of cooling mint, earthy frankincense, and citrus notes supports both focus and relaxation. Allow the oil to absorb post-massage or remove excess with a warm towel if preferred. For external use only.
