

Massive TW for grooming/sharing nsfw with someone underaged

*Note: Everything I share here is my own personal experience. I am unaware of Spacemvtt/Ufohouse's past activities and I will not be going into that because I feel like it is not in my place to do so. The situation is mostly about their friend Opal who used to go by Charlotte, and Spacemvtt's approach to the situation. Opal has used multiple handles before such as Rhosaign and Alucroph.

To shortly put, I was groomed by one of Spacemvtt's friend's, Opal. She has been a staff in Audrey's art server for a while during the time of all of this. I have tried to reach out to Audrey about her behavior towards me but they didn't take any actions to distance themselves from her.

I want to first go over me and Audrey's conversation about Opal. Huge TW for grooming again, as it's very detailed.

Be aware that I still lack proof of her grooming, I have deleted her chats since July of last year. But Opal has admitted to her actions to both Audrey and their partner.

hey aiden, i'm not sure if you remember, but im jayden, who was originally in your server, i was invited by opal, but i left due to reasons i'll be explaining now, mostly because i didn't want my presence to stir up any trouble; but i've been informed that some of the things i've endured with opal for the past few years wasn't right in the slightest and i've been encouraged by my peers to tell you, you're not obligated to believe me at all, and i completely understand if you don't, as i no longer have proof of these accounts taking place (i was blocked by her on discord, and i've accidentally closed out the chat making it impossible to get the proof needed. i am hoping only my words can suffice) to start things off i want to state this, im 16, 3 years younger than opal, and she knew this from the start. i've known opal since i was about 12-13 on google+ (her being 15-16 at the time) and when the site shut down around 2018, we started talking on discord then, she has moved accounts multiple times since she knew it was wrong around others, because she had an oc server with her friends (you were also a part of it but i'm not sure if you remember a lot of it) and that server included an nsfw channel, i joked along the lines of "where's my nsfw role" because i was again under the impression that what she was doing was totally normal, but she stated that i was "too young", but the nsfw conversations continued in private dms.

my ocs are definitely of age (18+) but after being made aware that having someone 18 and over indulge anything nsfw related with me, a minor, is completely wrong, and she should've had the self restraint to immediately stop once she hit the age of 18, but she didn't, and i was made to believe it was fine because i trusted her, someone i saw (and still do in some way) as my older sister.

again, i don't wish to make you feel obligated to believe me as i don't bear the evidence with me anymore, if she hadn't blocked me i could probably get evidence in under a minute if i'm being honest. these conversations we've had were also not just about ocs and expanded beyond that, but they're too uncomfortable to go into detail about, and i hope you can understand that.

i deeply care about opal even after she abruptly cut ties with me, and i hope she doesn't take things too far with this (which is why i'm making a wish that you don't mention this to her at all, if you are still communicating with her that is) a part of me still wishes to speak with her on the matter but it's time i come to terms that distancing myself from her is probably for the best; i just wanted to get this off of my chest and let you be aware of what was going on behind the scenes.

issues went beyond just the nsfw topics but i won't go into those either because i'm just not mentally prepared to do so, i hope you can understand my reasoning for telling you this, and i'm deeply sorry if this changes anything between you and opal at all, your partner included.

i appreciate this message, and i respect what you're telling me - but i would rather see evidence and not believe word of mouth i'm afraid, as this is pretty heavy stuff :/ i do hope you'll be okay, and if this was true, that you can remain to stay safe

i'll absolutely keep this in mind though, i promise

Jul 25, 2022, 6:22 AM

i completely understand, and thank you for taking the time to read this

Jul 25, 2022, 8:03 AM

i can possibly give evidence when it's ready, but again it may be hard to grab, i do apologize for the bad timing

it's absolutely alright, don't worry about it

These messages are from July of last year, I was 16 at the time of sending these messages. I am now 17 and Opal is now 20 years old. A few months after I spoke with them, Opal dm'd me on twitter to try and 'calm the waters'. (I no longer go by Jayden)

Opal has deleted this twitter account for reasons unknown, though she is notorious for deleting her accounts. Again, major grooming TW, very detailed

I was also admittedly a bit unprofessional with my responses, I was too emotional with my messages and I do wish I could've said things differently.

