

Everything is required to be filled out, unless marked otherwise or explained in backstory!

Please put effort into your sheet!

Basic Info:

Name: Raven Ashanka

Species: Vampire

Gender & Pronouns: Female, She/Her

Sexuality: Lesbian

Age (& Birthday): 92 9/25
(minimum 18)

Country: Vwuiel

Pet/familiar: None

Aptitude(s): Dark (Paradox)

Magical Medium(s): A sheathed short sword, the sheath is made of leather and is enchanted to not cause physical harm although being hit with it still causes pain.

Curse(s): none (formerly cursed but she was able to dispel it herself)

Academic Information:

Year: 3

Major: Dark magic

Minor: Political Science

Special Accommodations: Completely unable to use any magic that is not Dark magic her classes are heavily focused on it, is taking Political Sciences as well as an education course.

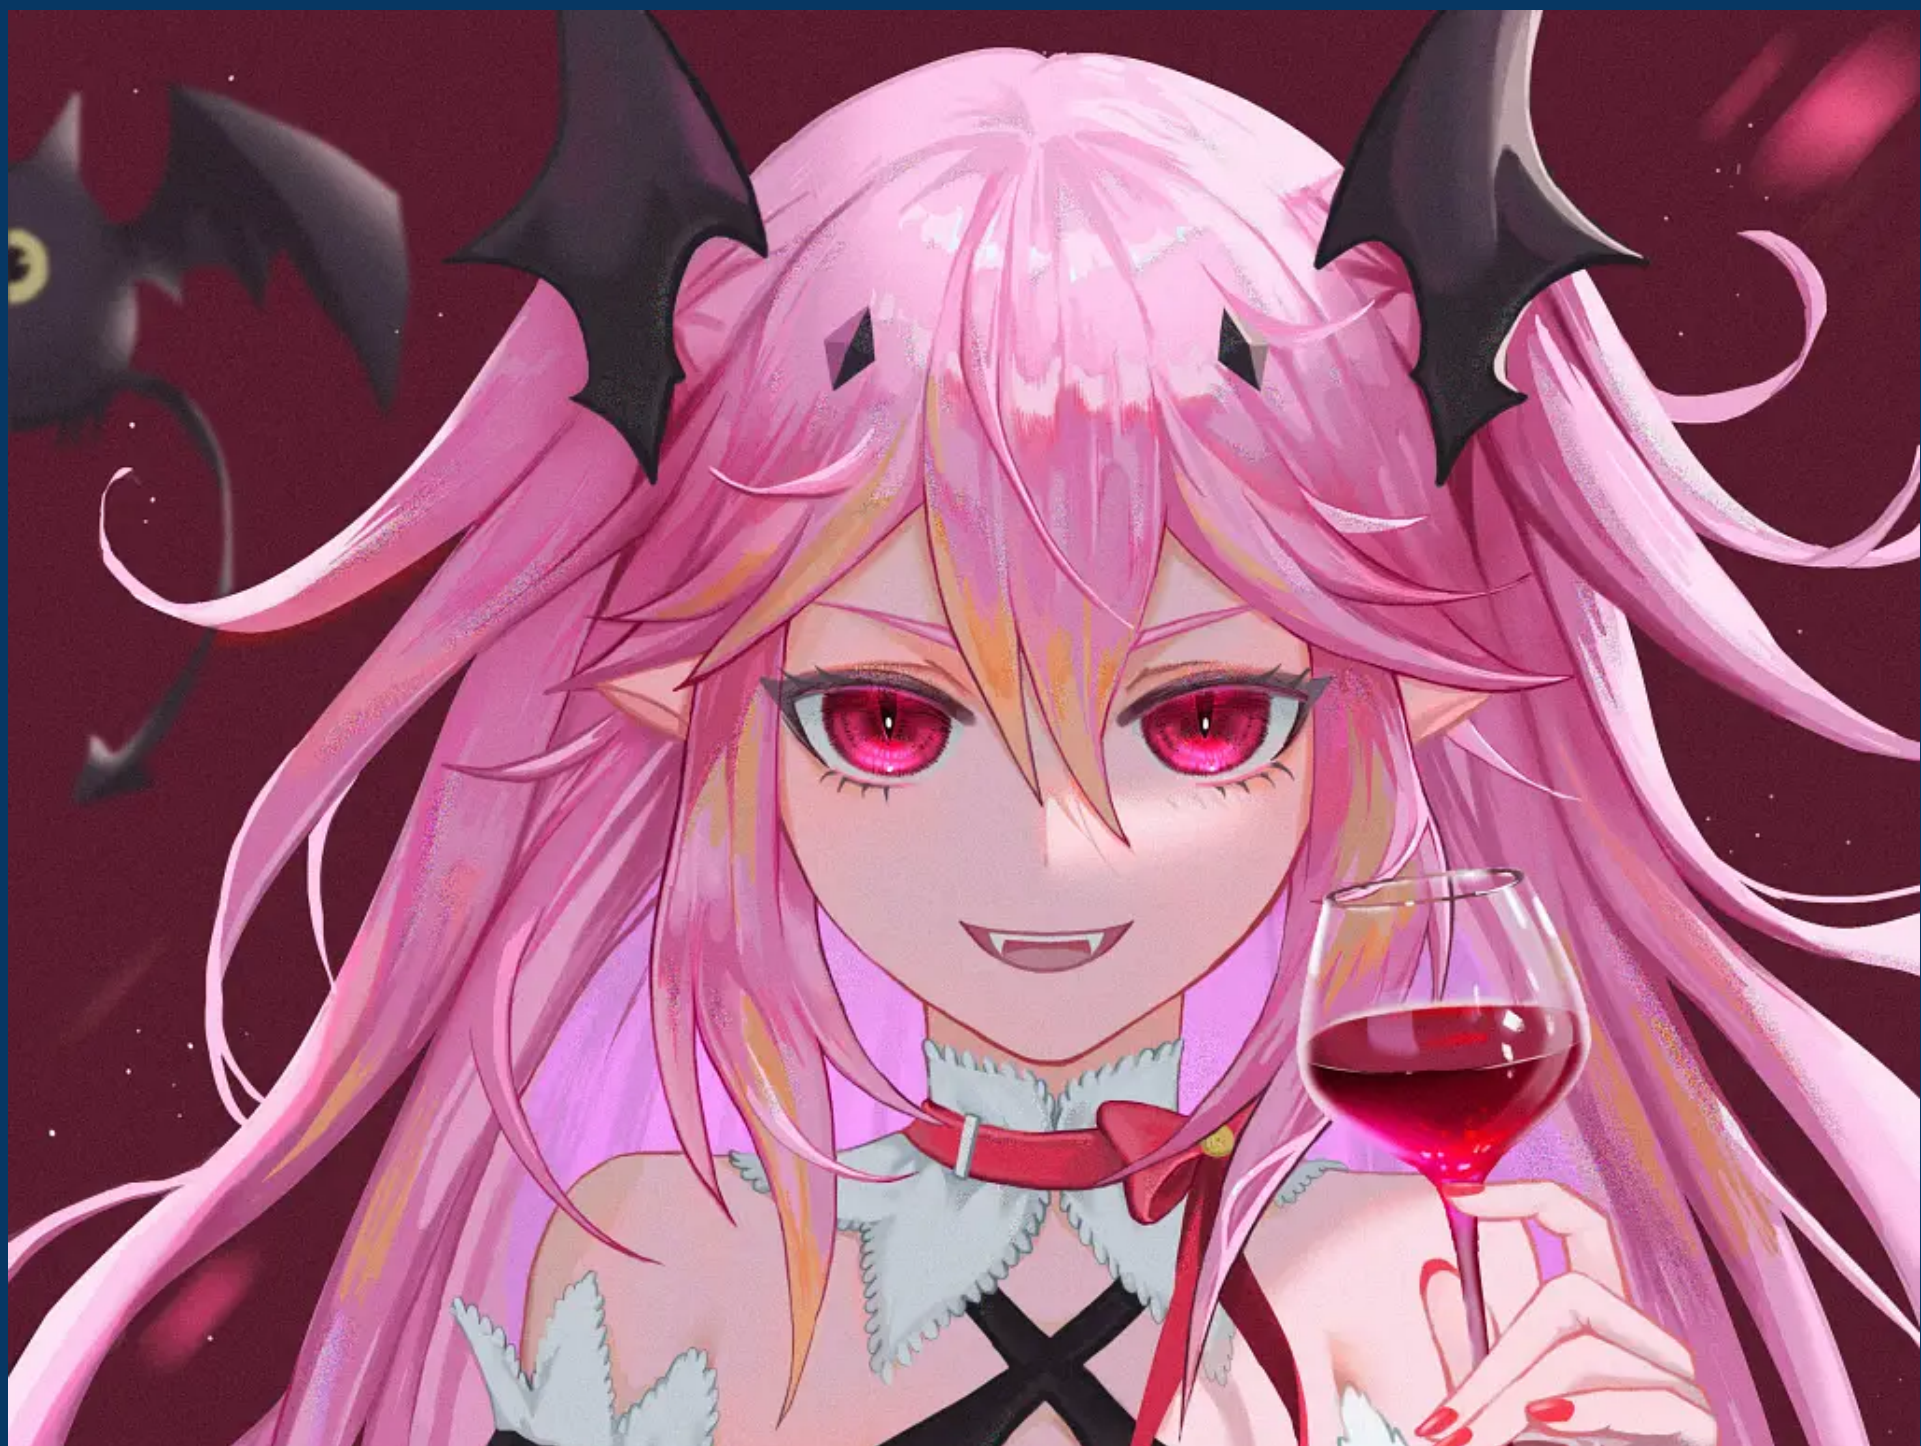

Extracurriculars: Art, Numismatics club

Physical Information:

Height: 5'3ft, (1.6m)

Weight: 97lbs, 44kg

Appearance: Faceclaim Krul Tepes Extra Pictures Below

<https://www.pixiv.net/en/artworks/101390338>

Important Info

Personality: Raven often appears cold and uncaring for those who don't know or care to know her. Although a massive sadist this does not mean that she is unable to feel empathy. Unfortunately for her said empathy tends to not portray itself in the kindest of manners. For those select few who may come to know her personally however she is incredibly protective of and can occasionally be very generous. She is prone to fits of rage however most fits are silent and kept under control meaning actual outbursts from her are not easy to achieve. 'Until death, all defeats are psychological'

