Subject Line: This Is Only For You....

Hi Soma,

I've literally just finished digging into the world of top productivity competitors. It was all about understanding how they connect with customers and finding those emotional triggers...

Once that was done, I started digging into folks who grind day in, day out on a mission to grow, to get more people to love what they

That's where you come in. And that's why I'm reaching out to Mr's Soma.

I've got a whole toolbox of persuasive tricks up my sleeve, and I want to help make your Gmail light up with purchase notifications.

We can kick things off (if you're up for it) by crafting an email copy that speaks from the heart to your email list.

Leading them straight to the spot where you're longing to connect and chat with them. Whether its your (Social media Accounts or your website)

What do you say? And hey, I won't ask for a dime until I see that grin on your face.

Hi Marina,

I've literally just finished digging into the world of top productivity competitors. It was all about understanding how they connect with customers and finding those emotional triggers...

Once that was done, I started digging into clients who grind day in, day out. They're on a mission to grow, to get more people to love what they offer.

That's where you come in. And that's why I'm reaching out.

I hop onto your website and noticed a huge issue where there is a headline called 6-Month Productivity Program, accompanied by a description

What the issue is.... There was not a single emotional words that hit you right in the gut, speaking to the pain that the people in their target market are feeling.

And another thing – you are not painting a picture with those sensory words, words that send a jolt straight to your feelings, all tied up with what the audience yearns for deep down

No worries! I've got a whole toolbox of persuasive tricks up my sleeve, and I would love to rewrite for you a fascinating headlines with intriguing and emotionally captivating descriptions for the 6-Month Productivity Program.

Would you like me to start composing it for you and share it with you once it's completed?

This is the part I'm referring to;

The 6-Month Productivity Program

Welcome to our 6-month productivity program. This program empowers you to cultivate deep focus, embrace balance, set achievable goals and start a sustainable transformation. Our thoughtfully crafted 6-month program is here to accompany you on a mindful exploration, providing you with the tools, techniques, and mindful practices needed to cultivate a harmonious and purposeful life. Bid farewell to the chaos of scattered attention and the shackles of the hustling culture. It's time to rewrite your narrative with intention.