I think it's important that we talk.

I cannot stress how deeply I apologize for how poorly I conducted myself around you. I recognize that the emotional repercussions of my actions outweigh their intentions, of which I had none out of malice. I should never have made that material accessible to you. I behaved beyond justification, I should have known better.

The relationship I have with said material was instilled by prolonged mishandling of it by my then-peers and deeply regret not having been more responsible with it myself. It was never my intention to elicit inappropriate material from you nor encourage you to partake in it. I failed to cultivate a safe environment, and apologize for abusing your trust.

If you wouldn't mind, I ask that you clarify what allegations you've posed against me? If you would allow me the opportunity to correct my missteps I would greatly appreciate it.

You accepted the request can i ask what even prompted you to even send this message? you've made it clear you no longer wanted me in your life and i've slowly came to terms with that, but i'm assuming something came up to cause you to send this? blocking me on every thing and practically ghosting me only to come out of the blue like this is odd, but i'm sure you would know that, opal.

i understand if you needed space, genuinely, in fact i would've supported you and been alright about it, sure i would've been upset, but who wouldn't after having a person with a huge significance in your life leaving? the way you went about leaving was admittedly terrible. as you can see now, i've had a lot to say to you before you left, but you didn't even give leaving: the way you went about leaving was admittedly terrible. as you can see now, i've had a lot to say to you before you left, but you didn't even give me a chance to even say something as little as "i love you" or anything, it wasn't fair. i don't know what your mindset was at the time and how you'd think i would react but i've been starting to think you weren't thinking about how i would've felt at all. to this day i still hope and dream that you would come back and that we could forget about all that happened, i still cry about the whole thing, i sometimes still wonder if you ever even think of me the same way i do about you, or that if you even still care.

and as for the ""allegations"" you mean when you sent images and went into detail about bad dragon right? where you had genuine conversations about wanting to bang my ocs right? the nsfw art pieces you sent to me right? and to top it all off you reassured it was all fine because the topics weren't about me in general but about our ocs. there's probably more where that came from but again you blocked me, and i had to delete the chat in order to save my own sanity, and you deleted your account as well, so i guess we're both fucked in that situation aren't we. sorry it had to be this way, i do hope you're doing alright even after all of that, i don't have malicious intent against you, i never did. even if we're practically strangers to each other now it's funny how we still know so much about each other, but i haven't planned on using those things against you, but everything reminds me of you, and i have to pay for it.

I was made aware through a handful friends and former contacts alike that you told them, or heavily insinuated that I "groomed" you. So far as three of which threatening or encouraging me to make an attempt on my life. I thought it necessary to ask for clarification as they seem to be in misunderstanding.

From what I gather, they appear to believe I tried to purchase BD products for you. I had not promised or intended to do so in the slightest. While I heavily regret relaying the information I had on the company, per a then-hyperfixation, to you, I was not taking advantage of you. I did not solicit that attention from you.

Regarding art, I would share pieces on the basis that we are both artists. I should have been more aware that the subject matter was not suitable for you. I had only meant to ask for critique, or opinion, rather aid in completing a piece. I was not sharing them with the intention of involving a minor in inappropriate material. I greatly misjudged the audience with which I shared content. I deeply apologize for that.

