Industrially sponsored project description

There's no need to complete every section - the core elements are the description of the project, its anticipated outcomes, and the associated data. It's up to you how detailed these are. Even if you only have a broad idea of the area and outcomes, this is fine - it can be worked up into a fuller project description later.

Even if you only want to sponsor a single project, we welcome multiple project ideas - this allows for a richer selection of projects for the students, and increases the likelihood that a student selects one of your projects.
