

Priscilla: Hello Fred, today I will be interviewing you about life as a tree.

Fred: sure.

Priscilla: Is there anything that bothers you everyday?

Fred: The cicadas and birds tweeting and chirping sometimes give me a headache

Priscilla: What do you see in the morning and the night?

Fred: In the morning I see the small birds waking up to eat worms and in the night I see the owls possums and bugs flying out to party.

Priscilla: Wow that must be nice to see the animals and insects.

Priscilla: Is there anything you would want us to change that would benefit all trees?

Fred: You guys are doing really well to help us

Fred: We trees would appreciate it if you were a bit kinder to trees and stop peeling our bark and littering.

Priscilla: Like Fred said, maybe we should help them and not litter.

Priscilla: Does it get cold on winter mornings?

Fred: It is ok because I have thick layers of bark.

Priscilla: Do you like seeing the sun?

Fred: It is warm and makes me happy.

Priscilla: At least you have leaves to shelter you from rain right?

Fred: The leaves do help a lot on rainy days.

Priscilla: Thanks to you Mr Fred we got valuable information and we can change those habits of littering.

Fred: Your Welcome.