Inversely, I apologize for the way I behaved pertaining to your characters. I was not conscious of the mind behind them, for which I, again, apologize having been neglectful of your thoughts and feelings. I make the distinction because I wish it were more obvious what I said or felt about the characters was frivolous and pertained exclusively to them. I do not have feelings of that nature towards you. I never have and do not. I was flippant in attempt to prolong a punchline about a slandered trait. I was not responsible with what impact that would have over

Your feelings do matter to me. I feel miserably that it weighs on you, and apologize I have done nothing to make amends without being first provoked. I was ignorant to the ramifications it has and I know there is nothing I can do to make up for the lost time, and emotional hardship you have faced as a result. I should have known how harshly being exposed to this content would be having been thrust into a similar situation myself. I apologize for perpetuating a careless mindset. I want you to know I was not trying to get anything out of you.

The next batch of screenshots will reveal that Audrey and their partner did in fact go to Opal about me being groomed, but made no attempt to distance themselves from her. Again, I was quite emotional when sending these messages. I formerly apologize if there are things that do not make sense or if I seemed to sporadic with my wording.

that's it? to clear your name? not to apologize for ditching me during my lowest point? alright.

really the only people i've told was aiden who didn't necessarily take it too seriously because i lacked proof (no disrespect to them genuinely, i understand to a degree) and ise who contacted me on toyhouse, and ise informed dare on the matter. though what you did was wrong i apologize that has happened to you. i'm assuming it's more than 3 people who knows? correct me if i'm wrong.

you haven't tried to purchase any products for me no, but you did make the offer. it was along the lines of you making a care package like how you did with dare and you offered to add in a BD, even then, you did encourage me to get one if i wanted to, even giving me advice as to how to hide them and use them properly. you did mention things on what happened to you when you used them to which i wont go into detail here because it's kind of disturbing. again, i would share the proof but you deleted the account, and it's gone from my contact history.

you knew it was at least a bit tedious to do because you didn't do it in your oc server, you didn't give me the nsfw role. you dont remember me making a joke "where's my nsfw role" and you responded with "no jayden you're too young" but the nsfw conversations continued in dms? of course again i can't get the proof because the server is gone, but i remember it like it was yesterday, i remember a lot, opal.

have a right to know, again, if it's to just distance yourself, i'm fine with that. i would not be upset about that, because i would be just as bad of a person if i was. the last message you sent gave little to nothing with clues as to why you just abruptly cut me off as if we were on bad terms. nothing but a "it's for your own good" type of message to it, but it was so sudden? were you planning on ditching me for a while? because who suddenly dumps their "closest friend" in a single night? if you were planning on it, don't you think it's evil to say you weren't going to leave me when i texted you that one day saying i was worried our friendship was drifting apart?

It was my impression that space above all would be beneficial as I had not felt I were a constructive resource to you. I felt that ceasing contact would allow us to process our feelings in a healthy way, rather than to remain immersed within the environment in which it was habituated. I am sorry for cutting you off. I assumed it were better for us both, I apologize for making that decision on your behalf.

I deeply apologize for what I unintentionally misconstrued. I want to make it clear that I do not align with either of those beliefs or actions. It was highly inappropriate of me to encourage that. I took it for a hobby and was too willing to indulge others in the name of sexual wellness. I should not have encouraged that in you. I was under the albeit warped perception I was not in the wrong. I understand that I am and have made haste freeing myself of that mindset. I am sorry for putting you through that.

I struggled to establish the boundary as I worried that you would withdraw from me socially. I regret ever letting these topics infiltrate our discussions to the extent I felt it were a detriment to the dynamic to suddenly forbid it. I was worried you would feel that I didn't trust you. I recognize it was not your responsibility to tell me, the adult, that conduct was not appropriate. I have exhausted that I no longer engage with others in that manor. I apologize that I would only learn from that through you.

I wanted to tell you, in as broad terms that would aptly fit within the text limit, that I was sorry for having ever put you through this. I was not willing to entertain a discussion as I, again, felt distance were the most appropriate approach to moving on from it. I once again failed to fully grasp the emotional impact you would suffer. I didn't believe that I were significant enough to dwell on, and wished that time would be a greater resource to you than I. I apologize for everything.

