

At First Sight

It started slowly when he saw her
Just a glimpse
A small blur
Thrumming in the abyss of his chest
No stopping
No rest
Cage of bone that holds within
Is this a place its never been?
Pacing inside
Faster steps
Leaving behind the old
Except
This new feeling
It was appealing
A tug on heartstrings
He keeps on reeling
Closer, nearer, now he hears
Blood flow pulsing in his ears
Standing there face to face
With someone of surreal grace
Lips stitched with inner panic
Sealed and taut
And without another thought
His heart broke free
And she had caught
Without a word she took his hand
To show that she could mend
All his scars
His minds shards
In ways no one will comprehend