

BARBIE REPORT

Kylie Falsely Accused of Ageism

After a costly frivolous court case, Kylie Jenner and the Badass Barbies were cleared of all charges of practicing “Ageism”. Kylie’s legal team of Jackie Chiles, Saul Goodman, and Barry Zuckerhorn let her down and it took a last minute legal maneuver from cut throat attorney Alan Shore to get the case dismissed. Shore quickly proved that Judge Judith Sheindlin was incompetent and had her disbarred and sent to a local nursing home.

Kylie further hired a Private Investigator to dig deeper into the case and preliminary findings show that other unnamed UCC stables may have been responsible for tipping off the California Equal Opportunity Commission.

Doves Disney Games A Smashing Success

Dove Cameron's Disney Games were a group of poolside events held at the MGM Grand. Dove invited her Disney friends to compete in 8 friendly events consisting of classics like The 3 Legged Race, 100 Meter Dog Paddle, 3 Point Contest, and Tug of War. Other non-traditional events included Standing Arm Wrestling, Chicken Fights, Indian Leg Wrestling, and A Dunk Contest.

While the first 7 games went without incident, the final event, The Dunk Contest caused a lot of tension. Apparently the contestants didn't like having their heads held underwater.

A massive brawl ensued with the contestants pairing up and battling it out while security stood by and watched, only separating them when they felt the fights were over. After the melee, a total of 46 Disney Starlets were detained and arrested. Fortunately, contestants Britney Spears and Christina Agularia threatened to pull their Vegas shows unless all charges were dropped. The bruised and battered fighters were released but ill feelings remained and threats and taunts were thrown about as the brawl may only have just started.

Titles and Belts

The Badass Barbies have had some success lately winning 7 Belts at the last Tournament Series and capturing 2 divisional titles at the Scotland Event. There was some bad news as 6 Barbies lost in the Tournament finals and Dove Cameron and Shailene Woodley lost their belts.

While Kylie is pleased with the recent results, she feels that there is always room for improvement. The Barbies will be fighting for all 5 Divisional Titles in India. Dove Cameron will look to avenge her loss to Vita Sidorkina and Shailene Woodley will look to keep out of Ellie Goulding clinch.

Blockbuster Trades

In a deal that was well over a year in the making, the trade that brought Middleweight Champion Emma Watson to the Badass Barbies raised more than a few eyebrows in the UCC. While the trade was approved by the UCC brass, many stables complained that the deal was unfair and that benefited Kylie's stable by delivering her a much sought after Middleweight Title. Kylie defended the trade by pointing out that former Badass Barbie Zara Larsson, who was traded for Emma, is currently the 8th ranked fighter in the UCC and will fight Emma for the Middleweight Belt in India.

Emma Warson and her best friend Kristen Stewart were ecstatic with the trade and she looks forward to training with Emma. The two have been inseparable since the trade and have gone out and celebrated with a wild girls night out. Details are sketchy but many say it was memorable.

Fallout from The Hot and The Dangerous

The training agreement with The Badass Barbies and the Hot and the Dangerous fell through when the Awesome Aries and The Lost Wildcats bought their rights forcing Kylie to file a Lawsuit against her hated enemies. The suit is still pending but Kylie is confident that the Magistrate will rule in her favor.

The biggest loser in this unprecedented maneuver was Lightweight sensation Hunter King.. Hunter had spent the last 2 months training with the Barbies and almost threw up in her mouth when she first heard the deal fell through. An extremely disappointed Hunter still hopes that she can put her old stable behind her and that she will be able to join her sister Joey on the Barbies.

Two upcoming fights will pit the Badass Barbies against The Hot and the Dangers. UCC XX in India will see Badass Barbie Paris Berelc and Hot and Dangerous Melissa Claire Egan battle it out for the 3rd time. The previous two fights have gone the distance with Melissa winning a controversial split decision then seeing Paris even the score at the 5th Tournament Series. Olivia Rodrigo will face Gina Tognoni in a Middleweight bout. All 4 fighters have gone to the Forum and threats and taunts have been issued,

Kylie Puts Foot Down - No More Slugfest

Kylie also put an end to all unsanctioned events and her main focus moving forward will be strictly on winning in the UCC. Sin City Slugfest IV brought in unprecedented ratings and the matches were compelling but Kylie feels that the risks are not worth the rewards.

The Barbies started the event by winning 4 out of their first 5 bouts but suffered in the end, Kendall Jenner beat Chloe Moretz to a pulp but let her guard down and got wounded by some crippling body punches folding her in two and ending her night.

Kylie not only lost to her half sister Kim Kardashian but gave up her Queen of Social Media crown in the process. She also faced off against hated rival Katherine McPhee in the Slugfest final and ended up taking a savage beating as McPhee showed off her boxing prowess.

Olivia Rodrigo accepted a challenge from Laura Marano and regretted her decision. Laura targeted Olivia's breasts and worked over her jugs until she couldn't take another blow to her prized rack. Olivia required an overnight stay at a local Hospital to recover from the ruthless mauling.

Raccoon Halloween

While some Badass Barbies attended the Raccoon Extreme Halloween 2022 Event, many felt slighted as invitations to the exclusive occasion left most of the Barbies out in the cold. According to Kristen Stewart, Emma Watson, Megan Fox, and Zendaya Coleman, the 4 lucky Barbies who attended, it was the event of the year. Details of the wild event are still sketchy at best.

Rumors of nudity and sexual misbehavior have not been denied as the stories continue to leak out, Dove Cameron was particularly upset after spending many hours on her zombie costume only to be snubbed at the last minute by the pretentious Raccoons.

Kylie and her sister Kendall decided to throw their own Halloween bash and while the party was a blast, it failed to live up to the Raccoon event.

The Pigeon

Kylie Jenner has also filed a defamation lawsuit on behalf of Featherweight Vanessa Hudgens and Lightweight Kristen Stewart. The suit, filed on November 7th, at the Helsingin käräjäoikeus claims that The Pidgeon is Watching, a recurring article in TKO Magazine, unfairly portrays her clients and damage from the outlandish accusations have compromised their abilities to fulfill their jobs as MMA fighters.

After getting the blessing of the Finnish Ministry of Justice, the case was sent forth and the proceeding will take place with a date for the preliminary hearings to be determined. Concurrently, a cease and desist order has been issued and The Pidgeon will immediately refrain from mentioning any Badass Barbies in any future articles.

Kylie Jenner’s Halloween Bash

After some success in recent events, Kylie Jenner spared no costs and threw a blowout Halloween Bash for her stable. All of the Barbies were in attendance and while the nudity was kept to a minimum the revealing costumes left very little to the imagination.

Bosom buddies Olivia Rodrigo and Dove Cameron share a quick kiss before entering the private event. As the night progressed the two shared many kisses but reportedly left alone.

Kylie’s big sister Kendall also celebrated her 27th Birthday at the Halloween event. The party lasted well into the morning hours and the after party continued at the Hollywood Club Crawl.

In Need of Allies

With her list of enemies continuing to grow, Kylie Jenner has sent out olive branches in order to find some new allies. While The Boss and his fighters over at Strikeforce have been by Kylie’s side the growing list of enemies has set off alarms. Kylie heavily counted on The Hot and the Dangerous even the score but their alliance with the Awesome Aries and Lost Wildcats threw the balance of power clearly in their favor. Kylie hasn’t given up hope but her options are quickly running out.