Likes: Sweets, seclusion, weaponry and reading

Dislikes: Socializing more than needed, wasting of food and waste in general, those who flaunt their abilities despite them being hardly above average.

Hobbies: Coin collecting and minting.

Fears: Reapers, Owls

Talents/Skills: Curses (Publically just removing them), art, cooking, sword fighting

Learned Magics: A variety of psychological attacks (primarily illusionary), basic offensive and defensive physical magic. Learning to dispel curses (and in private how to cast them)

Goal(s): Revenge against those who killed her family (mainly the Orlan family).

Backstory: (required!! At least two paragraphs minimum, and please put a good amount of effort into your character's backstory!) (Why did they choose Flluaguan University, rather than a regular college, or other magic colleges? If they're not from a country that speaks Blalulian, how/when did they learn?)

Born to a well-off family in Vwuiel Raven didn't worry for much during her early childhood, receiving a proper education (which is uncommon in Vwuiel due to the area's poverty) she was acknowledged by her family as a prodigy however due to stigmas against dark magic her abilities were a closely guarded secret.

On her 18th birthday she was thrown a coming of age party which included invitations to several rival families in an attempt to reach a truce or at least understanding. Alas during the festivities the Orlan family gifted a cursed object to her father which silently cursed the family to waste away by completely destroying the balance of mana which killed nearly the entire family within a month with the exception of Raven who's mana was already so biased to Dark mana that the curse failed to seriously harm her and was eventually cured.

Following the destruction of her family most of their assets had to be auctioned off to foreigners in order to keep the estate and a much reduced trading company functioning after relations broke down with previous business partners to keep the estate self-sufficient. She cooped herself up mostly in the library and estate in the following decades to the point, not leaving much except for the occasional business trip.

On one such trip she was separated from her small entourage and an attempt on her life was made which would later in court be found to be due to a case of mistaken identity appearing similar to a local politician's child. The man's corpse would later be found nearly beyond recognition in the river with multiple body parts entirely absent and entirely drained of blood. Eventually accused and brought to trial, Raven bribed the courts to end up awarding her damages for the attempt on her life from the man's family and ruling the death as simple self defense.

The incident forced her further into seclusion however in order to maintain relations with business partners she reneged control over the day to day affairs of her business to a trusted lackey and effectively lived solely in the library researching curses and complex only occasionally leaving the room for a meal or when a new 'gift' arrived from a local prison for her.

