ESTES VIDEO

So moving forward the last Wednesday of the month is going to be college and career day because we also want to promote the opportunities that abound in the world of career and technical education. Our goals for you are bigger than just getting you graduated. We also want to make sure that you're ready for whatever you want to do when you leave here, whether it be college, career or military. You'll be hearing more about the essential eight in the coming months from various student groups and student leaders. But we'd like to close out today by focusing on the end goal and reflecting on the possibilities that a high school diploma can afford you. These graduates embody the traits of the essential eight, and we'd like you to think about how you too can be a leader by showing your fellow Viking's kindness in the month of September. Please enjoy.

High school has been quite the experience. I think that we can agree that it's had its highs, lows, and many confusing experiences in between. We experienced opportunities to make new friends with our new personal support system and adjust to the new academic environment, but we have persevered through all the adversity. I know these past two years have been extremely difficult for many, if not all of us. Despite all of that, we're about to walk the stage and be done with high school. This is a major step in the journey of our lives, one that should be recognized for its great significance. It is an act not only a personal commitment, but also one of pride. Be proud of this moment, but continue fighting for your goals. We have a whole future ahead of us which I hope to see every single one of you be the best version of yourself and be successful. I believe in all of you. The class of 2022 will definitely go down in history for all that we have made it through. If the past few years have taught us anything it is that we are strong and we can do what we need to do to be successful. I would like to thank the teachers and staff for pushing us beyond what we thought we were capable of and guiding us to our true potential, for teaching us life lessons in addition to the class curriculum or for making school feel like a second home, for reinventing the way we handle school in such a short time we are so thankful, for everything that they have done to help us be successful. Thank you to the friends and family who are here to support us on this day of mixed emotions. Thank you for being there for us when we needed it the most and most importantly thank you for encouraging us when we needed it the most. And thank you to you, my peers, for making the high school experience what it was. So just because of all these great people that the class of 2022 has endured everything that life has thrown at us. We endured with the help and support of each other because no one fights alone because there's always someone there for you. I am grateful that I am here standing before all of you living out this last milestone of our high school career, graduation. Tonight each of us will take on our own set of memories with us. Memories of laughter, tears, friendships, and relationships, all which add meaning to our lives while leaving an impact on others. It will be hard to say goodbye to everyone who has been part of this four year journey, but our next chapter awaits and I am ready to take on this challenge with each and every one of you. At this time, please move your tassel. Congratulations class of 2022.
