

Failure Is Good for the Soul

After some consideration, I am postponing this workshop to rework it a little bit. Stay tuned for the upgraded version!

A 2-hour live workshop for high-achieving women ready to turn “failure” into fuel for their next level.

You’ve done everything “right.”

You’ve set goals, made plans, worked hard. But when things don’t go as expected, that inner voice whispers:

“Maybe I’m not ready.”

“Maybe I messed this up.”

“Maybe I failed.”

But what if none of it was a failure?

What if it was feedback - a message from your unconscious showing you exactly what’s ready to be healed, rewritten, and released... so you can rise into the woman your next level requires?

In this 2-hour live workshop, you’ll learn:

How to decode your “failures.”

Understand what your unconscious mind is really saying when things don’t go as planned.

 What the unconscious actually is - and how it drives your thoughts, emotions, and results (even when you think you’re doing everything right).

My process for shifting patterns at the root.

Learn how to receive the message from your unconscious and transmute it - so you stop repeating cycles and start creating from clarity and power.

 A new relationship with failure.

Walk away knowing that everything happens for you, not to you - and that each “wrong turn” is sacred guidance toward your highest evolution.

Up until now, I've only shared this process with private clients.

I teach that “failures” (and other triggering moments) are not setbacks at all. They’re messages from the Universe revealing which thoughts and emotions are hiding in your unconscious, ready to be released.

In the workshop, I’ll take you deeper into how to interpret and shift these patterns for good.

Here’s what a few former clients have shared after learning this perspective:

“I have an understanding that a trigger is actually a gift - my body letting me know it’s ready to release pain. It’s so much easier not to take things personally.”

“All the same stressors are still there, and yes, things still trigger me. But now I have a new appreciation for them. Instead of fighting against what’s happening, I use those moments to see what pain the Universe is asking me to release - so I can live more aligned with my true self.”

“I’m starting to look at ‘disturbing surprises’ as gifts from God.”

✨ Beta Investment: $22 until 10/31. Price goes up to $33 on 11/1.

This is the first time I’m teaching this live, and it’s going to be powerful.

You’ll leave with a repeatable process to turn any setback into a breakthrough so you can move forward faster, lighter, and stronger.
