Things that stand out/takeaways: Number of students earning one or more post secondary credentials/IRC: In the past two years. Increase in applicants/participants between the first and third year and second and third year.

Suggestions/curiosities/questions: Areas of opportunity for increasing diversity. What strategies will be used to increase non-traditional students and ethnicity? (insert information) Neither one of the students went on to get paramedic license (EMS2). May need to do more education on the professionalism of following through on the credential. Daycare (human services) program as a program to add into CVCC. Employees need childcare and businesses need employees. This year having a cooperative education student at CVMC. Some students haven't had a lot of work experience. When it comes into a professional environment it is a different job. Sensitive to a lot of things. Cooperative Education requires a high level of maturity and not all students are ready. Labor Market Analysis: Curiously that restaurant work is considered a high paid category. Disagreement on this. Curiosity that was educational was design and fabrication, first thought was sewing/tailor or artwork. Welding/stone trades as far as interest. Challenges getting a welding program to meet student needs. Concern about pay for EMTs working as EMTs in the community-needs to be higher.
