

Hi (name),

I came across your website while looking at cool pool designs online and I noticed that you have some really nice pool designs.

I was taking a look at your website and noticed that you have a Facebook page, but when checking it found no Ads

Not sure if that's something you are currently working on? Or you just haven't had the time yet.

But I am sure a few ads would make your business more visible to those indeed of your services. So I have taken a look at what a few other companies in the space are doing and I have found these ads that are working extremely well for them.

I have a few different angles in mind that you would be able to quickly record and put them to the test within a few days.

Would you be available to jump on a call so I can walk you through them?

I have also recorded this quick video for you breaking it down for you.