While I don't find it appropriate you bear my emotional baggage I need you to understand that I was unwell myself. I had not planned to do anything. I felt the circumstance were too dire to be redeemed and I cut contact with everybody I felt that I had personally inconvenienced.

I did not want to leave you. You were always valuable to me. I did so to feel I were, in any way, protecting you from any further harm at the hands of my skewed

I did not want to leave you. You were always valuable to me. I did so to feel I were, in any way, protecting you from any further harm at the hands of my skewed decision making ability at the time. I was not acting out of malice. My intentions were never to be selfish but I recognize that my actions were just that. Words evade how sorry I am for what I have caused.

To clarify, Keith and his friend Kenny made remarks about it this morning. Previously, a former mutual friend Danny made a similar claim. The three of which publicly wished me bodily harm.

Audrey and Silver had reached out to me when you first contacted them. I conveyed to them what lead me to have such a severe lapse in judgement and they were understanding. Other than Ise I do not know who else is aware. I just wish for it to remain relatively contained if possible.

4:55 PM

Audrey has not reached out to me since their last messages with me and as mentioned before, Opal has deleted this account. She has reached out to me a few days after her last message saying she would like to "start over" with me but before I could reach to a decision she has deleted the account. (I do not have the full screenshot of the message, only this, go off with it as you will.)

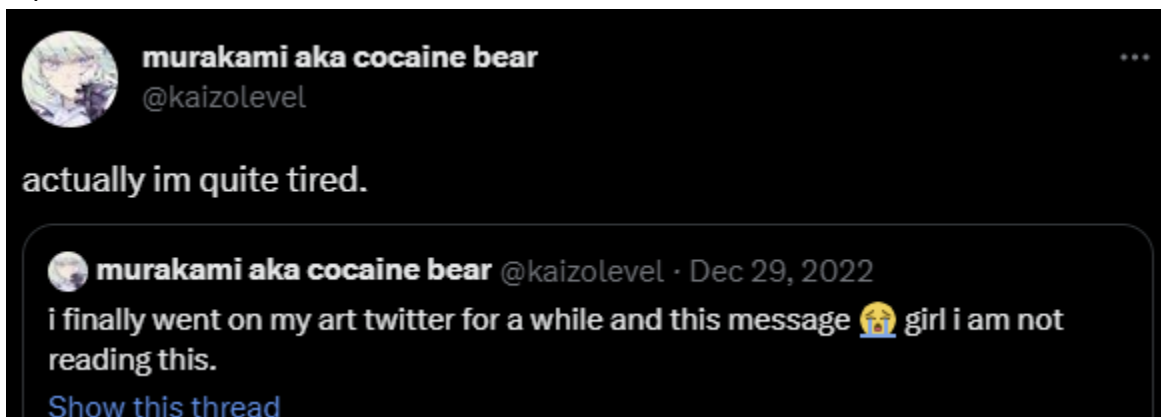

I am unsure if Audrey is still in contact with Opal as of January 2023, but I wouldn't be too surprised if were regarding how them and their partner took the situation.

Opal has made it clear she does not want me to speak out about her actions, but it's been months since I've last spoken to her and Audrey but ever since it has affected me to the point where I can no longer feel safe posting publicly. It is not fair on me to not speak out about this. I do not consider this a callout post on Audrey, their partner, or Opal nor is this me trying to 'cancel' them, I just wish for others to be aware of their actions and how they have affected me. I'm humiliated by letting this get to this point and allowing myself to be in this situation. I am only doing this to give myself needed closure.

As far as I'm aware, Opal has not made any new accounts under the name Rhosaign or Alucroph and most likely goes under another handle. I don't want any more apologies, I just don't.

Edit as of 2/23/2023:

Since I apparently ""lack proof"" of her being weird, there's this entire thread from a former friend of Opal's who has similar accounts. Note, we do not know each other, but we have similar experiences.

Nsfw warning in the thread, overall weirdo shit