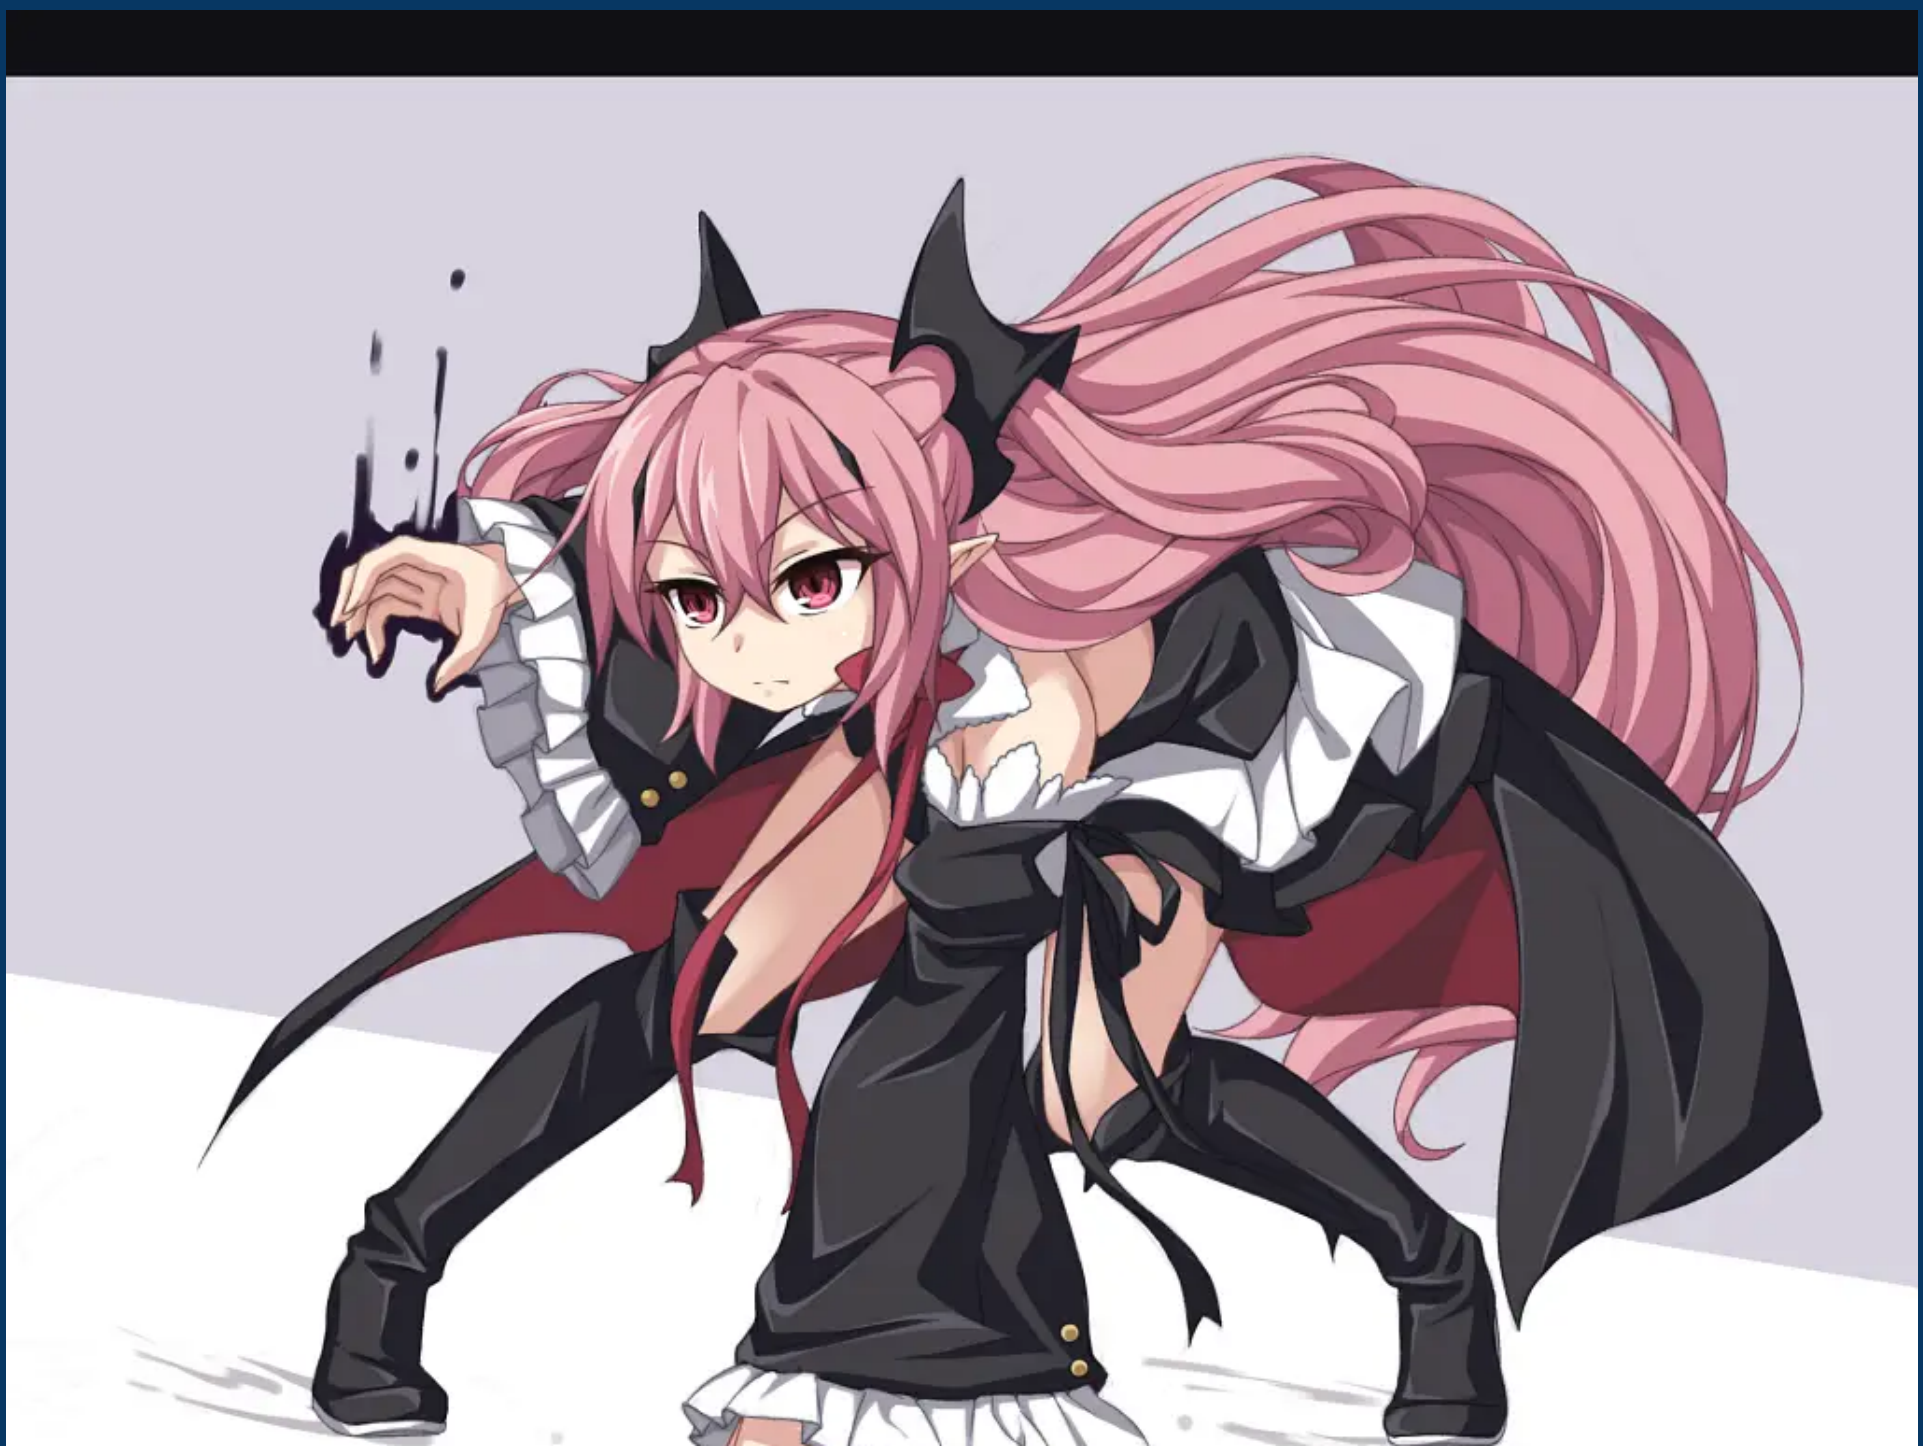

After hearing rumors that Flluguan University's library had certain books that she needed to move forwards with her plans she applied to the University and was accepted with the agreement upon graduation she would join as a researcher on curses.

Other: Raven is fluent in Sunalian, Blaluian and Osain, this was learned during her education as knowing a variety of languages is important for trade. Very skilled hypnotist (can only use in rp with consent of the other party)

Extra Photos

Note that artist page on pixiv gives a suggestive warning: <https://www.pixiv.net/en/users/4720261/>

