

Like Driving a Car Activity

For this activity I find that it isn't necessarily a discipline related activity that comes to mind first, but rather a transferable (essential employability) skill.

I have been teaching and delivering lectures (presentations) for 20 years so this skill feels like driving a car to me. There are many elements that have to work together in order to pull off a successful presentation.

I took this opportunity to create another mindmap. This exercise really did make me aware of how complicated this skill is and that there are many component parts that require practice before becoming a skilled presenter.

