

Hi Lukas.

I've seen Your blog on a website about 'controlling hunger' which is valuable to me so I really enjoyed reading it the whole time. Because I struggle to avoid bad foods and I heard diet is more important than a workout to lose weight.

And it is the same with other people.

I saw you've sold a supplement at a lower price, so I take some time how can I help you. Then I come up with an idea that sells your product at the original price with more clients.

I found you only have simple info for your ebook and supplement. And when people see those, they think that the product is not better than others and vague which is afraid of them to buy your products.

So, If you have a clear, interesting, valuable description, then, you can increase your online sales by upselling from it ultimately.

And this will get improved by knowing your opinion and your client's feature.

So, If you are interested in me, I suggest you to having a quick 15-minute zoom call this week.
